SHAW BANK QUITS; 17TH SMALL ONE OUT SINCE JAN. 5

$200,000 in Capital Stock and $665,635 in Deposits—Directors Ask State to Take Charge.

CITE WITHDRAWALS AND UNCERTAINTY

Notice on Door at 1501 South Grand Says Action Is Taken So Depositors May be Paid in Full.

The Shaw Bank and Trust Co., 1501 South Grand boulevard, was closed today by action of its directors, and its affairs were placed in the hands of the State Finance Commissioner.

Its capital stock is $200,000 and deposits, as shown in its statement of Dec. 10, were $665,635. It is a member of the Federal Reserve System, and is the seventeenth small bank in St. Louis and St. Louis County to close in two weeks because of heavy withdrawals of deposits, the first having been the Hodiamont Bank, Jan. 5.

The decision not to open the Shaw Bank for business today was made at an early morning meeting of the directors, and this notice was posted on the door shortly before the usual opening time, 9 a. m.:

"Owing to the unrest existing among citizens of St. Louis with respect to their bank deposits, their continued withdrawal of funds, and uncertain banking conditions caused thereby, the Board of Directors deems it advisable, for the protection of all depositors, to turn over the affairs of this bank to the Commissioner of Finance at this time, when, in the judgment of the directors, its affairs can be so liquidated that each depositor can be paid in full."

The bank's December statement showed $60,000 surplus and $2213 undivided profits. Total resources were shown as $1,073,934; loans on personal and collateral security as $242,925, and loans on real estate security as $171,050, a total of $413,975 loans.

The 17 banks in St. Louis and St. Louis County which have closed, including the Shaw, showed total deposits of $16,366,214 in their December statements.

Harry P. Riefling, automobile dealer and Alderman from the Fifteenth Ward, is president of the Shaw Bank, but has not been active in its management since last July. The direction of the bank has been in the hands of a committee of directors, consisting of A. J. Jones, vice-president, Marvin E. Boisseau and William P. Lupfer. Other officers are: Vice-president, Marcus Turney; cashier, J. F. Dierberger; secretary, Frank L. Keightley; directors, R. A. Goerts, G. H. Snitker, William R. Hessi, Henry Kuhn and C. B. Nicholson.

The Shaw Bank recently obtained a $25,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The R. F. C. loans to the closed State banks in the city and county, including that to the Shaw Bank, have totaled $2,550,437. No record has been made public of R. F. C. loans, if any, to the two small national banks which have closed.

Edwin A. Coombs of Kansas City, recently receiver of two closed national banks at Sedalia, Mo., has been detailed by the Comptroller of the Currency as receiver of the St. Louis National Bank, 1800 Olive street, which closed Friday.

MAURICE CHEVALIER DIVORCED, CHARGES WIFE WITH JEALOUSY

He Tells of Public Scenes; She Says He Refused to See Her in Hollywood.

PARIS, Jan. 18. — Maurice Chevalier and his wife, Yvonne Vallee, were granted a divorce today on reciprocal grounds.

The Court, in a very short judgment, accepted the arguments of both sides.

Chevalier married Miss Vallee, a music hall singer, in 1927. Last July he filed a petition for divorce and subsequently his wife filed a counter-petition. He charged that Madame Chevalier had caused public scenes because of her jealousy. She said that Chevalier refused to see her when she went to Hollywood, and told her to go back to France.

Opening of Holy Door.

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 18.—Pope Pius XI today fixed the date for the opening of the holy door of St. Peter's as April 1, the day before the date for the inauguration of the holy year. He told Mgr. Respighi, prefect of the Congregation of Rites, that the ceremony would be commemorated as ceremoniously as in regular holy years occurring every quarter century.

VOTES TO ABANDON 12 STREET WIDENINGS

Aldermanic Committee Approves Repeal Bill; Action by Board Friday.

The Streets Committee of the Board of Aldermen recommended today that 12 projects for opening or widening of streets be dropped. The recommendation was made in the form of a favorable report on a bill to repeal the ordinances covering the projects.

Under the impression that there was to be a public hearing on the repeal bills about 600 persons gathered in the aldermanic chamber before the committee meeting. Alderman Fett of the Eleventh Ward, chairman of the committee, explained that there was to be no public hearing but indicated the committee might likely report out the repeal bills. The audience withdrew.

In a statement to the committee Fett pointed out that the delinquency in general taxes for St. Louis was now more than $18,000,000, including $10,000,000 of last year's levy. He agreed that all the cases affected by the repeal bills were necessary, but expressed the belief that now was an unpropitious time to pass them. In the past street widenings have thrown about 74.8 per cent of the cost on the benefited taxpayers, the balance on city funds, which also come from the taxpayers.

The repeal bills will be up before the Board of Aldermen Friday for action. They affect the following streets:

6378 DIAMONDS RECOVERED

Nearly All Thrown on Roadside Apparently Found.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, Jan. 18.—Apparently nearly all the diamonds thrown recently upon a roadside by Emmanuel Strauss, Manila jeweler, have been found, as yesterday's search recovered only 12 gems. The total of jewels found has reached 6378, with an estimated value of $40,000. The hunt continues. A civil suit for $71,000 was filed against Strauss by Estrella Del Norte, alleging peculations of this amount.

Previously authorities had said Strauss would be charged with a shortage of $57,361 in his accounts with a jewelry firm for which he worked.

LEHMAN SIGNS LIQUOR BILL

Appoints Board for Control if U. S. Changes Law.

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Gov. Lehman last night signed a bill creating a commission to prepare for sale of beer and liquor in New York State in event Congress changes the national prohibition laws. He appointed seven members of the commission, one of them a woman. The Legislature will name two others and the commission as a whole will select its own chairman.

The bill was intended by Lehman to place the State in line for revenue from the sale of beverages now prohibited. The State faces a deficit estimated at from $147,000,000 to $200,000,000.

ALIBI DEFENSE IN BUS HOLDUP MURDER TRIAL

PROSECUTION RESTS CASE

Defendant Alleged to Have Been Driver of Auto in Which Convicted Slayer Meant to Escape.

The State rested this afternoon in the murder trial of Marion M. Stephens after reading to the jury a statement given to police by Stephens soon after his arrest. In it the 30-year-old former motorbus chauffeur admitted participation in planning the bus holdup which resulted in the killing of Patrolman Adolph Kreidler.

The actual killer, Hubert Harvey, is under sentence of life imprisonment and testimony in the Stephens trial yesterday and the day before concerned only him. The only evidence linking Stephens with the murder was his own statement in which he told of planning the holdup with Harvey and with Thomas Colby and William H. Davis, who are awaiting trial.

When it had been read to a jury in Circuit Judge Bader's Court, detectives and Kenneth G. Bellairs, a newspaper reporter, testified no compulsion was use in obtaining the statement from Stephens.

I. Joel Wilson, counsel for Stephens, said he would present an alibi defense and would have eight or 10 witnesses, mostly to testify to good character.

The statement read to the jury was the last of three Stephens made to police within a few days after his arrest. In it he amplified previous admissions and told of lending Harvey a dark shirt and pair of trousers because Harvey's clothes were too conspicuous. The revolver with which the policeman was killed, Stephens said, was one he had sold to him for $12 which was not paid.

Insisted on Making Busses.

After describing activities of Stephens and his companions early in the evening of Sept. 28, 1931, the night on which Kreidler was murdered, the statement continues:

"Harvey insisted on making these busses. I figured it was too early and told him he was taking too much of a chance. I said, 'If you get in there, there will be a policeman, and you will have to shoot somebody or get shot yourself. If you see anybody who looks like an officer, get off and let it go.'"

The four drove out to Kingshighway and Arsenal street, the statement added, where Harvey robbed a bus conductor of $10. References to this, and other matters not bearing directly on the killing of Kreidler, were deleted from the statement before it was read to the jury. They then drove to Grand boulevard and Meramec street, Stephens and Colby in one car, Harvey and Davis, whom Stephens knew as Jackson, in the other.

"Harvey came over and got the gun out of my machine," the statement continues. "I didn't see him get on the bus, but we drove south a couple of blocks and stopped. When the bus went by there were two shots fired, and there were some men struggling on the upper deck.

"I pulled up the street a ways and said, 'For —'s sake, they've shot somebody.' Colby said, 'He must have lost his head.' We figured Harvey would head west, so we came back around and headed out Meramec street. We didn't see him and went on home."

Harvey was a visitor the next night at Stephens' home, 1220 Russell boulevard. "I asked him what in the name of —— he had done that for. He said he had to. 'He just committed suicide,' Harvey said, 'It was his own fault, I told him to sit down and he wouldn't do it.' Harvey said it was going to be just too damn bad if anybody squealed, that if he didn't get him his buddies would."

"He Just Committed Suicide."

Stephens' attorney objected to admitting the statement in evidence on the ground that Assistant Circuit Attorney Hennings, in his opening statement to the jury, had promised to prove a conspiracy in the bus holdup and murder. Conspiracy could not be shown, Wilson argued, solely by the defendant's own statement. The Court overruled his objection, holding that no conspiracy was alleged in the indictment, and that the State could not be limited by the prosecutor's remarks.

Harvey, held in City Jail pending determination of an appeal from his conviction, was brought

CANADIAN SUES JAMES A. STILLMAN FOR ALIENATION

HEARING ON LIBEL ACTION BARES FACTS

Lawyer Charges Montreal Man With Filing One Case to Force Settlement of Other.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—A suit for alienation of affections against James A. Stillman, former president of the National City Bank of New York, whose marital difficulties with the former Anne Urquhart resulted in litigation over a period of 10 years, has been filed by Luc Rochefort, a French-Canadian politician, it was learned today. The plaintiff asks for $200,000.

In the face of the banker's blanket denials, Rochefort charges that Stillman stole the affections of his wife, Marjorie, taking her with him on trips to Havana and elsewhere, although he allegedly knew she was a married woman.

The suit filed by Rochefort, who was twice unsuccessful candidate for Mayor of Montreal, was disclosed in the Brooklyn Supreme Court during hearing of a libel action brought by the Canadian politician against Stillman.

Stillman's lawyer, Malcolm Sumner, charged that the libel suit was instituted in an effort to compel Stillman to settle the alienation action out of court to avoid publicity.

Through Sumner, Stillman announced that he would fight the case to a finish, even though the suit promises to rival the divorce fight between Stillman and the former Miss Urquhart, who is now the wife of Fowler McCormick, heir to the Chicago Harvester millions.

Stillman's attorney disclosed that Rochefort's allegations that the banker made love to Mrs. Rochefort, lavished gifts and money on her and thereby "completely alienated her from her husband."

In reply to the charges, Sumner declared he had obtained affidavits from Mrs. Rochefort and from her mother, Mrs. Emily W. Baker, in which both were quoted as swearing that Rochefort not only encouraged the friendship between his wife and Stillman, but "benefited financially by it." Mrs. Baker, incidentally, was named as co-defendant with Stillman in Rochefort's alienation suit.

These affidavits, Sumner told Supreme Court Justice Edward Riegelman, corroborate one made by a Miss Astrid Haug, in whose apartment in Long Island City Stillman was said to have met Mrs. Rochefort.

Miss Haug's Affidavit.

Miss Haug's affidavit, Sumner said, confirmed the stories sworn to by Mrs. Rochefort and her mother. The libel action was filed by Rochefort on an allegation that he was libeled by Stillman when Stillman's attorney read excerpts from Miss Haug's affidavit to Rochefort's counsel, Alfred L. Becker.

To substantiate Stillman's denials, Sumner asserted that Mrs. Rochefort had not lived with her husband for seven years prior to the time she met the banker. Stillman was told, Sumner said, that she was a widow.

"This action," charged Stillman's counsel, "was brought to extort from Mr. Stillman a large sum of money in order to compel him to settle the alienation case."

Sumner charged that Becker, Rochefort's counsel, was suspended from the practice of law by the Appellate Division in 1924 on two allegations of misconduct. He branded Becker's actions in the present case as "very reprehensible professional misconduct."

Stillman's attorney disclosed that the alienation action was instituted by Rochefort in October, 1932, after Mrs. Rochefort had started and apparently dropped a law suit of her own against Stillman. Only a summons in Mrs. Rochefort's case was served and her attorneys, Sumner said, declined to proceed further after he had convinced them that the litigation was unfounded.

Relations With Mrs. Rochefort.

In the course of his detailed narrative of the affair, in which he asserted that the Rocheforts had not had marital relations for seven years, Sumner disclosed numerous details of Stillman's associations with Mrs. Rochefort.

"It appeared," Sumner said, "that in April, 1932, Mr. and Mrs. Rochefort and Mrs. Baker were living in a small, three-room apartment in Long Island City with Miss

MRS. JUDD BREAKS DOWN ON STAND; HEARING IS HALTED

Screams Accusations at J. J. Halloran, Accused As An Accessory in Murder of Two Women.

ASSERTS HE PUT BODIES IN TRUNK

Declares Phoenix (Ariz.) Lumberman 'Bullied' Her Into Taking Victims to Los Angeles.

By the Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 18.—Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd became hysterical during her cross-examination today at the preliminary hearing of John J. Halloran, who is accused as "accessory to the crime of murder." Leaving the witness chair, she screamed accusations at the wealthy lumberman. Judge J. C. Niles called a recess to allow Mrs. Judd to compose herself.

With tears streaming down her face, she leaned across a counsel table and screamed at Halloran: "I hope you suffer everything Anne's mother and my mother and Sammy's mother have suffered."

Before leaving the stand, Mrs. Judd had shouted: "He don't care that Anne is dead and Sammy is dead and that I am going to die—he just sits there and laughs about it. He don't care so long as he can play around."

Mrs. Judd's breakdown came as she was being cross-examined regarding gunshot wounds in the chest of Miss Hedvig Samuelson. Mrs. Judd is under sentence to die Feb. 17 for murder of Mrs. Agnes Anne Leroi, but has not been brought to trial on a charge of slaying Miss Samuelson.

"Going to Die in Two Weeks."

Replying to Judge Niles when he tried to calm her sobbing, she said: "I am going to die in two weeks and I am trying to do the best I can. I know that Sammy is dead and Anne is dead and I am going to be dead."

Her tears rolled faster and forced the recess.

The condemned woman's breakdown was imminent when she halted during an account of a quarrel with Mrs. Leroi and Miss Samuelson.

"I hate to tell it all—it was awful," she shuddered.

Smith suggested the courtroom be cleared so that Mrs. Judd might continue with less embarrassment.

"I'm not paying any attention to any one here," she said.

The suggestion was made a second time when she appeared reluctant.

"This is an unfortunate situation," Smith said, "but I must say that Jack Halloran is as innocent as any person in this room."

"He is not," Mrs. Judd screamed. "He is responsible for the death of three girls in this state."

Threat to Kill Self.

After an afternoon on the witness stand yesterday, Mrs. Judd screamed: "I'm telling you what I intend to write, and to take with me to God when I commit suicide."

Mrs. Judd testified she killed both women in self-defense in their Phoenix bungalow in October, 1931, and that she had followed Halloran's advice only to conceal the killings. She said Halloran placed the bodies of the two women in trunks, "bullied" her into taking them to Los Angeles, and instructed her not to tell her husband, Dr. William C. Judd. Halloran had been a friend of all three women.

Halloran listened to her testimony with a smile, and once laughed.

When defense attorneys objected to parts of her testimony concerning Halloran, Mrs. Judd interrupted:

"I'm not here for the purpose of clearing Jack Halloran. He had an opportunity to clear me at my trial, but he didn't."

Once, during her questioning, she accused Halloran of attempting to signal her answers to her.

"I don't want him to talk to me," she screamed. "He's talked too much already."

On direct testimony she had related that Halloran had accompanied her back to the cottage, when she ran from the place after killing Mrs. Leroi and Miss Samuelson in what she asserted was a fight in which she was attacked by them.

"Take Care of Everything."

She declared Halloran took her home later, cautioned her not to tell anyone, not even her husband, who, she said, was in Los Angeles, and informed her he would "take care of everything."

Mrs. Judd twisted her handkerchief about her left hand incessantly, and nervously shrugged her shoulders when objections by counsel stopped her story.

"Oh, bah!" she said once, when

VON HINDENBURG DECREES MORATORIUM ON MORTGAGES

Bars Foreclosures on Farms and Estates Until After Harvest Next Autumn.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—A moratorium on mortgaged estates and farms was declared in an emergency decree signed today by President Von Hindenburg.

The decree provides that mortgages on landed estates and farms, most of which fall due in the spring when the farmer has no cash, cannot be foreclosed before harvest time, but the mortgagor has until Oct. 31 to pay.

The decree was interpreted as a Government concession to landed interests.

The decree extends the terms of previous measures of a similar nature.

POLICE FIRE OVER HEADS OF JOBLESS IN CHICAGO

Act to Rescue Two Officers Beaten by Crowd in Demonstration at Relief Station.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Several hundred persons beat two policemen at an unemployment relief station on the West Side today and forced four others to retreat.

Riot squads fired several rounds of shots over the crowd before they could rescue the injured policemen.

The crowd was objecting loudly to methods of distributing relief and Harold Carlson, manager of the station, called police. The mob threatened to crash into the building and ransack it, he said.

FRENCH FIND NO TRACE OF LADY MARY BAILEY

Search Unavailing Also for Bert Hinkler, Missing on England-Australia Flight.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 18. — Two of Britain's most famous flyers, Bert Hinkler of Australia and Lady Mary Bailey of South Africa, are missing.

Hinkler has been unreported for 11 days, since hopping off on an attempt to break the speed record to Australia. Lady Mary disappeared in the Sahara desert Sunday on her attempt to break the London-to-Cape Town speed record of Amy Johnson.

Capt. W. L. (Wally) Hope is engaged in searching the Alps of Switzerland for traces of Hinkler, who may have come to grief trying to fly over them.

Despite a physician's warning that she had a slight touch of influenza, Lady Mary left Oran, Algeria, on the second leg of her flight. French authorities at Algiers communicated with Gao, Niamey and Timbuktu on the Upper Niger and with Colomb Bechar, Morocco, where officials said they had heard nothing of the missing aviatrix.

She had been expected to stop at Niamey or Gao. Officials said there was a possibility she crossed the Sahara in one long hop and landed at some remote spot.

The commander at Colomb Bechar in Africa telegraphed French authorities at Algiers today that a hunt by French military forces for Lady Mary Bailey would be futile now that it was almost certain she was down in some isolated spot on the desert.

TWO WOMAN ROBBERS BURN HOUSEWIFE'S FEET, TAKE $10

Chicago Victim Forced to Reveal Hiding Place of Money in Home.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Two woman robbers who tortured their housewife victim by burning the soles of her feet with lighted matches until she revealed the hiding place of her money—$10—were reported to police.

The victim, Mrs. Rose Schmalzer, 22 years old, said they entered her home through an open pantry window while she slept early today. She said she recognized them as the same pair, attired as men, who seized her while she was doing her washing recently, and forced her to hand over an armful of clothes. The attack today was made while her husband was at work in a bakery. The money, she said, was in her husband's trousers hanging near the bed.

CONGRESS DROPS TAX LEGISLATION THIS SESSION

House Democrats Admit Plans Are Set for Special Meeting After Roosevelt Becomes President.

DON'T KNOW NEEDS, COLLIER EXPLAINS

Committee Head Asserts Mills Has Been Mistaken As High As $750,000,000 in Estimating Budget Needs.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. — Congressional Democrats today abandoned hope for enactment of budget balancing legislation at this session, and acknowledge plans are set for a special session of the new Congress to tackle the task.

Twelve House members, belonging to the Ways and Means Committee that has jurisdiction over revenue legislation, agreed to drop all tax proposals between now and March 4.

Asked by newspaper men when a special session will be summoned, Speaker Garner said, "I could tell you, but I won't."

The plain implication was that arrangements are under way, and that those in charge of party affairs are looking to such a session to do what they feel is impossible of accomplishment as things now stand on Capitol Hill.

Collier's Explanation.

An explanation of the decision as given by Chairman Collier of the committee said the "congested legislative situation in Congress will preclude enactment" of budget balancing legislation.

Only yesterday President Hoover had addressed a special message to Congress on the urgency for budget balancing—asking again that sales taxes be imposed and economies effected.

Opposition to the sales tax has evidenced itself so firmly, however, along with the objections registered by President-elect Roosevelt, that it has long been accepted on Capitol Hill that such levies were out of the question, at least for the present.

Don't Know Needs.

"We don't know what the budget needs and what we have got to balance," Collier told reporters. "We'll have to wait until the Democrats take over the administration.

"Secretary Mills has made mistakes as high as $750,000,000 in estimating the budget needs, and judging by the past, we can't depend upon the Treasury's estimates as being reliable."

Collier said that he was "distressed" over President Hoover's message to Congress yesterday.

"We went on the theory that his figures of a $492,000,000 deficit for the coming year, which he submitted at first, was correct," he said.

"Now he estimates that in addition to economies, between $500,000,000 and $700,000,000 additional is needed in new taxes."

Session Likely April 10 or 17.

Collier said that he made his statements "with the reservation" that the full committee, composed of 14 Democrats and 10 Republicans, would concur in the sense of the unofficial meeting of Democrats in his office. Indications are that the special session will be called by the President-elect either for April 10 or 17.

Comment by Rainey.

Floor Leader Rainey said "there will be no general tax bill at this session and there will be an extra session of Congress.

"I am in favor of cutting Government expenses to balance the budget, even if we have to suspend for a time some of the Federal agencies and functions," he said.

"I can only hope that when our department heads get into office after March 4 we will find that President Hoover is not leaving the Treasury in such a muddled condition as he thinks he is. His message on the budget yesterday is wholly unreliable."

The President dispatched his energetically-worded message to the Senate and House in mid-afternoon.

But after it was read in the House the first reaction was expressed by Chairman Byrns (Dem.), Tennessee, of the Appropriations Committee, who told the members that "in all the time I've been in Congress I never heard a more amazing message sent to Congress."

Indirectly Byrns, his committee and the House all were scored by

HOOVER TO CONFER WITH ROOSEVELT ON WORLD ISSUES

Foreign Problems, Including War Debts and Arms, to Be Discussed at White House Friday.

PRESIDENT-ELECT ARRIVES TOMORROW

He Will Meet Congressional Leaders Also Before Going to Warm Springs to Pick Cabinet.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt will confer at the White House Friday morning on foreign affairs and international developments now unfolding.

The President intends to confine the conference to those topics alone, as the situation now stands. This was asserted in the highest quarters this forenoon, soon after it developed that Mr. Hoover had invited his successor-to-be to a second meeting in the executive mansion.

Although the White House officially remained silent, it was stated that the meeting would be a continuation of the present administration's effort to gain an accord with the incoming administration on international policies. This has been interpreted in official circles to mean not only the war debt, armament and world economic problems, but probably also a talk of the Chinese-Japanese conflict.

No word came from White House officials regarding the advisors who might sit with the President and the President-elect in the conference. At their previous talk, Secretary Mills and Prof. Raymond Moley, the latter an advisor of Mr. Roosevelt, joined in the exchange of opinion.

It appeared likely, in view of his recent talk with Mr. Roosevelt and the emphasis that probably will be placed upon foreign affairs, that Secretary Stimson might join the President in his forthcoming conference. Secretary Mills will participate.

Roosevelt is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow afternoon for a round of conferences with Democratic congressional leaders.

Senator Norris, Nebraska Republican independent who supported Mr. Roosevelt, today accepted the President-elect's invitation to accompany him on a tour of the Muscle Shoals power and nitrate plant over the week-end. Norris has been pressing for years for Government operation of the Alabama project. Other Senators likely to accompany Mr. Roosevelt are McKellar and Hull of Tennessee and Bankhead of Alabama, Democrats.

Roosevelt Packs Up in New York for Southern Trip.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Intensive study of presidential problems was concluded today by President-elect Roosevelt as he packed his bags for a Southern trip in the course of which he will select his Cabinet.

A few farewells were on the calendar before Roosevelt departs early tomorrow to talk things over with leaders at Washington and proceed to an inspection of the Muscle Shoals (Ala.) power and nitrate plant on the way to Warm Springs, Ga.

President-elect Roosevelt today declined to discuss the visit he will have with President Hoover in Washington on Friday morning. He would only admit to newspaper men that he had been invited by Mr. Hoover to the meeting. For any other information he referred questioners to Washington.

Mr. Roosevelt, en route to Washington tomorrow, will have with him on the train Norman Davis, member of the American delegation to the arms conference. There was no intention of having Davis in the White House conference, it was said.

Out of the days of presidential preparedness by Roosevelt has come an announcement that he is standing by the American policy of sanctity of international agreements. This is taken here as a notice to the world that this country is continuing its determination against non-recognition of gains by Japan in aggression.

Whatever may have been the advice of high advisers on this situation, the veteran E. M. House on leaving Roosevelt late yesterday declared "no President in my memory has had better training for the high office he is to occupy."

The Roosevelt statement was made when he was asked by newspaper men to comment on reports from Washington of an understanding between himself and Secretary of State Stimson.

Sitting at the folding table in his study, Roosevelt borrowed pencil and paper from the newspaper men and wrote:

"Any statement relating to any particular foreign situation must, of course, come from the Secretary of State of the United States.

"I am, however, wholly willing to make it clear that American foreign policy must uphold the sanctity of international treaties.

"That is a cornerstone on which all relations between nations must rest."

About to choose his Cabinet, Roosevelt is emphasizing that he will confer during his two weeks' stay at Warm Springs with only those especially invited.

Reaching the Southern resort which he made famous in his fight against infantile paralysis, the President-elect will remain for about two weeks before departing for Jacksonvile, Fla., to board the yacht of Vincent Astor, a distant relative, for a fishing trip alone in Southern waters. The departure from Jacksonville probably will be made Feb. 4 or 5. He will conclude this trip a week afterward at the same port.

Father Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit made "a friendly visit" yesterday at the Roosevelt home. He said he would call again Feb. 15.

DEMOCRATS DROP BUDGET BALANCING FOR THIS SESSION

the presidential message for "disappointing" results in reduction of appropriations.

Republicans had just finished applauding the message when Byrns took the floor.

Byrns told the House:

"The President is undertaking to tell the country that we are not doing our duty up here and that we are not doing what we ought to do to balance the budget.

House Action on Five Bills.

"We have had five bills reported to the House up to this time. The first was the Treasury and Postoffice bill. The President asked us to appropriate for these two departments $994,328,901. The House Committee recommended and the House approved, appropriations carrying $961,416,597, which represents a reduction under the President's estimates of $32,912,304.

"As to the Interior Department bill, which has passed the House, the budget estimates or the requests of the President, amounted to $46,083,929. The House Appropriations Committee recommended and the House concurred in the recommendation, $43,172,904, which was a reduction of $2,911,025, which, according to the President's message just read, was all wrong and ought never to have been done.

"The Department of Agriculture bill has been passed by the House. The budget or the President's requests amounted to $108,061,793. The bill as reported from the House Committee on Appropriations and concurred in by the House, carried $100,228,077, or a reduction under the President's requests of $7,833,716.

Reductions of House.

"The first deficiency bill was then reported and as finally passed has this history. The budget, or the President's estimates, called for $44,138,764. The bill as agreed upon carried $31,756,535, or a reduction under the President's estimates of $12,382,228.

"The War Department bill is now pending in the House. Under the President's requests it amounted to $352,530,145. As the Committee on Appropriations has reported it, it carries $345,833,532, or a reduction under the President's estimates of $6,696,613.

"In other words, in these five bills which have been reported up to this time, some of which have been passed by the House, there has been a total reduction under the President's budget of $62,735,886."

To that Rainey added:

"When we got our own personnel, we will look into these matters. How can the President state the amount of the deficit when he doesn't know what the income tax will yield on March 15? I am not impressed with this message."

FILIPINOS CONSIDER MONUMENT TO HAWES

Also Planning to Name Big Bridge in Honor of Co-Author of Independence Act.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—One of the happiest men in the Senate is Harry B. Hawes, a Missouri Democrat. His long fight for passage of a Philippine independence bill has come to a successful end.

Behind a flower-covered desk he was surrounded by friends after the Senate yesterday had voted to override President Hoover's veto, thus enacting the independence bill.

Streets in Philippine Island towns already have been named for Senator Hawes and Filipinos here are talking of erecting a monument in the islands to his name.

The largest bridge in the Philippines was named for Representative William A. Jones, whose name is on the 1916 bill which gave the islands their present form of autonomous government. But a larger bridge may be built for Hawes, Filipinos said.

Hawes' active interest in Philippine independence dates from 1930, when he was a member of the Senate Insular Committee which, at that time, was hearing the pros and cons of the question.

In the introduction of the book he wrote on the Philippine problem the Senator said his interest first became aroused by contentions that the Filipinos did not want a free nation of their own. He went to the islands to see for himself.

Senator Hawes was greeted everywhere in the islands during the summer of 1931 as the champion of Philippine liberty. He was criticised at home and by his countrymen in the islands as a trouble maker, grandstander and lobbyist.

He found support from Senators Cutting (Rep.), New Mexico, who aided in drafting the new legislation; Pittman (Dem.), Nevada, who engineered the political floor fight for the bill; Chairman Bingham (Rep.), Connecticut, of the Territories Committee; Chairman Hare (Dem.), South Carolina, of the House Insular Committee, and others. Hare was the author of the bill passed by the House and merged with the Senate measure.

Hawes will retire from the Senate in March.

LIFE FOR HUSBAND'S MURDER

By the Associated Press.

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 18.—A life sentence in San Quentin prison was imposed today on Mrs. Bessie Nelson for the murder of her husband, Harry Nelson, county official and war veteran. As Superior Judge Fred V. Wood pronounced sentence some one in the court room hissed.

Mrs. Nelson was accused of being an accomplice with her admirer, Claude Forbes, who confessed the actual killing. Forbes pleaded guilty and yesterday was sentenced by Judge Wood to be hanged.

CLOTURE THREAT MET BY ONE TO TIE UP SENATE

Group Against Glass Bill Says It Will Allow No More Business by Unanimous Consent.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The threat of cloture to limit debate on the Glass banking bill was met by the filibustering bloc in the Senate today with assertions that no business would be transacted by unanimous consent from now on.

The challenge was made by Senator Thomas (Dem.), Oklahoma, when Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, arose at the start of the session to ask for unanimous consent to make a previously announced speech on disarmament without displacing Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, from the floor.

The Virginia Democrat, author of the banking reform measure which has been delayed more than a week by the filibuster, had the floor by prior right to continue his lashing of Senator Long (Dem.), Louisiana, for statements made about the bank bill.

Glass yielded for the disarmament speech, but Senator Thomas said, while he had no objection to this interruption, "so long as the cloture motion is before the Senate no business will be done in this body by unanimous consent."

The cloture motion, presented yesterday by Democratic Leader Robinson of Arkansas, will come to a vote at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

Reading from telegrams urging enactment of that provision of the bill to permit branch banking within state lines, Glass denied that branch banking would centralize credit, contending "it would mean a diffusion of credit."

While Glass held the floor, Senate leaders negotiated with Long, proposing a voluntary agreement to limit debate to one hour and a half for each Senator, and modification of the branch banking clause of the bill to permit branches only in states where local laws permit them. Republicans leaders conducted the negotiations.

Several efforts to compromise to break the deadlock on the Glass bill by a limitation of debate failed, but efforts were continued.

An effort by Robinson of Arkansas to limit debate on the Glass bill was blocked. The Democratic chieftain proposed unanimous consent that after 1 p. m. Friday, debate be limited to 30 minutes for each Senator, with the stipulation that the pending cloture petition be withdrawn. Thomas and Blaine objected, blocking the agreement.

Couzens Attacks Republicans.

Senator Couzens (Rep.), Michigan, charged in the Senate that the Republican leadership was in a "conspiracy to continue the filibuster" against the Glass bill and objected to any agreement looking to withdrawal of the cloture petition.

"I resent the conduct of the lame-duck leadership on this side who are in a conspiracy to continue this filibuster," said Couzens. "I want to place them on record on cloture."

Glass, in his speech, referring to a provision which provides for the divorcement of national banks from their security affiliates within three years, directed attention to an opinion regarding affiliates prepared by a Solicitor-General under President Taft.

That opinion, he said, conclusively proves "that these affiliates are back-stairs institutions, have no legal existence and are practicing a business denied them" by the letter and spirit of the national bank act.

"Talking Instead of Thinking."

Long interrupted Glass to propose five amendments, the principal one to permit banks to continue to buy and sell Government, state and municipal securities through security affiliates. Long also proposed keeping the Secretary of the Treasury on the Federal Reserve Board.

Glass read a letter saying "the interest of the depositors shall always come first." It was from a small independent banker, he said, adding that the "plea here has been for the little bank and a little banker and not the depositor," referring to Long. He read a letter from Minneapolis urging the Minnesota Senators to support the bill. Many of his letters expressed disgust at the filibuster.

Glass compared conditions in England where he said "not a dollar has been lost to a depositor during this tremendous depression" and in the United States where he said $2,600,000,000 in deposits had been "tied up" through failures, adding: "That ought to appeal to the judgment of the Senate. But it will not appeal to men who are accustomed to talking instead of thinking."

Canada's Experience.

Glass said he had never contended that branch banking was a certain cure for bank failures. "As long as human nature is human nature," he asserted, "there will be maladministration of banks as well as other institutions."

He said not a bank had failed under Canada's branch banking system in the last 10 years, while 11,000 had closed in this country in the same period. He said branch banking would mean that "communities now deprived of all banking facilities would be enabled to have these facilities" and "thousands of other communities with inadequate banking facilities, with weak, tottering banks, would have increased banking facilities."

Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, said he had been informed by a constituent that one town in Michigan had no banking facilities and needed branch banking. "There are thousands of communities similarly situated," Glass said.

While Glass was speaking, Senator Thomas introduced a resolution calling for publication as a Senate document of the record of a hearing before the Banking Committee on the Glass bill's branch banking provisions. The resolution quoted Senators Bulkley (Dem.), Ohio, and Norbeck (Rep.), South Dakota, the chairman, as agreeing no hearings had been held on the branch banking section, which opponents of the bill have repeatedly charged on the floor.

In his resolution, Thomas said the transcript contained statements "which if true show an alarming state of bank racketeering between and among bankers themselves in Chicago and vicinity; and likewise an even more alarming record of distributing and the dispensing of public credit among the bankers of Chicago and vicinity."

Glass Repudiates Letter.

Senator Blaine remarked he had a letter indicating Glass may have sought to have telegrams sent to him supporting his stand.

"Never in the 32 years of my service in the Congress did I ask anyone to send me a telegram," said Glass. "I make up my own mind and I don't have it made up for me."

Blaine read the letter, which he said was from the Postal Telegraph Co. to Senator La Follette, suggesting La Follette urge Wisconsin people to send telegrams to Glass, "As we understand Senator Glass would appreciate such messages."

"I haven't authorized any living soul to use my name in connection with this banking bill," Glass said. He said he did not go in for "contemptible lobbying," and continued to Blaine: "Of course, the Senator intended to be helpful. Of course, he did not mean to suggest I hain't told the truth when I said I had not solicited telegrams."

GEORGIA DEMANDS DEATH FOR NEGRO COMMUNIST

Invokes Old Reconstruction Statute Against Inciting to Insurrection in Case of Angelo Herndon.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 18.—The State of Georgia is demanding the life of Angelo Herndon, Negro Communist of Cincinnati, for attempts to incite an insurrection—a capital offense under a Georgia reconstruction law enacted soon after the Civil War. Testimony was concluded yesterday and arguments were begun today with two hours allowed the defense and two the prosecution.

The prosecution, in pleading today that the Negro Communist be executed, said the theory of Communism was on trial as well as Herndon. Walter Le Craw, Assistant Solicitor-General, said Herndon had "intent" to incite insurrection.

The prosecution argued that it was the policy of the Communist party, which offered a ticket in the Georgia election last November, to give the "black belt" of the South the right of self-determination. This right, the State argued, would mean the seizure of lands and establishment of an independent nation in the South.

Ben Davis Jr., Negro lawyer for the defense, said the State had produced no evidence except literature "which can be found in public and private libraries of Atlanta."

The State, he charged, "has waved the bloody flag of racial prejudice and shouted 'Nigger, nigger, nigger' in an effort to send this man to his death because he is black. The only crime Herndon has committed is to ask the county commissioners of this county to furnish bread to starving babies, white and black."

Davis touched on the lynching record of the nation, particularly of the South, and he said the prosecution knew "and everybody knows a Negro does not receive just treatment at hands of his white fellow men."

Two Negro lawyers conducting the defense sought to introduce two Emory University professors as experts on Communistic literature and said books in the Emory Library by Karl Marx and Nicholai Lenin were more "inflammatory" than the literaturke found in Herndon's possession. The Court refused to admit the professors, economics instructors, as experts and ruled out mention of the Emory Library volumes, pointing out that "that institution is not on trial." The Court held with the State that there was a wide distinction between scholastic discussion of economic theories and intent to bring about violent overthrow of the Government.

Herndon, in an unsworn statement to the jury yesterday, answered the demand for his life by saying: "Do with me as you will, there are thousands more to take my place."

For 15 minutes he spoke to a crowded courtroom on the principles of Communism and forecast collapse of the capitalistic system. Capitalists, he declared, used "racial prejudice as a means of exploiting workers—white and black." He added that the solution "of troubles is union between white and black men."

Herndon charged that he was arrested without cause, treated inhumanly in the Fulton County jail, held 11 days on suspicion and imprisoned six months without trial.

ALIBI DEFENSE IN BUS HOLDUP MURDER TRIAL

into court yesterday and identified by Austin J. Shelton, the bus conductor, as the man who killed Kreidler.

The policeman, Shelton said, was in civilian clothes, seated about three seats ahead of Harvey, who occupied the rear bench. When Harvey attempted to hold him up, Shelton said, Kreidler arose, and without drawing his revolver, grappled with the robber. One shot was fired, which wounded the policeman in the leg, and then Harvey wheeled his adversary around and fired into the back of his head the shot which killed him.

Hat Supplies a Clew.

He jumped from the bus and ran down an alley. In an ashpit there he hid the revolver and his hat. It was by tracing ownership of these that police succeeded in rounding up the men they wanted. Two of them, Stephens and Colby, proved to be drivers for the Peoples' Motorbus Co., whose advice was sought by the others because of their familiarity with the routine of bus operators.

Kreidler, 56 years old, was returning to his home at 3633 Marceline terrace when he was killed. He was in civilian clothes because he had been acting as desk sergeant at the Magnolia Avenue Station.

BILL FOR INCORPORATION OF 'STATE BAR OF MISSOURI'

All Practicing Attorneys Would Be Compelled to Belong, With Range of Fines.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 18.—A bill providing for the incorporation of the State Bar Association as "The State Bar of Missouri" was introduced in the House today by Burton (Dem.), Howard County. The bill, which would give the bar self-government, has the support of the State Bar Association.

Under the bill, all practicing attorneys would be compelled to belong to the State Bar. Fines ranging rfom $25 to $100 are provides for anyone practicing law without membership. The fee for each member would be $5 a year.

There is a provision for a board of 12 governors, four from each of the three Courts of Appeals districts.

URSE SATISFIED BY $3000 AWARD FOR AFFECTIONS

iss Baumstark Says She Sought Justice, Not Money, in Breach of Promise Suit.

IRST VOTE 8 TO 4 FOR MULLIVAN

ater Jurors Decided Defendant Must Have Meant 'Something Like Engagement.'

Miss Eulalie Baumstark, nurse of te. Genevieve, Mo., is satisfied ith the $3000 verdict obtained yes erday in her $15,000 breach of romise suit against Frank Mulli an, vice-president and traffic man ger of the Crunden-Martin Manu acturing Co.

"I feel the jury sustained my po ition and believed my testimony," he said, "It was justice rather han money I was after. I think I ot justice."

The verdict, which was unani ous, was for $2000 actual and 1000 punitive damages. One juror aid eight ballots were taken during he two hours the jury was out and hat although the original vote was to 4 in favor of Mullivan, the jury oon agreed there must have been something like an engagement" in he minds of Mullivan and the urse during their association.

Mullivan, who first met Miss aumstark when he was her atient at Jewish Hospital in arch, 1930, made no comment on he verdict. He testified he had ever asked the nurse to marry im.

Points Stressed by Counsel.

In argument yesterday, Mulli an's attorney, Lawrence Mc aniel, said there was "no evi ence to show that the so-called en agement followed conventional nes." After reading affectionate etters from Miss Baumstark to ullivan, he pointed out that none f them mentioned the engagement.

Her attorney, William H. Corcor n Jr., reviewed testimony to show hat Mullivan had asked the en agement be kept secret because f the death of his first wife a short ime before. Corcoran said his lient "had faith in Mullivan and hought he would carry out his romise." During the arguments, iss Baumstark sat at the counsel able and stared at Mullivan near y. He kept his eyes straight head.

What Principals Testified.

She testified he kissed her as she as fixing his pillows, three days fter he underwent an operation, nd that he told her: "I had to be perated on to find the woman I ve." She said she went to his partment with him when he went ome and that he proposed within he next few days. She told the ury of plans for a honeymoon in lorida or California and residence t the Chase Hotel, which were roken up by Mullivan's announce ment that he had met "the dearest girl in the world" and was en aged to her. He was married in ebruary, 1931, to Miss Ruth Fran es Freeman, his office assistant.

Mullivan testified the nurse pur ued him after he went home from he hospital. "It became a ques tion of whether I could duck her or lock her out," he said. "She would come to my apartment and ring the doorbell. She would telephone friends of mine and asked them to have me call her. Once I found her in the apartment when I came home."

Relatives of the nurse testified Mullivan visited Ste. Genevieve with her and appeared to be af fectionate. They said he addressed her parents as "Mother" and "Dad." Miss Baumstark is about 37 years old and Mullivan about 45.

"Do you think that is true?" "I know now it is true."

Smith attempted to question her further.

"I don't know what this is," she burst out, "a physical examination, or what! I don't like to sit up here and tell everything that is wrong with me!"

Mrs. Judd's story differed from one she told investigators before her trial last February, in that she contended yesterday that a fight with the other women, culminating in their deaths, took place before midnight of Oct. 16, 1931.

NURSE SATISFIED BY $3000 AWARD FOR AFFECTIONS

Miss Baumstark Says She Sought Justice, Not Money, in Breach of Promise Suit.

FIRST VOTE 8 TO 4 FOR MULLIVAN

Later Jurors Decided Defendant Must Have Meant 'Something Like Engagement.'

Miss Eulalie Baumstark, nurse of Ste. Genevieve, Mo., is satisfied with the $3000 verdict obtained yesterday in her $15,000 breach of promise suit against Frank Mullivan, vice-president and traffic manager of the Crunden-Martin Manufacturing Co.

"I feel the jury sustained my position and believed my testimony," she said, "It was justice rather than money I was after. I think I got justice."

The verdict, which was unanimous, was for $2000 actual and $1000 punitive damages. One juror said eight ballots were taken during the two hours the jury was out and that although the original vote was 8 to 4 in favor of Mullivan, the jury soon agreed there must have been "something like an engagement" in the minds of Mullivan and the nurse during their association.

Mullivan, who first met Miss Baumstark when he was her patient at Jewish Hospital in March, 1930, made no comment on the verdict. He testified he had never asked the nurse to marry him.

Points Stressed by Counsel.

In argument yesterday, Mullivan's attorney, Lawrence McDaniel, said there was "no evidence to show that the so-called engagement followed conventional lines." After reading affectionate letters from Miss Baumstark to Mullivan, he pointed out that none of them mentioned the engagement.

Her attorney, William H. Corcoran Jr., reviewed testimony to show that Mullivan had asked the engagement be kept secret because of the death of his first wife a short time before. Corcoran said his client "had faith in Mullivan and thought he would carry out his promise." During the arguments, Miss Baumstark sat at the counsel table and stared at Mullivan nearby. He kept his eyes straight ahead.

What Principals Testified.

She testified he kissed her as she was fixing his pillows, three days after he underwent an operation, and that he told her: "I had to be operated on to find the woman I love." She said she went to his apartment with him when he went home and that he proposed within the next few days. She told the jury of plans for a honeymoon in Florida or California and residence at the Chase Hotel, which were broken up by Mullivan's announcement that he had met "the dearest girl in the world" and was engaged to her. He was married in February, 1931, to Miss Ruth Frances Freeman, his office assistant.

Mullivan testified the nurse pursued him after he went home from the hospital. "It became a question of whether I could duck her or lock her out," he said. "She would come to my apartment and ring the doorbell. She would telephone friends of mine and asked them to have me call her. Once I found her in the apartment when I came home."

Relatives of the nurse testified Mullivan visited Ste. Genevieve with her and appeared to be affectionate. They said he addressed her parents as "Mother" and "Dad." Miss Baumstark is about 37 years old and Mullivan about 45.

MRS. JUDD BREAKS DOWN ON STAND; HEARING IS HALTED

defense counsel halted her with objections.

"He said to me," she related later, "'For God's sake do you want to hang?' he bullied me that night, and now he is too big a coward to tell everything!

"When he came in this room I wanted to scream at him—the longer this case goes on, the bigger the coward he is!"

Mrs. Judd said she had suffered from tuberculosis. Halloran's counsel asked if she suffered from any other physical disabilities.

"They say I have a gland in my brain which is growing," she said. "Thyroid gland?" "No, endocrine gland."

"Do you think that is true?" "I know now it is true."

Smith attempted to question her further.

"I don't know what this is," she burst out, "a physical examination, or what! I don't like to sit up here and tell everything that is wrong with me!"

Mrs. Judd's story differed from one she told investigators before her trial last February, in that she contended yesterday that a fight with the other women, culminating in their deaths, took place before midnight of Oct. 16, 1931.

When she was arrested in Los Angeles she said the encounter took place at breakfast time, after she had remained overnight with Mrs. Leroi and Miss Samuelson.

"At 9 o'clock on the night of Oct. 16 I went to the house of my friends, Anne Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson," Mrs. Judd said.

"About 10:30 we had a fight.

"I was in pajamas—dotted pink, and green, and yellow. My bed was made down in the living room.

"After the fight I took off my pajamas. I put on only a dress and shoes, and ran all the way home to 1130 East Brill street—about 11:30 I should say. My purpose was to get money to call my husband by long distance in Los Angeles.

"As I was coming out the door again, Mr. Halloran drove up—I had started out when Jack drove up. We went in the house. and I told Jack what had taken place.

Smith pressed her for details of what she told.

"I expect Mr. Halloran is more able to tell about that than I am," she flashed, and then continued:

"I told him Anne was lying on the floor, Sammy was lying on the floor—that Sammy shot, and I shot.

"Jack said, 'What is the matter with you? Are you crazy?'"

Told Him of Fight.

"Jack Halloran then drug me, fairly drug me, out to the car," she continued, after sweeping aside a defense objection by declari . "I am not here for the purpose of clearing Jack Halloran!"

"I told him," she said, "that Anne and Sammy and I had had one terrible fight. I told him Anne was shot. I told him Sa my was shot.

"I told him Anne said"—she hesitated. "I told him abou the quarrel, and Halloran fairly drug me out to the car, and we started for 2929 North Second street."

At the house where the slayings had taken place, she said "we went through the kitchen door. Jack preceded me.

"When he got to the door he stopped.

"He said 'My God!' He went over to Sammy."

Once-in-a-Decade Luncheon Club Meets

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer

BUT ONE VACANT CHAIR AT DECENNIAL CLUB

All Other Wabash Employes Who Agreed in 1923 to Meet in 1933, Present.

Ten years ago, on Jan. 17, 1923, 10 employes of the superintendent's office of the Wabash Railroad wondered where they would be within a decade. They formed a club to meet at luncheon 10 years from the day. Yesterday noon they dined at the Missouri Athletic Association with only one member missing. It was the absentee, Henry Hammelmann, who suggested the plan. Hammelmann died in 1930 and there was a vacant chair placed for him at the table yesterday. But there was no sentimentality connected with the event and it was decided to make the luncheon a decennial affair from now on.

"It was a dull day and we were sitting around the office playing pinochle," said T. J. Foley, now connected with the Peabody Coal Co. "We wondered what would happen to us in 10 years, and then Hammelmann suggested that we all meet at noon on Jan. 17, 1933, and have luncheon together. We first decided to meet in Forest Park, but then changed the place to the northeast corner of Kingshighway and Delmar.

"We thought the downtown district and perhaps the Wabash office would be out that far by that time. But when the time came around the office was still at Fourth and Franklin avenue so we decided to come over here."

Of the nine surviving members six are still in the Wabash office. Besides Foley, J. R. Edwards and Mrs. Rose Longinette, who has since married, are no longer there. The other six are Miss Marie Devine, Miss Lilly Burke, R. L. Marks, E. A. Coyne, D. M. Salee and A. D. Manners. Manners is the veteran of the group, having been employed by the Wabash since 1902.

There were toasts yesterday to the club, to the next meeting, and to the employers, who had given the afternoon off to all of the members.

KROGER GROCERY HEAD TESTIFIES IN TAX SUIT

Says General Levy Like Maplewood Fixed Would Put Company Out of Business.

Albert H. Morrill of Cincinnati, president of the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., testified at Clayton today that a general chain store tax similar to that adopted last September in Maplewood would put his company out of business in four years.

Morrill took the witness stand in Circuit Judge Nolte's court in his company's suit to enjoin the City of Maylewood from collecting the tax on Kroger groceries. There are seven Kroger stores in the town, six of which would be subject to the tax if the company's suit is unsuccessful.

The chain-store executive described the grocery business as the "most truly competitive of all retail enterprises." Enumerating factors in the competition, he cited price, size and appearance of store, personnel, and appearance of delivery vehicles. He named as competitors Clover Farm Stores, Associated Grocers, Nation-Wide Stores and A. & P. Independent grocers giving credit to customers also were rated as competitors by Morrill, whose company does a cash-and-carry business.

Loss in 1931.

In 1931 the seven Kroger stores in Maplewood lost $738 each, the witness said. Last year each store showed a profit of $170. In 1931 the volume of business was $51,000 in each store. If the tax is enforced the company will be forced to cease doing business in Maplewood, Morrill testified. This would cause a loss to the company of $26,800 on store leases, and additional losses in leasehold improvements.

Discussing his firm's business nationally, Morrill told the court that the 4980 Kroger stores showed an average profit of $441 in 1931. In six 20-day periods last year 4851 stores returned an average profit of $240. Total net profit in 1931 amounted to $2,731,128. In the six 20-day periods of 1932 net profit nationally totaled $1,365,045.

Morrill related that percentage of profit in 1930 was 1.81; in 1931 it dropped to 1.12, and for the first part of last year 1.33 per cent. This margin is about one-third of what other chain groceries make, the witness stated.

Would Eat Up Capital.

Discussing the Maplewood tax Morrill testified that if it had been applied to all his company's stores in 1930 the result would have been a loss of $3,000,000. "At that rate our working capital and reserve would be eaten up in four years, and we would go out of business," Morrill asserted.

The tax ordinance provides a levy of $300 a year for the second store of a chain, $500 for the third and $1000 for each additional store. A temporary injunction was granted the Kroger company pending the final outcome of its suit. The tax law was adopted at the request of independent merchants, according to a recent statement by Mayor Humphreys.

THRASHES COLLEGE COLUMNIST FOR PUBLISHING GIRL'S NOTE

E. J. Becker, St. Louis, Calls on Writer in Fraternity House at Wisconsin U.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 18. — The publication of a note from a University of Wisconsin campus beauty to Edward J. Becker, 5945 Romaine place, St. Louis, a pre-medic student, so incensed Becker that he called on a columnist of Daily Cardinal, student paper, and thrashed him Tuesday in a fraternity house.

Albert Klaber, a senior, of Summerville, N. J., got possession of a Christmas card sent to Becker. He had a photostatic copy made and printed it in his Rambler column in the campus daily.

Becker, tall athlete, walked into the Delta Chi fraternity house, where Klaber lives, and asked for the columnist.

"Do you know who I am?" he asked. "No," said Klaber.

Becker struck him in the face several times and left him unconscious on the floor.

Haug, who was convalescing from an operation.

"All of them were in an impecunious condition.

"It was then discussed between Miss Haug and Mr. and Mrs. Rochefort and Mrs. Baker that Miss Haug should invite Mr. Stillman, with whom she was well acquainted, to visit her and introduce him to Mrs. Rochefort. The evening Mr. Stillman called he was introduced by Miss Haug to Mrs. Rochefort as a widow.

"Rochefort, with knowledge of the proposed meeting, left the apartment and spent the night in a hotel, after receiving $5 from his wife with which to pay for the hotel room. Thereafter, in talks between Mr. and Mrs. Rochefort and Miss Haug, it was agreed that Marjorie Rochefort and she would encourage Stillman to take them to Havana and finance them in a beauty parlor business.

Declares Rochefort Knew.

"Mr. Rochefort had full knowledge from the beginning of whatever relations may have existed between his wife and Mr. Stillman. He had received from his wife at various times sums of money which he knew or had reason to believe she had received from Mr. Stillman."

Sumner then related his negotiations with Becker, which he said began Oct. 27 last when Stillman informed him an effort was being made to serve him with a summons and complaint. Stillman was ill, Sumner said, and directed the attorney to act for him.

On Nov. 2, according to Sumner, Becker appeared at Sumner's office and said he was ready to consider an "amicable settlement" of the proceedings for an amount which he believed Stillman "could well afford to pay in preference to the trouble and expense of defending the suit."

"Becker mentioned $25,000 as the sum which he believed he could prevail upon his client to accept if settled immediately," Sumner charged.

Sumner said he told Becker he was "taking too much for granted," declaring that investigation showed that Rochefort's suit was based on the "same set of facts" used by Mrs. Rochefort in her unsuccessful litigation.

Thought She Was Widow.

Sumner said he looked into the situation after Mrs. Rochefort filed her suit. Stillman, he declared, told him he always thought Mrs. Rochefort was a widow and did not learn otherwise until her summons was served. For seven months prior to the suit, the lawyer added, Stillman averred he had not seen the woman.

Becker, a former Assistant Attorney-General of New York State, then told Sumner he would drop Rochefort's suit also if he found it lacked merit, Stillman's lawyer continued, and then asked him to read the contents of Miss Haug's affidavit, promising to hold it as a confidential communication.

On Nov. 7, Sumner said, Becker telephoned him to state that Rochefort denied the truth of Miss Haug's affidavite. Becker invited Sumner to look at a number of letters alleged to have been written by Stillman to Mrs. Rochefort.

Sumner said he did so, and told the Court there was nothing in them that would cause him to alter his opinion that Rochefort's case was lacking in merit.

Sumner said he passed Becker's alleged $25,000 settlement offer on to Stillmen just before the banker left for his Havana home in November. Stillman, he declared, rejected it.

"Mr. Stillman said," Sumner continued, "that he did not regard his relations with Mrs. Rochefort warranted any claim being made against him either by her or her husband. He was unwilling to settle, and while he did not welcome such publicity, nevertheless he was repared to face it in his defense of the action."

CLAYTON LOOKING INTO CITY-OWNED ELECTRIC PLANTS

Special Committee of Aldermen Named to Investigate Feasibility of Municipal Utility.

The feasibility of a municipally-owned electric plant to supply current for light and power in the city of Clayton is being investigated by a special committee of four aldermen appointed last week by Acting Mayor Jules Strong.

The committee was appointed after Frederick A. Cammann, its chairman, had reported that the situation in Clayton was favorable for such a plant. He reported that his inquiry of several months into municipally-owned electric plants in Missouri, Illinois, California and Canada had disclosed that their operation had resulted generally in lower rates and substantial savings to taxpayers.

Electricity for Clayton is furnished by the Union Electric Light & Power Co. A 10-year contract with the Union Electric to furnish electricity to the city for street lighting was approved May 22, 1928. The contract, by its terms, may be terminated by the Public Service Commission of Missouri on application of either party.

$200,000 or $300,000 Cost.

Cammann said today that while plans for the plant had not gone beyond an embryonic stage, preliminary estimates indicated the cost would be between $200,000 and $300,000.

"We are considering the employment of expert engineers," he said, "to make a survey of the city and to report on costs, the necessary capacity of the plant and the best type of construction. We will consider economy and practicability in determining, if our plans are approved, whether it should be a steam plant, a Diesel engine plant, or some other kind.

"It could be built so that additions could be made as the need for light and power increases. With a present population of about 10,000, Clayton has room for about 25,000 and might have a considerable growth in industry.

"We want to give the citizens the most and the best for the least money and considerations as to the manner of financing the plant will be along those lines. It is possible that certain financial interests would advance the funds for building the plant. In that case the city would pay nothing, the tax rate would not be increased, and, it is hoped, earnings of the plant over a period of years would enable repayment of those who financed the plant so that it might be turned over to the city free.

Confident of Lower Rates.

"We are confident that the plant could be operated so that rates for current could be reduced and it is likely that taxpayers would be saved large sums if the plant would do what other municipal plants have done. For example, surplus earnings might be used for expenses of city departments, for erection of municipal buildings, for an improved lighting system, or similar municipal needs.

"Our present antiquated street lighting system costs the taxpayers about $9000 a year, or about 4 cents per $100 of property valuation. A municipal plant might enable us to build a new system with modern light standards such as are in use in St. Louis, operation of which would be without cost to the city.

"If our plans work out," Cammann said, "we won't stop at an electric plant, but will go into the matter of a municipal water plant."

The committee will present its preliminary plans to the Board of Aldermen next Tuesday evening. Other members of the committee are Roy Campbell, Charles Shaw and August Elbring.

HOW POLICEMAN, BY QUICK THINKING, KILLED A ROBBER

Sergeant Palmer Figured Fugitive Was Going for Street Car—Found Him Waiting for Taxicab.

Police Sergt. Richard Palmer today received congratulations of his superior officers on the quick thinking and accurate markmanship displayed when he shot and killed a fleeing grocery robber at Arsenal street and Wisconsin avenue yesterday afternoon.

Palmer, who, as a patrolman, used to give "Officer Palmer's" daily radio talks on safety and police work, and who a few years ago figured in a moving picture showing the perils of a policeman's life, overtook the robber four blocks from the scene of the store holdup. He was guided only by a surmise that the man might have gone to take a street car on the nearest line. Instead, the man was waiting for a taxicab, which arrived a few minutes after he was shot.

The robber, it developed later, had gone into a confectionery at 1961 Arsenal street to telephone for the taxi, but, being unfamiliar with the St. Louis dial telephone system, asked Miss Edna Patton, daughter of the proprietor, to make the call for him, which she did.

He left the store just in time to be seen by Sergt. Palmer and Patrolman James Thompson, who were in a police automobile, and who recognized him from the description just given them. Palmer, although seeing that the man was armed, stepped out, and when the man fled and did not heed his cry of "Halt!" shot him.

The body of the man is at the Morgue, and his name has not been learned, though memoranda indicate that he came from Chicago.

Chief of Police Gerk today praised Sergt. Palmer for an excellent piece of police work. Coroner Furlong, after a verdict of justifiable homicide had been returned at an inquest, said he would write to the Police Board asking that Palmer be rewarded. There is at present no vacant lieutenancy to which a sergeant could be promoted.

The robbery was committed at 1:20 p. m. in a Kroger store at 1901 Pestalozzi street, and Palmer and Thompson were passing the store when the clerk ran out and reported the fact. He told of the black leather jacket worn by the man, and this was the chief thing which enabled the policemen to recognize him a few minutes later.

At City Hospital, where the man died a half hour after the shooting, it was found he had the store cash, $26.25, in his pockets, $12 being in packages of quarters and nickels.

His pistol, a German Luger, was fully loaded. In his hatband were cards with several names and addresses, apparently in Chicago, and the baggage check for a suitcase, which, when claimed at Union Station, was found to contain clothing and a book, "Casanova," taken from a Chicago circulating library.

The dead robber was recognized at the Morgue by Stanley Wisniewski, clerk at the Kroger store, and Irvin Brock, a customer, as the one who ordered them into the icebox, where they remained while he looted the cash register.

Sergt. Palmer is 35 years old, and lives at 5508 Murdoch avenue with his wife and 13-year-old daughter. He has been a policeman since 1922, and a Sergeant since 1930. He wears a sharpshooter's badge, won in marksmanship competition. In connection with his radio talks, he has visited schools and talked to children on the safety movement.

NIES NOT IN LACLEDE TRUST

He Resigned as Secretary of Bank Nine Months Ago.

It was erroneously stated in last Monday's Post-Dispatch that George A. Nies was secretary of the Laclede Trust Co., which has been placed in the hands of the State Finance Commissioner.

Nies resigned from the bank nine months ago and now is connected with a life insurance company.

SEEKS DEATH PENALTY IN ATTACK ON NURSE

State Puts Woman on Stand Who Identifies Negro As Assailant.

Testimony in the trial of J. C. Jackson, 30-year-old Negro ex-convict, on a charge of rape, was begun before Circuit Judge Landwehr today after the State had announced in an opening statement that the death penalty would be demanded.

The complaining witness, a practical nurse, 28 years old, testified that on Jan. 21 of last year she was called at her home at 5:45 a. m. by a man who said he had read her advertisement in a newspaper and asked if she would take employment to care for his mother.

She said she agreed to go at once to his home which he said was at 5061 Lindell boulevard. As she was dressing, she continued, she was called again by a man who said he was a chauffeur, and who arranged to meet her at Kingshighway and Lindell boulevards.

When she arrived at the intersection by motorbus, she testified, no one was there, but as she started west on foot she was met by a Negro, whom she identified as Jackson. He conducted her to the house, she said.

"I noticed that the shades were down and that the house appeared to be unoccupied," she said. "The man who met me said that the family had just moved in and had not had time to get straightened up.

"When he let me in at the front door, however, I saw there was no furniture. I started to leave. He drew a revolver and told me to get up to the third floor. He had a flashlight that he used to light the way."

When they got to the third floor she continued, the Negro beat her as she attempted to get away, then criminally assaulted her. Presently she was allowed to leave. She said she engaged the man in conversation for five minutes in front of the house, hoping a policeman might come along, but none appeared. She finally went home and called the police by telephone.

Jackson's photograph was identified by the nurse after the attack as that of her assailant. An informant had suggested to the police that he was the man they sought. He was arrested on the street four months after the crime. He has denied his connection with the assault.

PUTS UP FIGHT BUT IS ROBBED OF RING VALUED AT $800

Frank W. Grant Struck on Nose by One of Two Men —Also Loses $150 Pin, Watch and $30.

As Frank W. Grant, 1324 Clara avenue, walked out of the garage back of his home early today, after putting away his car, two armed Negroes stepped out of the alley and held him up. He grappled with one robber and the other hit him on the nose with the end of a revolver. He was robbed of $30 in cash, an $800 diamond ring, $150 pin and $57 watch. The robbers ran up the alley and escaped.

William Goss, night manager of a restaurant at 3044 Franklin avenue, and a Negro waitress were held up by two Negroes, one with a revolver. The cash register was looted of $15.

Two men boarded a Hodiamont street car at Wabada avenue last night and held up the operator, Winfred Edwards, 5715 Enright avenue. After taking $20 at the point of the revolver, they ordered Edwards to stop the car and got off.

$1500 Jewelry Burglary.

Benjamin Hopkins, attendant at a gasoline station at 5028 Southwest avenue, was forced to climb out a window when an armed robber padlocked him in the washroom. The robber took $17.

Returning home from a motion picture show, Miss Regina T. Shea and her sister, Miss Loretta M. Shea, 3725 Fair avenue, discovered burglars had broken out a front door glass and had ransacked the house. Their father, Joseph E. Shea, reported $1500 worth of jewelry stolen.

A tobacco salesman's truck stolen from a parking place in the 2300 block of Olive street was found abandoned near Twentieth and Olive streets, with $75 worth of cigars and cigarettes missing, but with a sack containing $150 in collections intact under the driver's seat. The salesman, Bernard Ingram, 1366 St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, is employed by the Peter Hauptmann Tobacco Co., 500 North Fourth street.

Fire at Stolen Auto.

Four shots were fired by a detective as he and a companion pursued a stolen automobile on Delmar boulevard last night. After two bullets had hit the car, the driver pulled to the curb in the 4100 block of Delmar. In the car the officers found three boys about 15 years old, one the driver. They said they had stolen the car to "take a ride," according to the detectives. The automobile belongs to Ernest Brown, 3021 Magnolia avenue.

Robbers forced open a safe in the rear of Gerber's Meat Market, 5727 Delmar boulevard, last night and took $325 in cash. They failed to take $225 additional which was in an envelope. The robbers had entered by breaking in a back door. The store has been robbed twice before, in 1922 and 1929, when $550 was taken.

Patrolman Wagman and Probationary Patrolman Smith of the Dayton District captured two men at 8 o'clock last night who later admitted they had intended to rob a confectionery at 2627 North Garrison avenue. Wagman and Smith, cruising in a scout car, noticed the men loitering in front of the store As they stopped their car the two ran south on Garrison but were caught within the block. On one they found a loaded revolver.

As Miss Nehoma Lerner, 5653 Enright avenue, walked through Cabanne way near her home, two boys snatched her purse and ran. The purse contained $6.25.

As Miss Dora Brueggemann was walking through an alley to her home at 4214 Grove street, yesterday a man, about 25 years old, snatched her purse. It contained 90 cents, several car tokens, and two spools of thread.

David Kaplan, owner of a dry goods store at 1647 St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, and two customers were robbed by two men, who took $45 from a cash drawer, $50 from F. B. Crowe, 1354 North Forty-first street, East St. Louis, and $5 from Mrs. Edna Doak, 1808 St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, whose purse one of the robbers snatched as she entered the store. They fled in Crowe's automobile which was parked in front of the store.

R. F. Willison, operator of an Alta Sita bus, was robbed of $17 and his changer by an armed man, who boarded the bus downtown and rode to the end of the line at Fortieth street and Bond avenue.

LION HUNTER WAITS FOR BETTER WEATHER

Afraid Two Beasts Will Catch Cold and Die Before He Can Kill Them.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WOLF ISLAND, Mo., Jan. 18.—Rain-soaked and muddy, the 20 members of Denver M. Wright's lion-hunting expedition are encamped on a 190-acre Mississippi River island eight miles south of this settlement, waiting for the weather to clear so that two lions purchased by Wright may be released and shot down in the best South African style.

After many glances at a lowering sky, Wright decided this morning that the weather was not propitious to release the two lions, full-grown beasts, from the cage in which they were transported 200 miles from his home at 1618 Annalee avenue in Brentwood, St. Louis County.

"It would not be humane," he said. "They might catch cold and die. We'll wait for things to dry out again."

And so the members of the expedition, most of them watersoaked from a sleepless night under leaky tents, settled down to breakfast prepared on a gasoline stove by a Negro cook—all, that is, except the correspondent and a boatman who set off up the river in a leaky motorized scow to the nearest telephone at Wolf Island.

Yesterday's trip from East Prairie, Mo., where the party spent Monday night, was for the most part a drag over mud roads that the most optimistic automobile club in the world would have called impassable. Throughout the journey it rained, now a heavy drizzle and again a downpour that washed the bottom out of the road.

The lions took it philosophically. They roared only when someone poked at them with a stick for the edification for farmers past whose home the caravan wended its way. Automobiles got stuck time after time and had to be pushed and dragged out of mudholes.

The Japanese artillerymen who moved up their guns through the mud at Port Arthur to get at the Russians were no muddier and no wetter than the lion-hunter and his party when, after a three-hour trip over eight miles of road, they finally arrived at the river bank. The lions were moved to a barge which was towed to the island. There the cage was dragged and pushed into a stockade, and the party retired behind its barbed wire barricade for supper and such rest as the rain would permit.

CITY SANITARIUM CONTRACT

$10,366 Order Placed for Steam-Driven Electric Generator.

The Board of Public Service, on recommendation of Director of Public Utilities Pritchard, yesterday awarded a contract for installation of a 250-kilowatt steam-driven generator at City Sanitarium to the Automatic Cone Valve Co. of Mattoon, Ill.

That firm's bid of $10,336 was $166 more than the bid submitted by the Allis-Chalmers Co. of Milwaukee, Wis. Pritchard said, however, the Milwaukee company's bid did not conform to the specifications concerning valve mechanisms.

'Liv' Morse Home Now Roadhouse.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo, Jan. 18.—The mansion-like residence of the late E. L. (Liv) Morse, Republican politician, on a hill top overlooking Crescent Lake, two miles southwest of here on Highway No. 10, has been leased and turned into a roadhouse. The two-story brick residence, scene of dancing and dining nightly.

WILLYS, AUTO MAGNATE SUED FOR $1,000,000

Woman Alleges He Converted Funds in Brokerage Account to Own Use.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—John N. Willys, automobile manufacturer and former Ambassador to Poland, was named defendant in a suit for $1,000,000 filed in Supreme Court in which it is alleged he converted to his own use funds and securities in a brokerage account over which he had power of attorney.

The suit was filed by counsel for Mrs. Violet A. Wall of San Francisco, who is administratrix for the estate of Mrs. Carolyn Armstrong. Charles B. Mertz, Willys' secretary, was named co-defendant.

The complaint charges that they had power of attorney from Mrs. Armstrong over a brokerage account; that the balance in the account in April, 1930, was not less than $1,000,000 in cash and securities, and that Willys and Mertz withdrew the balance and converted it to their own use.

A second suit, in which Willys is the only defendant, charges that he borrowed $250,000 from Mrs. Armstrong between Jan. 1, 1930, and July 1, 1930, promising to pay it back before July 1, 1932, and that the money is still unpaid.

At the office of Cook, Nathan & Lehman, attorneys for Willys, it was said a general denial to all the charges would be filed within 20 days, the time allowed by law.

Suit Is "Ridiculous," Willys Declares.

By the Associated Press.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 18.—John N. Willys termed "ridiculous" the $1,000,000 suit filed against him in the New York Supreme Court. He said: "The suit is utterly without foundation, and doesn't even merit denial except for the publicity given to it. The allegations are entirely false in every respect. I have turned the matter over to my attorneys."

$449,000 COLLECTED IN TOLLS ON THE MUNICIPAL BRIDGE

Comptroller Reports for Period Lacking Few Days of Six Months.

Toll collections on the Municipal Bridge up to Jan. 15, the Comptroller's office announced today, totaled $449,000. That amount was collected since last July 21 when charges of 10 cents for private and 15 cents for commercial vehicles were placed in effect.

Income from the bridge is to be used to retire the $4,600,000 in unemployment relief bonds authorized last November. The bonds have not yet been issued, pending a Supreme Court decision on their validity.

The revenue so far is in accord with estimates made when the toll charges were agreed upon that they would produce between $800,000 and $900,000 a year. The period covered in today's report lacks only a few days of being six months. From July 21 to Dec. 31, the bridge was used by 3,706,077 vehicles.

Wife Sues B. J. Weinberger.

Suit for a divorce was filed in Circuit Court today by Mrs. Eva Weinberger, 4317 Page boulevard, through Attorney Meyer Blocher, against Benjamin J. Weinberger, an attorney, with offices in the Wainwright Building. They were married May 28, 1922, and separated June 14, 1930. The petition alleges general indignities. Weinberger, who sought a Republican nomination for Circuit Judge in the primary last year, filed an answer denying the allegations but entered his appearance. The Weinbergers have two children.

ELECTION CONTEST REHEARING DENIED G. O. P. COMMITTEEMAN

J. W. Chambers Overruled Again in Effort to Obtain Recount of Vote.

A motion by Jordan W. Chambers, undertaker, for a rehearing in his election contest suit against Harry C. Meyers for Republican Committeeman in the Nineteenth Ward was overruled today by Circuit Judge Hall.

On the ground of lack of jurisdiction the court last month sustained Meyers' petition to dismiss the action, Meyers alleging he had not been properly served with the notice of contest as required by law. In sustaining his original decision Judge Hall said that a great deal of expense is incurred in such contest and that the difference in the number of votes between Meyers and Chambers was not so close "as to hazard a guess on the outcome."

Meyers, on the face of the returns, won by 711 votes over Chambers, who asked for a recount on the ground that he lost through irregularities in the count. Meyers is a Justice of the Peace.

JEROME F. DUGGAN FIRST TO FILE IN MAYORALTY RACE

Candidate for Democratic Nomination Pays $200 Fee; in Race to Stay, He Says.

Jerome F. Duggan, lawyer, filed his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Mayor with the Election Board yesterday and paid the Democratic City Committee the $200 filing fee required by law. He is the first mayoralty candidate of either party to file a formal declaration.

Duggan issued a statement taking cognizance of reports that he did not intend to remain in the race. He said he was in the race to stay, and had established an organization extending throughout the 28 wards, with workers canvassing voters in his behalf. Duggan has opened campaign headquarters at the Warwick Hotel, Fifteenth and Locust streets.

Illinois Sales Tax Bill Advanced.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 18.—The 2 per cent sales tax bill intended to aid the state's unemployed was introduced in the State Senate yesterday by Senator Francis J. Loughran of Chicago and advanced to a second reading. Proponents of the bill estimated it would raise $38,000,000 in revenue.

GOV. PARK IN CITY, NO DECISION YET ON APPOINTMENTS

Not Ready to Name Members of Police and Election Boards or Finance Commissioner.

Gov. Park, in St. Louis last night for the annual banquet of the Real Estate Exchange, could not escape jobseekers. It was his first public appearance since his inauguration nine days ago.

He spent an hour or two before and after the dinner in the Queen Marie suite of the Coronado Hotel, in partial seclusion, but in the dining room and lobby he was a magnet for job aspirants. They talked to him as he entered and as he left, and even during the course of the meal. Among them were candidates for the Police and Election Boards.

"I'm not going to make appointments for some time," the Governor said in his speech. "I haven't determined who will be Police Commissioners. I don't know who's going to be Finance Commissioner. My mind has been occupied with nothing else, between the most excellent bunch of reporters a state ever possessed and a swarm of officeseekers."

One man the Governor saw in his suite soon after his arrival from Jefferson City at 5 p. m. and again before his departure at 11 p. m. was William L. Igoe, who is credited with much influence with him. The Governor urged Igoe to accept the presidency of the Police Board, but Igoe has not made up his mind. The Governor disclosed that he had asked Guy A. Thompson, recent president of the American Bar Association, to be a Police Commissioner but that Thompson had declined for business reasons.

Appointments are likely to be held up until the legislative program is well under way, Gov. Park told reporters. Commenting on a statement of Democratic leaders, published yesterday, about the probable personnel of the Police and Election boards, he said he had not discussed the matter with some of those mentioned, except Igoe, and didn't know the others.

The Governor, in his address, cautioned St. Louisans not to become panicky because of recent bank closings, saying it was merely a passing occurrence. He counseled confidence in the city's banks and business men and said he was not going to disturb the State Finance Department, which supervises banks, for the time being. When he appoints a Finance Commissioner that official will co-operate with his predecessor, the Governor added.

Speaking in a vein of Jeffersonian democracy, the chief executive said: "We have too much government, too many laws. The least government is the best. Too many laws, too many attempts on the part of state and national governments to control the acts of citizens destroy individual initiative. The protective tariff was the first step in the wrong direction and now then aye tr:ing to protect everybody. When you try that you protect nobody.

"The problem of the farmer is to let him alone and take off the protection that makes him pay out of proportion to what he can afford. We are overtaxed. We are taxed for everything we do and for some things we say. The old fashioned government is not of, but by the people. Rather than the people be governed, the people must govern to bring us back to prosperity—and we will come back."

Gov. Park said he attended the banquet as a favor to Bernard F. Dickmann, who was inducted to a third term as president of the Real Estate Exchange, because Dickmann helped him get acquainted here when he came as a candidate "unknown but not unsung." Former Gov. Caulfield introduced Gov. Park, urging loyalty to him without regard to party.

Dickmann, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Mayor, told the new Governor the Real Estate Exchange would appear before State officials for a further reduction of taxes. He told how it had sought the 10 per cent reduction of the realty assessment here, made last year, and spoke of the recent request of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for another additional 10 per cent cut as an "eleventh hour conversion." He urged economy in the city government along the lines suggested by the exchange when the municipal budget was under discussion last year. Dickmann advocated legalization of beer, to help St. Louis business, stir up real estate activity and produce revenue from liquor dispensing licenses.

The Legislative Committee of the exchange conferred with Gov. Park on a program to be submitted to the Legislature, calling for installment payment of taxes, lightening of the penalties for tax delinquency, classification of intangible property for taxation and protection against realty frauds. The Governor told reporters he favored some of this program and was doubtful about the rest.

Decline in Gifts for Missions.

By the Associated Press.

EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 18. — The Rev. Charles C. Merrill, secretary of the Commission on Missions, reported at the annual national executive conference of the Congregational and Christian churches yesterday that in the year ended Dec. 31, a decrease of 17.3 per cent, or $408,355, was noted in donations for missions and other benevolences.

ALLEGED VICTIM OF ONE-MAN CAR DIES OF INJURIES

Nicholas Schimmer, 72, Had Told of Being Run Over—Motorman Denied Knowing of Accident.

Nicholas Schimmer, 72 years old, 921A (rear) Geyer avenue, who said, on his admission to city hospital a week ago, that he had been run over by a one-man Cherokee street car, died of his injuries last night.

He was found lying in Twelfth street at Geyer avenue at 6:45 p. m., with his feet crushed. He explained he was attempting to board the car, when the operator closed the door and he was thrown to the pavement with his feet on the rail.

A motorist, who picked Schimmer up, pursued the street car, reporting the number to police. Subsequently a motorman identifying himself as Charles Hogue, 2215 Missouri avenue, reported at Soulard Police Station that he was the operator of the car. He denied knowledge of the accident, and was not held.

Physicians decided the patient would be unable to survive amputation of his feet. Preparations for a blood transfusion were being made when he died. He was unemployed, and resided with his wife, Catherine. An inquest will be held.

3 HELD IN DEATH THREATS

Alleged to Have Tried to Extort $21,000 in Tennessee.

By the Associated Press.

COOKEVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 18.—Extortion charges were entered against three persons late yesterday in connection with an alleged plot to obtain $21,000 from the wife of a Cookeville bank employe under threat of death to her, her husband and their 10-year-old daughter if she failed to comply with the demands.

Robert Leftwich, 23, of Buffalo Valley; his uncle, Guy Leftwich, 30, and Hobson Jackson, 34, both of Cookeville, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Commissioner D. H. Morgan. Mrs. Wilhite's husband is assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Cookeville.

Democrats Wrangle Two Days Over Whether Salaries of Half Should Be Fixed at $3.50.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 18.—The House of Representatives, which for several days has sidetracked business to wrangle, in caucus and in open session, over the appointment and compensation of its 75 employes, yesterday apparently settled the vexing question of pay by voting, 77 to 49, to pay all employes $5 a day.

The Democratic majority caucuses and two sessions of the House were required to determine the question of whether all of the employes shoud be paid $5 a day, or if 34 of them should receive only $3.50 a day and the rest $5 a day.

Prior to the two days of discussion of the actual compensation, the House had spent a considerable part of its deliberations, since convening last Jan. 4, in discussion of the method of appointing the 75 employes, and their classification as a means of fixing their compensation.

Clerical problems, which regularly have weighed heavily upon the House members in rcent sessions, were emphasized in this session by action of the people of the State last November in adopting, by a top-heavy majority, a constitutional amendment limiting each House of the Legislature to not to exceed 75 employes at any time during the session. Passage of this amendment resulted largely from House clerical payroll scandals of the 1931 session, which brought charges the House wasted more than $200,000 in payment of clerical salaries.

The Democratic majority caucus voted, 77 to 44, to fix the pay of all employes at $5 a day, but some of the majority members weakened under charges in House debate that the increase from $3.50 a day was a violation of economy pledges to the taxpayers. The resolution authorizing the pay was withdrawn temporarily and another caucus held this afternoon, to strengthen the lines.

SENATE COMMITTEE HOLDS DOWN STATE EXPENDITURES

Imposes Limit Fixed by Caulfield Pending Passage of Appropriation Bill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 18.—The Senate Appropriations Committee last night decided on sharp curtailment of expenditures of all State officials and departments supported from the general revenue fund of the State pending passage of the biennial appropriation bill.

Under the State Constitution all appropriations lapse Jan. 1 of the year the Legislature meets. To enable the Government to function the Legislature at the beginning of each session adopts a resolution authorizing the auditor and the treasurer to pay claims against the State, and pending the Legislature to appropriate the money later.

In considering this resolution last night the committee voted that the authorization would be limited to the amount expended by each of the officials and departments in January, February and March, 1932, when Gov. Caulfield cut their customary expenditures 26 per cent.

Officials of the Highway Department were directed to appear before the committee today to present details of the amounts it had expended it needed for operations until March, when the regular appropriation bill will be passed.

NEW TREATMENT FOR EXPECTANT AND NURSING MOTHERS

When a baby is expected, laxatives must not be used. Mother must not take them as long as she is carrying or nursing the little one.

Doctors will tell you that laxative drugs taken by the mother are a danger to baby. It is a crime to risk your baby's health. That is why they so often advise Cream of Nujol.

This new form of Nujol is specially suitable for expectant and nursing mothers because it does not upset the stomach or cause cramps and does not pass into the milk.

If you are expecting a baby, take the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment night and morning. It is kind to the delicate bowel membranes, and being free of drugs, it is safe for you and your child. Moreover, it is delicious and easy to take. At a cost of only a few cents a day it will make you "as regular as clockwork," and protect the health of your child. Buy it at any drug counter.

Severe Coughs Relieved by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up severe coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively gives effective relief quickly.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils, and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and helps to heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, one of the most reliable agents for relieving severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Under the State Constitution all appropriations lapse Jan. 1 of the year the Legislature meets. To enable the Government to function the Legislature at the beginning of each session adopts a resolution authorizing the auditor and the treasurer to pay claims against the State, and pending the Legislature to appropriate the money later.

In considering this resolution last night the committee voted that the authorization would be limited to the amount expended by each of the officials and departments in January, February and March, 1932, when Gov. Caulfield cut their customary expenditures 26 per cent.

Officials of the Highway Department were directed to appear before the committee today to present details of the amounts it had reported it needed for operations until March, when the regular appropriation bill will be passed.

NEW TREATMENT FOR EXPECTANT AND NURSING MOTHERS

When a baby is expected, laxatives must not be used. Mother must not take them as long as she is carrying or nursing the little one.

Doctors will tell you that laxative drugs taken by the mother are a danger to baby. It is a crime to risk your baby's health. That is why they so often advise Cream of Nujol.

This new form of Nujol is specially suitable for expectant and nursing mothers because it does not upset the stomach or cause cramps and does not pass into the milk.

If you are expecting a baby, take the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment night and morning. It is kind to the delicate bowel membranes, and being free of drugs, it is safe for you and your child. Moreover, it is delicious and easy to take. At a cost of only a few cents a day it will make you "as regular as clockwork," and protect the health of your child. Buy it at any drug counter.

Severe Coughs Relieved by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up severe coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively gives effective relief quickly.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils, and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and helps to heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, one of the most reliable agents for relieving severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

DEATH WATCHES PUT OVER TWO MEN TO HANG ON FRIDAY

J. W. Kellar, at Clayton, and D. A. Miller, St. Charles, Both Killed Women in Robbery Attempts

Death watches were established today over two men, sentenced to be hanged Friday for murdering women during attempted robberies.

Awaiting his fate at Clayton is James W. Kellar, who confessed the murder of Mrs. Etta Sauer in her Maplewood home, Jan. 4, 1932.

At St. Charles, David A. Miller, itinerant woodcutter, is to pay the penalty for the murder in 1929 of Miss Pauline Duebbert, an elderly spinster who was reputed to have money concealed about her isolated farm near Femme Osage.

Both men said today they were resigned "to meet the end" but indicated they cling to the hope they may be reprieved.

Unless Gov. Park intervenes, Kellar will be hanged at 6 o'clock in the morning. Sheriff Phelps of St. Charles County said today he would delay the execution of Miller's sentence to give the Sheriff of St. Louis County time to reach there to be a witness.

779 Sign Clemency Petition.

Miller's attorney, Osmund Haenssler, went to Jefferson City today to present a petition to the Governor for clemency, signed by 779 residents of St. Charles County. Most of the signers, he said, felt that Miller's sentence should be commuted to life imprisonment, the penalty given Norman Tanner, 21 years old, who accompanied him when Miss Duebbert was killed and her cousin, August Meyer, wounded. Miller subsequently admitted firing the shots which killed the spinster.

Two Deputy Sheriffs at a time are assigned to guard each man. The usual jail fare was suspended today for both prisoners, who are permitted now to order anything they wish to eat.

Kellar, who is 30 years old, is alone in a cell tier on the second floor of the Clayton jail, only 10 paces from the death trap in an inclosed passageway bridging the jail and courthouse. He read and walked about his cell until about 4 a. m. today and slept through the forenoon. Until today he was accustomed to play cards with a fellow prisoner, but his companion's term expired yesterday.

About a week ago he made a profession of religion to the Rev. Albert J. Korris, pastor of Bethel Lutheran Church, who conducts weekly services at the jail. The clergyman visited Kellar yesterday and quoted him as saying, "I realize that I have to go some time and can only go once."

Miller Paints in Jail.

Miller, the 50-year-old woodcutter, whose cell windows at St. Charles overlook the gallows, watched their preparation without comment yesterday, but remarked this morning:

"Well, I haven't got much longer now, but I feel that I'll go to a good place after death."

During nearly three years in the jail, he has learned to paint water colors, has made about $150 selling some of them to St. Charles residents, and today was engaged in painting a picture of a bull terrier to present to Miss Niva Phelps, daughter of the Sheriff.

"I'm afraid I won't get this picture finished unless they are good to me," he remarked, "because, you know, I, haven't got much time now."

While most of his paintings depict pastoral settings, he is especially proud of a portrait of the "Good Shepherd," which he completed recently. He has painted numerous garden scenes and landscapes.

MOTORIST INDICTED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Memphis Man Accused of Running Down Woman in County.

Indictments charging manslaughter and leaving the scene of an injury to a person, were returned by the grand jury yesterday against Robert Walls, Memphis, Tenn., salesman, in connection with the killing of Mrs. Anna Slavik by an automobile at 8500 Goodfellow boulevard, Dec. 28.

Walls, 50 years old, had been staying at the home of his father, 5172 Vernon avenue, when here on a business trip. He was arrested an hour after Mrs. Slavik was killed when his automobile ran into a ditch on Chambers road, near Highway 99, in St. Louis County. He made conflicting statements and was pronounced intoxicated by City Hospital physicians. A Coroner's jury the following day charged him with homicide.

Strands of hair were found in a dented place on the car, a tan beret, identified as having been worn by Mrs. Slavik, was found inside his car. Witnesses also identified Walls and his automobile. Mrs. Slavik, 24 years old, was a housemaid at a West End residence and was visiting at 8611 Trafford lane. She was out walking with her 3-year-old daughter when struck.

BRANCH BANKING ADVOCATED BY GOVERNOR OF NEVADA

Balzar Also Asks Legislature to Provide Greater Security for Public Funds.

By the Associated Press.

CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 18.—Changes in the Nevada banking laws to permit branch banking and provide greater security for public funds on deposit in State banks were recommended to the Legislature yesterday by Gov. Balzar.

A plan to reorganize and reopen the 12 Wingfield banks in Nevada is contingent on legislation permitting branch banking, the Governor said, adding:

"If, in our present unfortunate situation in which so large a part of the State's financial machinery has ceased to function, the best plan presented for bringing about a resumption shall include branch banking as an indispensible feature, then any other course than legalizing branch banks would be unthinkable."

State Treasury Field Agent.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 18.—The appointment of Earl T. Straley of Kansas City as field agent for the State Treasury Department is announced by Treasurer Richard R. Nacy.

VERDICT OF ACCIDENT IN GIRALDIN'S DEATH

Son and Employe Testify at Inquest in Case of Real Estate Man.

The death of William A. Giraldin, president of the Giraldin Bros. Real Estate Co., who shot and killed himself at his office yesterday, was held to have been accidental in a Coroner's verdict today.

His son, C. Earl Giraldin, vice-president and treasurer of the company, and an employe, Joseph Hennessey, testified they found Giraldin's body in a swivel chair with a revolver on the floor behind him and some distance away. Hennessey said the chair, at Earl Giraldin's desk, was one in which a person might become overbalanced and fall back suddenly.

Four revolvers had been kept recently on desks in the office, at 813 Chestnut street, for protection of an exceptional amount of cash collections, the son said. He testified his father had been in the habit of examining the firearms and had been warned to be careful.

The son told the Coroner he had talked to his father a few minutes before he heard the shot and had promised to report later on a business matter they had discussed. His father died of a wound of the left side, below the heart. Hennessey corroborated the son's testimony that Giraldin had seemed in a normal state of mind yesterday.

Giraldin, who was 68 years old and had been in the real estate business for 50 years, was appointed to the Police Board in 1917 and served through Gov. Gardner's administration. He resided at the Oxford Apartments, 5290 Waterman avenue, which he owned through a holding company, along with other valuable property. He was three times president of the Real Estate Exchange, once during the World's Fair year, 1904.

His widow, Mrs. Alice Mersman Giraldin; his sons, Earl and William A. Giraldin Jr. of Los Angeles, and a daughter, Mrs. Carlyle A. Linn, survive.

The funeral will be held from Mrs. Linn's residence, 661 West Polo drive, Clayton, to St. Louis Cathedral Friday morning. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

65 ON BURNING RUSSIAN STEAMER LANDED ON ICE

Unknown Whether They Made Way to Safety After Fire Off Sakhalin Island.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Jan. 18.—A dispatch from Khabarovsk, Siberia, dated Jan. 16, said passengers on the combined freight and passenger steamer Sakhalin, which was reported afire last week, had been landed on the ice but that information was lacking as to whether they had been able to make their way to safety.

The fire broke out from an undetermined cause the morning of Jan. 12 when the Sakhlin, carrying a mixed cargo of oats and other materials from Vladivostok to Sakhalin Island, was 60 miles off the eastern shore of the island. After reporting that the fire had attacked the superstructure of the boat but had not yet reached the holds, the Sakhalin's radio was silenced the afternoon of Jan. 12 and apparently no further direct word has been received from the vessel.

The steamer Smolensk, which was nearby, went to the ship's assistance and reported that the passengers, numbering 65, had been landed on the ice. An ice breaker left Vladivostok Jan. 13 to assist the steamer. The Sakhlin's crew numbered 41.

When children won't eat—
and won't gain weight—

Try This!

The youngster who has no appetite, probably has stasis. A little syrup of figs will soon correct this condition—then watch the child eat—and gain!

Mothers should never coax a child to eat. Nature knows best. Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite—get rid of stasis. Children who don't eat are sluggish. Read what the "California treatment" is doing for sluggish, listless children in every part of the country!

A Pound a Week

Your child will eat well from the day and hour you conquer sluggishness. But that girl or boy with furry tongue and a bad breath should not be dosed with salts!

Begin tonight, with enough pure syrup of figs to cleanse the colon thoroughly. Less tomorrow, then every other day, or twice a week, until the appetite, digestion, weight, complexion, tell you the stasis is gone. When a cold or other ailment has again congested the system, syrup of figs will soon set things to right.

When appetite fails, tongue is coated white, eyes are a bilious yellow, California syrup of figs will gently stimulate the colon muscles—and the child you used to coax to eat will fairly devour his food.

Just One IF—The claims made for California Syrup of Figs are true and it will do the same for you—IF you get genuine CALIFORNIA Syrup of Figs. Don't accept any substitute.

U. S. ASKS, JAPAN PROMISES INQUIRY INTO MOB ATTACK

Ambassador Grew Calls on Foreign Minister After Wrecking of Singer Branch in Yokohama.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Jan. 18.—United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew called on Foreign Minister Uchida today and asked for an immediate investigation of the mob attack on the Singer Sewing Machine Co. branch at Yokohama. He also asked for adequate police protection for American lives and property in the future.

Ambassador Grew laid the facts of the raid, as the Embassy had learned them, before the Foreign Minister. The Foreign Minister promised an immediate investigation and also the protection which the Ambassador had asked for.

Grew pointed out that the United States Embassy had directed attention of Japanese authorities to the Singer labor troubles once before and at that time had asked for precautionary measures against violence.

Police held 138 Japanese for participation in the mid-day raid on the sewing machine establishment in which all movable property and valuable records were destroyed. The mob was composed of nearly 200 disgruntled employes.

Richard McCleary, representative of the Singer company, in Japan in connection with its labor difficulties, said the loss was "likely to reach several hundred thousand yen." (The yen is worth about 20 cents.)

The greatest part of the loss was valuable records of instalment sale contracts and other documents which the rioters tore to bits and scattered over the place.

Three of the Singer company's loyal Japanese employes and four Japanese guards were seriously injured.

No Americans or other foreign employes of the concern were hurt.

McCleary charged that police protection had been inadequate.

"I am unable to understand how nearly 200 men were able to assemble and raid the premises in the heart of Yokohama without police being able to halt them," he said.

Other Singer employes said they had reason to believe the police had knowledge that the mob attack might be made.

The Singer company is an American concern, although McCleary is a Canadian and E. F. Walker, the manager for Japan, is British. Most of the non-Japanese employes are Americans.

W. L. Malone of the Singer staff said the mob attack climaxed half a year's bitter labor dispute. He declared that between 150 and 200 former Singer employes, mostly transported in motor cars, rushed the two-story Singer office building during the lunch hour. Most of the attackers, he said, had heavy clubs from a motorcar-load of cordwood dumped in front of the building at the outset of the attack.

The rioters swept through the building, smashing furniture and demolishing typewriters and other machines. Safes were damaged, documents torn and scattered and doors and windows smashed.

Comparatively few persons were injured because only a few employes were in the building at the time. Most of these sought refuge on the roof.

The rioters carried on their wrecking operations nearly 20 minutes before police arrived. Bloodstains on the floors of desks testified to the violence.

STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping pain or disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c. 30c, 60c.

He Is One Seeking Decree This Time After Their Remarriage Last Nov. 11.

Clement W. Nelson, 25 years old, a lumber salesman, filed suit yesterday to divorce Mrs. Marjorie Jean Priest Nelson, 23, whom he remarried last Nov. 11 after she had divorced him last March.

Charging general indignities, he said she left him a month after their second marriage, telling him she no longer loved him and preferred never to see him again. He asked custody of their two-year-old daughter, Marjorie Ann.

Their first marriage took place in 1929, when he was 21 years old and she was 19. She was the former wife of John T. Williams IV, to whom she was secretly married in 1926 when he was a student at Princeton University. She has a son by the marriage to Williams, from whom she was divorced.

Nelson and his wife both filed divorce petitions last February. He subsequently withdrew his petition, permitting her to obtain a decree on ground of general indignities. Shortly before she obtained the divorce last March, Nelson shot and wounded himself in the left shoulder in his apartment at 5355 Pershing avenue following a quarrel with her.

Nelson is the son of the late Clement W. Nelson, former vice-president of the Frost Lumber Industries, Inc. Mrs. Nelson's father is W. Blodgett Priest, an attorney. Her mother is Mrs. Marjorie Priest Thaw of Pittsburgh, Pa., wife of Col. William Thaw II, wartime ace of the Lafayette Escadrille.

DOCTOR INDICTED FOR DEATH AFTER AN ILLEGAL OPERATION

Dr. T. J. Kemp, Accused of Manslaughter, Denies Charge and Gives $5000 Bail.

Dr. Thomas J. Kemp, 55 years old, 3760 Lindell boulevard, was indicted yesterday on a charge of manslaughter in the death last Nov. 15 of Mrs. Rose Montgomery, 31, 1412A Montgomery street, following an illegal operation.

Dr. Kemp, who denied the charge, gave $5000 bail bond last night at the American Hospital, where he is being treated for a nervous disorder.

A Coroner's verdict of Nov. 16 was that Mrs. Montgomery died at American Hospital of blood poisoning following an illegal operation performed by a person not known. Her husband, Robert Montgomery, a chauffeur, testified he had been unable to obtain any information from his wife about the operation, which he said was performed without his knowledge. He came home and found her ill, he said, and subsequently a doctor ordered her to the hospital. At the hospital, he said, he was informed that two doctors were on the case.

NORMAN THOMAS TO SPEAK AT SPRINGFIELD, ILL., JAN. 21-22

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 18.—Drawn to Springfield by the Socialist convention which will meet here Saturday and Sunday, Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President in the last election, will deliver three addresses, one for the Socialists, one for the Mid-Day Luncheon Club, and another for the geenral public at the Springfield High School auditorium.

Eighty-two branches of the Socialist party in 26 Illinois counties will send official delegates here. Beside them there will be representatives of members-at-large from 35 other counties.

Thomas will address the convention Saturday morning and at noon will address the Mid-Day Luncheon Club, on "The Coal Problem and Civil Liberty." At 8 p. m. he will address a general meeting in the auditorium of the Springfield High School.

U. S. JUDGE DENIES HE PROFITED BY NAMING RECEIVER

Harold Lauterback, California, Tells House Committee He Refused Relatives' Requests.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Federal Judge Harold Louderback denied emphatically in testimony before the House Judiciary Committee made public today, that he ever benefited financially through any receivership appointment he had made. Louderback is Judge of the District Court of Northern California.

The Judge, who was before the committee four hours Monday and Tuesday in closed session, was asked the direct question by Representative Kurtz (Rep.), Pennsylvania: "Did you ever profit financially from any of these appointments in any way?" "I certainly did not," Louderback replied. "never in any instance have I profited."

"Neither directly or indirectly?" "Directly or indirectly. . . . Unless you might mention that some one gave me their friendship, I presume; because I have enjoyed it; but I presumed you mean did any difinite advantage come to me directly or indirectly?"

"I mean any peculiary advantage," Kurtz said. "My answer is, none whatever," Louderback answered.

Louderback's official conduct has been under investigation by direction of a resolution sponsored by La Guardia (Rep.), New York. The Judge had requested the opportunity to appear and testify. The committee has not yet acted on the case.

At another point in his testimony, Louderback said: "Never at any time has anyone said what I was supposed to have done which would warrant my being investigated." He said he had handled about 19 receiverships.

"I have not appointed my closest friends to any office," he continued. "I have had close friends, even relations, who have asked me if I would not appoint them to receiverships and I never would appoint them. . . . I have never had anybody who was attacked for having given a discreditable administration—either from the standpoint of honesty or efficiency—even though the efficiency might have been contributed by the subordinates whom he employed."

Dyer (Rep.), Missouri, asked if there were any complaints that estates have suffered. "I do not know of an instance and I am satisfied that your record does not disclose an instance," Louderback replied. "The only criticism that I have had in my service was that the fees should be less than those I gave. But there was always a proper showing to entitle me to pass upon the fees that I have allowed."

Judge Louderback called on President Hoover today to pay his respects.

NEW WAY PROPOSED IN BILL TO REGULATE LEGAL PRACTICE

All Attorneys Woud Be Members of State Bar of Missouri; Subject to Discipline.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 18.—A bill providing for creation of the State Bar of Missouri and limiting legal practice in the State to members of the organization was introduced in the House of Representatives here today.

The measure would give association officers the power to subpena witnesses and demand the production of books or records pertinent to any inquiry into the alleged misconduct of a member. Persons refusing to testify would be liable to a fine of $500, whether they were members of the association or not and each refusal would constitute a separate offense.

The association would be empowered to "formulate and enforce rules of conduct for all members of the bar," and any breach would be punishable "by reproval, reprimand or suspension from practice."

In limiting the practice of law to members of State bar, the bill provides for three types of membership, active, inactive and honorary. Honorary members would be judges.

SUSPECTED COUNTERFEITER TURNED OVER TO U. S. AGENTS

Molds Found in Room of Man Who Tried to Pass Half Dollars.

A man said by police to be Alex Gibson, 60 years old, was turned over to Federal officers last night on a charge of passing counterfeit half dollars.

The arrest was made on complaint of Charles Lipsutz, proprietor of a dry goods store at 1245 South Broadway, where the man tendered two counterfeit coins in payment for a shirt and a pair of socks. Lipsutz reported that the customer attempted to flee when a clerk telephoned police, but was detained.

In the prisoner's room at 1104 South Eighth street officers found material and molds for making coins. He was identified by Jacob Fine, owner of a fish market at 1310 South Broadway, as the man who made a purchase with a counterfeit 50-cent piece several days ago.

FEDERAL AID FOR COLLEGES PROPOSED IN HOUSE BILL

Maas Offers Measure Providing R. F. C. Loans for Self-Liquidating Projects.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. — Government financial aid for colleges and universities was proposed today by Representative Maas (Rep.), Minnesota. He offered a bill which would authorize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make loans to aid in financing "dormitories and other self-liquidating projects."

Maas said the colleges and universities throughout the country have done an enormous amount of good in easing the unemployment situation through granting of student aid, student jobs and student loans.

"While the sums granted and expended by some of the colleges may not be large," he said, "this has done a good far beyond the amount actually involved. It is obvious, at the present time, that private colleges of the country cannot continue this activity even on a reduced scale for the coming year."

MISSOURI BANKING BILLS

One Would Restrict Information About Failures Over Radio.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 18.—Broadcasting by radio of any information or comment concerning a bank failure, other than a mere announcement that a particular bank had closed, would be prohibited under provisions of a bill introduced in the House today by Representative A. L. McCawley of Jasper County.

Another bill offered by McCawley would authorize banks under supervision of the State Finance Department to suspend payment of checks, when confronted with any unusual withdrawal of deposits and to continue operation for 30 days thereafter, without closing, under direct control of the State Finance Commissioner.

Gets National Guard Commission.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 18.—Clinton Virgil Hill of Kansas City has been commission by Gov. Park as Lieutenant-Colonel of the chemical warfare section of the Thirty-fifth Division, Missouri National Guard.

CONGRESS TO PASS ON TAX REFUNDS ABOVE $20,000

Compromise on McKellar and Treasury Proposals Is Added to the First Deficiency Bill.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. — A reform in the Government's manner of refunding illegally collected taxes, giving a joint congressional committee authority to pass on those more than $20,000, was adopted by Congress yesterday.

Shortly after the proposal—suggested by the Treasury—was approved, 224 to 143, in the House, it was accepted by the Senate as an amendment to the conference report on the $31,756,000 first deficiency bill which was passed and sent to the President.

It is a substitute for an amendment by Senator McKellar (Dem.), Tennessee, which would have reduced from $75,000 to $5000 the minimum amount of refunds to be reviewed by the Joint Congressional Internal Revenue Taxation Committee.

Power of Rejection.

Under it, this committee will have the power to approve or reject any proposed tax refunds of more than $20,000 before the Treasury grants them. Existing law authorizes the committee merely to make recommendation on refunds, credits and abatements allowed by the Treasury.

It was sponsored in the House by Representative Byrns (Dem.), Tennessee, and the Democratic leadership, and was opposed strongly by Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader. On the final vote, however, some Western Republicans joined the Democrats for its adoption.

The deficiency bill carries $28,000,000 for tax refunds already authorized.

Before the House began consideration of the tax refund amendment, Speaker Garner told newspaper men that under Republican administration there had been "too much liberality" in granting refunds, abatements and credits by the Treasury to corporations on the excess profit taxes.

"Hundreds of millions of dollars would have been retained in the Treasury," Garner said, "if the provision had been adopted 10 years ago."

Representative Chindblom (Rep.), Illinois, charged the Byrns proposal was usurpation of executive power, and Representative Treadway (Rep.), Massachusetts, asserted that "it is a question of the readjustment between the states and the Federal Government that involves most of this money."

Desire for More Scrutiny.

"There is a feeling in this country," Byrns said, "which I think is justified, that there ought to be a little more scrutiny given tax refunds."

Representative Wood (Rep.), Indiana, asserted "it sets up a new and independent department of Internal Revenue" and added "it should be studied by the Ways and Means Committee before the present policy is changed."

A charge that many contributors to the Republican campaign funds of 1928 and 1932 had received "millions in refunds" from the Treasury was made by Representative O'Connor (Dem.), New York. He said that Andrew W. Mellon, former Secretary of the Treasury and now Ambassador to England, and his family had received large refunds and abatements, and had made large contributions to the Republican organization.

LIMITED NUMBER OF PLACES OPEN IN NAVAL AIR SERVICE

Applications May Be Made Here by College Graduates to Become Reserve Flyers.

Application by college graduates for training as naval aviators may be made with Lieut. Frank E. Weld at the Naval Reserve Aviation Base at the Municipal Airport.

A limited number of applicants capable of passing the required physical examination will be sent to the Great Lakes Training Station near Chicago next June. The students spend 30 days at Great Lakes and then are sent to the Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla., for a complete course of instruction lasting eight months. On completion of the course the students are commissioned as ensigns in the Naval Reserve and may receive orders for a year's active duty with the aircraft squadrons of the battle fleet.

Students receive clothing, board, transportation and $54 a month salary. As flying ensigns during the year of active service the pay is $235 a month. Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 27 years, be unmarried and have a certificate of graduation from college. Men less than 66 inches tall and weighing less than 132 pounds can not qualify. The physical examination will be held here next month.

Schools Keep Open on Saturdays.

CAIRO, W. Va., Jan. 18.—Children in this neighborhood have to go to school on Saturdays. There is a shortage of funds in Grant District, so, for several weeks, school will "keep" on Saturdays. The teachers will work one day a week without pay and the last month of school in the spring will be dispensed with.

Income Tax Deductions Allowed to Individuals

Many New Levies Imposed Last Year Cannot Be Subtracted — Expert Lists Allowances.

The income tax division in the Federal Building, preparing for the annual rush to file returns, is expecting this year a rush also to make all possible deductions.

Many of the new taxes imposed last year are not, however, deductible from individual returns, a division expert said today. These include the Federal nuisance taxes on candy and chewing gum, soft drinks, jewelry, firearms, automobiles and radios, lubricating oil, wort, malt syrup and grape concentrates. Neither is the cigarette tax of 6 cents a package deductible from the smoker's income.

Despite the fact that all of them are passed on, in practice, to the consumer, they are manufacturers' taxes, paid by the manufacturer or importer, and deductible from his income.

City Gasoline Tax Barred.

The Missouri gasoline tax of 2 cents a gallon—though not the city gasoline tax—is deductable from income for Federal taxes. So are the 3 per cent Federal tax on electricity, in which the power distributor acts only as a collecting agency; the 10 per cent Federal amusement tax, the 2-cent Federal tax on checks, the 10 per cent Federal tax on rental of safe deposit boxes and the Federal tax on telephone and telegraph tolls.

Individuals also may deduct State income, real estate and personal taxes, bad debts, interest on indebtedness, stamp taxes on stocks, bonds, conveyances and so on, and donations to organized charities—but not the unrecorded donations of a dime to a dollar, or much more made directly to persons in need.

Concerning Charity.

If, a Deputy Collector explained, a barefoot laborer had walked into the office and the reporter had given him $3 for shoes, that $3 would not have been deductible from income. But, if a Salvation Army member were handy, so that the reported could give the $3 to the orginaztion, and have it provide the shoes—the gift would be deductible from income.

All license taxes may be deducted—State and city automobile license fees, business, marriage, dog or fishing.

And now, how to show these deductions to the satisfaction of the Collector? Receipts or other documentary proof are available on most of them, but what tax-payer obtains a receipt at the box office when he buys tickets to the Follies?

Proof May Be Demanded.

The tax-payer must be prepared, if called upon, to support his accounting with some documentary evidence, although this does not mean full documentary proof where the deduction is reasonable and such documents are not commonly available. Some persons, for example, do save theater seat checks. While comparatively few could produce gasoline receipts, filling station or other records of mileage and a careful computation of gasoline consumption might support a deduction for State gasoline tax.

Stae income returns follow generally the Federal form, and a verified copy of the Federal return must be filed with the State. But Federal deputy collectors were emphatic in making clear that they could not verify a copy for the State, as hundreds of taxpayers requested them to do last year.

The taxpayer must make his own copy on the pink form provided by the State. It is verified by the State Collector.

Deductions are, of course, not all the same for Federal and State returns. Federal but not State income taxes, real estate and personal taxes are deductible from State returns. Automobile licenses and the Federal gasoline tax of 1 cent a gallon may be substracted where the automobile is used for business purposes.

BARS WESTMINSTER PLACE HOME AS ROOMING HOUSE

Court Enjoins Mrs. Marie Schuster, Under Restrictions Placed in 1891.

An injunction was issued by Circuit Judge Hall yesterday against Mrs. Marie J. Schuster, restraining her from using her home at 4487 Westminster place as a rooming house. The premises are owned by her sister, Mrs. Deda Parker.

The suit was brought by Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Mitchell, 4379 Westminster place, who alleged that use of the premises as a rooming house was in violation of restrictions placed in 1891.

Passenger Club Officers.

The St. Louis Passenger Club, an organization of railroad passenger traffic men, held its annual election at the Mark Twain Hotel Monday night. Officers chosen were: C. R. Throckmorton, Northern Pacific, president; T. R. Mappes, Pennsylvania Railroad, first vice-president; W. N. McKendry, Canadian Pacific, second vice president; Owen M. Lee, Missouri-Kansas-Texas, third vice president; G. R. Cole, Burlington, secretary; C. A. Bruns, Missouri Pacific, treasurer.

COTTON FABRIC AND SUGAR AS BUILDING MATERIALS

Possibilities of Their Use Emphasized at Detroit Construction Congress.

DETROIT, Jan. 18.—A house built largely of cotton fabric is on display here at the Highway and Building Congress. The exterior walls, the roof, and interior walls and partitions are surfaced with cotton fabric, with wooden framework and light-weight sheathing.

Dr. Gerald F. Cox of the Mellon Institution of Industrial Research, Pittsburgh, said sugar formed a soluble compound with hydrated lime, a compound more active than the ordinary slightly soluble slaked lime. The addition of sugar, Dr. Cox said, would increase the strength of lime-mortar used in construction by 60 per cent.

ILLUSION:
One of Houdini's most spectacular escape feats was performed with a huge milk can filled with water. He invited persons of the audience to bring padlocks and lock him into the can. He got into the can, the lid was put on and fastened with several padlocks. A screen was placed in front of the can. Assistants stood by with stop watches and fire axes to save him from drowning after a certain time. About a minute later, the screen was removed, Houdini was seen panting and dripping . . . the padlocks remaining intact!

EXPLANATION:
The usual method of escaping from a milk can is as follows: The lid of the can is apparently securely padlocked to the lower portion, but actually the metal band to which the staples are attached is the top of a short inner lining. The performer, after being locked into the can, pushes the lid upward with his head and the short inner lining is forced out of place, permitting his escape. The screen is then removed.

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED ...IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

What exciting magic there is in cigarette advertising! Let's look at one of its greatest illusions...that cigarettes can be mysteriously given superior "FLAVOR."

THE EXPLANATION: Just three factors control the flavor of a cigarette. The addition of artificial flavoring...the blending of various tobaccos...and the quality of the tobaccos themselves. Quality is the most important. Artificial flavoring can never wholly disguise the poor flavor of cheap tobaccos. The blending of several cheap, raw tobaccos cannot improve the flavor of any of them. A fine cigarette is a cigarette blended from costly, ripe tobaccos.

☛ It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

This is why the Camel flavor has never been rivaled...why Camels have given more pleasure to more people than any other cigarette ever made.

In more costly tobaccos lies the secret of Camels' delicate "bouquet"...of their rich, cool flavor—of their non-irritating mildness.

It's the tobacco that counts.

All the natural goodness of Camel's tobacco is kept fresh and rich for you by the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack. Don't remove it. Its moisture-proof cellophane also protects your Camels from dust and germs. Put a pack in your pocket today.

ANNOUNCES AN IMPROVED LINE OF SIX-CYLINDER TRUCKS SELLING AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES

Again the leader leads the way to economical transportation! Chevrolet announces a greatly improved line of six-cylinder trucks, featuring a new engine—a new rear axle—a new frame—many progressive changes in design and construction—and selling at greatly reduced prices that only the world's largest builder of cars and trucks could achieve!

These reductions apply on every one of the 28 body-types and place Chevrolet trucks in the most attractive price-position in their history. The 1½-ton 157-inch stake truck now sells for $70 less than last year. The 1½-ton Panel for $40 less. The Sedan Delivery for $30 less. Compare these prices, then compare what you get for these prices—and you won't be satisfied to accept any other low-priced truck but a Chevrolet for 1933.

All 1½-ton models are now powered by a remarkable new Special Truck Engine, with six cylinders. No more, no less. This is basically the same reliable power plant of last year—but Chevrolet has made it even smoother, more powerful, and more economical by the addition of 33 new improvements and refinements, such as: A crankshaft 20 per cent heavier than before. Larger, stronger connecting rods. Sturdier camshaft bearings. Improved lubrication. A new "Octane Selector." And many other new assurances of better performance, longer life, and lower running cost.

Chevrolet has also introduced an entirely new type of rear axle. It's bigger. It's more rugged. And it's capable of handling heavier loads. All because Chevrolet has given it the outstanding mechanical advantages of a four-pinion differential and a straddle-mounted pinion with bearing support on both sides. Furthermore, every important axle part has been increased in weight and strength.

In addition, the Chevrolet 131-inch truck now has a much stronger frame, with deeper, heavier side members. The 1½-ton models have a sturdier universal joint, as well as larger brakes, improved springs, and a new 15-gallon fuel tank. And every Chevrolet truck now presents a smarter, more impressive appearance: New radiator. New headlamps. New fenders. And, on many models, new body lines.

Nothing that Chevrolet has ever done before in trucks can equal the importance of this announcement: *A stronger, more powerful, more durable six-cylinder line. Even more economical than last year. And selling at prices as low as $440. That's value. That's leadership. That's news which no buyer of a low-priced truck can afford to disregard.

This is Chevrolet Truck Demonstration Week. And special arrangements have been made to give all truck-users a road demonstration of the improved Chevrolet six-cylinder truck. Take advantage of this opportunity to see and try the world's most economical haulage unit.

bjections by Those Who Have Demanded Immediate Independence—Other Provisions of Act Passed Over Veto.

y the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The uestion of independence now is ne for the 13,000,000 people of the hilippine Islands to decide, and, espite some expressed opposition, here are indications that the 10-ear transitional period will be aken by Filipino leaders as the est possible terms now obtainable nd that the insular Legislature ill accept the independence bill nacted yesterday by Congress.

Members of the Filipino mission ere, composed of leaders of the sland legislative body, said, after he Senate had voted, 66 to 26, to verride President Hoover's veto: The full realization of the significance of this action will bring joy nd happiness to the hearts of the ilipino people."

Objections from Manila have manated from a faction that ants immediate and unrestricted reedom. President Manuel Queon of the insular Senate has sent ord that he will come to Washingon to satisfy himself that all has een done to obtain the best posible bill. After that he will decide hat attitude he and his followers ill take toward the 10-year meaure.

Must Accept Within a Year.

Under the terms of the measure, he island Legislature must accept t within one year and then fix a ate for the election of delegates o a convention for the purpose of rafting a Constitution.

The Constitution must be acceptble to the President of the United tates and also must be approved t a special island election—this ote to be the test of whether the ilipinos want freedom.

The law is a compromise between hose who wanted a longer transiion period with an island plebiscite on independence at its termiation and those who urged a shorter period of readjustment and irevocable freedom.

While immigration from the slands to the United States would e restricted to a quota of 50 annually, after the 10-year transition Asiatic exclusion would apply, barring entry to all persons not eligile to citizenship.

Imports into the United States f sugar, coconut oil and cordage, ree of duty, would be limited annually during the 10 years—sugar o 850,000 tons, including 800,000 ons of raw and 50,000 tons of refined; coconut oil to 200,000 tons, nd hemp products to 3,000,000 ounds. These are virtually the resent figures covering such imorts.

Beginning with the sixth year, the slands would be permitted to levy xport taxes amounting to 5 per ent of the American tariff in that ear, 10 per cent the seventh, and o on until the taxes reach 25 per ent in the tenth year.

Full Duties After 10 Years.

Full duties would apply against Philippine goods after the 10-year period, although a conference between the United States and the islands is provided in the last year at which some reciprocal trade agreement similar to Cuban-American commercial relations might be orked out.

The United States would be represented in the islands by a high commissioner during the transition instead of by a Governor-General, as at present.

The islands would have one resident commissioner here instead of two as at present, with the right to sit and debate in the House, but without voting privilege.

The United States retains the right to maintain whatever military and naval reservations in the islands it may deem fit to hold after complete independence, the lands to be designated by the President within two years after American withdrawal. The President is directed to negotiate treaties with foreign Governments looking to the "perpetual neutralization" of the new Government.

FREEDOM NOW UP TO ACCEPTANCE BY FILIPINOS

Island Legislature Must Decide Within Year on Grant Voted by U. S. Congress and Prepare for Drafting Constitution.

INDICATIONS STAND WILL BE FAVORABLE

Objections by Those Who Have Demanded Immediate Independence—Other Provisions of Act Passed Over Veto.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The question of independence now is one for the 13,000,000 people of the Philippine Islands to decide, and, despite some expressed opposition, there are indications that the 10-year transitional period will be taken by Filipino leaders as the best possible terms now obtainable and that the insular Legislature will accept the independence bill enacted yesterday by Congress.

Members of the Filipino mission here, composed of leaders of the island legislative body, said, after the Senate had voted, 66 to 26, to override President Hoover's veto: "The full realization of the significance of this action will bring joy and happiness to the hearts of the Filipino people."

Objections from Manila have emanated from a faction that wants immediate and unrestricted freedom. President Manuel Quezon of the insular Senate has sent word that he will come to Washington to satisfy himself that all has been done to obtain the best possible bill. After that he will decide what attitude he and his followers will take toward the 10-year measure.

Must Accept Within a Year.

Under the terms of the measure, the island Legislature must accept it within one year and then fix a date for the election of delegates to a convention for the purpose of drafting a Constitution.

The Constitution must be acceptable to the President of the United States and also must be approved at a special island election—this vote to be the test of whether the Filipinos want freedom.

The law is a compromise between those who wanted a longer transition period with an island plebiscite on independence at its termination and those who urged a shorter period of readjustment and irrevocable freedom.

While immigration from the islands to the United States would be restricted to a quota of 50 annually, after the 10-year transition Asiatic exclusion would apply, barring entry to all persons not eligible to citizenship.

Imports into the United States of sugar, coconut oil and cordage, free of duty, would be limited annually during the 10 years—sugar to 850,000 tons, including 800,000 tons of raw and 50,000 tons of refined; coconut oil to 200,000 tons, and hemp products to 3,000,000 pounds. These are virtually the present figures covering such imports.

Beginning with the sixth year, the islands would be permitted to levy export taxes amounting to 5 per cent of the American tariff in that year, 10 per cent the seventh, and so on until the taxes reach 25 per cent in the tenth year.

Full Duties After 10 Years.

Full duties would apply against Philippine goods after the 10-year period, although a conference between the United States and the islands is provided in the last year at which some reciprocal trade agreement similar to Cuban-American commercial relations might be worked out.

The United States would be represented in the islands by a high commissioner during the transition instead of by a Governor-General, as at present.

The islands would have one resident commissioner here instead of two as at present, with the right to sit and debate in the House, but without voting privilege.

The United States retains the right to maintain whatever military and naval reservations in the islands it may deem fit to hold after complete independence, the lands to be designated by the President within two years after American withdrawal. The President is directed to negotiate treaties with foreign Governments looking to the "perpetual neutralization" of the new Government.

From Island Objectors.

Members of the Filipino Mission received a cablegram from a caucus of about half the members of the island House objecting to the independence measure, although Manila dispatches said many of those who attended did not participate in voting to send the message.

The resident commissioners, Pedro Guevara and Camilo Osias, and members of the independence mission, were surrounded in the corridors by their countrymen yesterday, after the independence victory amid a hubub of congratulations. The mission members went immediately to the office of Senator Hawes (Dem.), Missouri, coauthor with Senator Cutting (Rep.) New Mexico, and Representative Hare (Dem.), South Carolina, of the act.

"This is a great day for us and our country," said Speaker Manuel Roxas of the insular House. With acting President Sergio Osmena of the Philippine Senate, Roxas is joint leader of the mission. Osmena thanked Hawes for his aid.

Gratitude to America.

A joint statement issued by the Philippine commission and the two resident commissioners in part reads:

"On behalf of our nation we desire to express our deep gratitude to the Government and people of the United States for this act unprecedented in the history of dependent peoples. No nation heretofore has been able to win its independence in the manner it will come to the Philippines under this law, through the orderly processes of self-government and peace. It speaks very highly of the sense of justice and love of freedom of the American people. It proves to the world the unselfishness of America and brings new hope to mankind. We face the future with abiding faith in liberty and independence, and our most earnest desire is to be worthy of America."

PERPETUAL JOBLESS ARMY OR SHORTER WORKING DAY ALTERNATIVES, GREEN SAYS

A. F. L. Head Tells House Committee Present Rate of Pay Should Continue With Reduced Hours.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, told the House Labor Committee today the United States faced a choice between a shorter working day and week "or maintaining a large and perpetual army of unemployed."

He indorsed Chairman Connery's bill to enforce the five-day week and six-hour day by prohibiting the shipment in interstate and foreign commerce of commodities otherwise produced.

"More than 11,000,000 men and women are out of work and many millions more are working part time," he said. "In my opinion 50 per cent of the entire population is very seriously affected.

"Each day adds to the seriousness of the situation. Each day makes it worse, because more savings are dissipated and more people become dependent on charity.

Lists Idle in Trades.

"In the building trades alone, 69 per cent are totally idle, 12 to 13 per cent are working part time only. So only about 18 per cent are employed approximately steadily.

"This goes along in varying degrees in all industry. The economic situation of course contributes, but back of it all is the mechanization of industry. Even if we could suddenly restore the 1929 peak, it is estimated only 55 per cent of those entitled to work would obtain employment.

"Even if we introduce the five-day week and six-hour day there still will be some unemployed. We must make these adjustments. If we don't we must reconcile ourselves to living in a country with a constant standing army of 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 unemployed.

"Relief Breaking Down."

"Relief machinery is breaking down. We can't keep people permanently on a charity basis and even if we could it is socially wrong and morally indefensible."

Although Green was not prepared to discuss the constitutionality of the proposed bill, he said: "There has been some change in the judicial attitude of the Supreme Court toward social and labor problems since the child labor opinion and labor believes it now would take a broader and more liberal attitude. Therefore, we have reasonable grounds for hope it would be held constitutional."

Green said his organization wanted the same "rate of pay" maintained under the shorter working time.

A statement that John Weinstock—who had said he represented a wing of the Federation in opposing the 30-hour week—was not a member of the organization, was made by Green. He told the House Labor Committee that "Weinstock is known as an avowed Communist; to say that he is connected with the Federation is an untruth."

Weinstock, styling himself as head of the A. F. of L. Trade Union Committee for Unemployment Insurance and relief, had recently attacked Green vigorously before a Senate committee and had condemned the 30-hour week plan.

In the meantime, at continuing sessions of the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on this subject today, Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives, challenged constitutionality of the measure, which would set up the shortened work week as a condition to entry of manufactures in interstate commerce.

Questioned by Senator Black (Dem.), Alabama, Thom said he felt the court would be compelled to hold the bill unconstitutional even if it wass hown that shorter work hours were necessary for preservation of civilization and the Government itself. He said if relief of that kind was needed it should be sought in State Legislatures.

GLASS WON'T ENTER CABINET IF HE HAS TO GET LONG'S OK

Says All King's Horses and King's Men Couldn't Force Him to Such Terms.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. — During discussion of his bank bill yesterday, Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, referred to the fact that he was once Secretary of the Treasury.

"The newspapers have been told by one of the Senators," Glass said, referring to Long (Dem.), Louisiana, "that I am not to be permitted to hold that place again, that I would have to get his permission.

"If I had to do that, all the King's horses and all the King's men could never induce me to accept the distinction."

LEAGUE TO TRY ONCE MORE TO SETTLE FAR EAST DISPUTE

Committee of Nineteen to Work Regardless of Japanese Opposition.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Jan. 18.—The League of Nations Conciliation Committee of Nineteen decided today to make another effort at conciliating the Chinese-Japanese dispute before advancing to procedure regardless of Japanese opposition.

I.C.C. ORDERS POWER REVERSE GEARS ON ALL LOCOMOTIVES

Acts on Complaint of Engineers' Brotherhood Which Says Hand Devices Cause Accidents.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Acting on complaint of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered railroads to equip locomotives with power reverse gears not later than Jan. 1, 1937.

The brotherhood complained that about half of the locomotives were equipped only with hand gears and that these had caused many serious accidents to the men handling them.

The railroads opposed the complaint because of the expense and said the commission's rules could be changed only on application of the carriers. The order affects about 31,500 locomotives.

ROYAL ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY VOTES MEDAL TO AMERICAN

Honors Dr. Vesto M. Slipher, Who Gained Fame From "Planet X."

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The Royal Astronomical Society's gold medal will be awarded this year to Dr. Vesto M. Slipher, director of Lowell Observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz. He will receive the award for his spectroscopic researches on planets, stars and nebulae. He will be invited to deliver the George Darwin lecture of 1933.

Discovery at Flagstaff of a body in the solar system designated as "Planet X" brought world-wide attention to Dr. Slipher in March, 1930. C. W. Tombaugh of Dr. Slipher's staff was credited with making the actual observation of the planet, which was later given the name Pluto.

KING BORIS' PLEDGE TO POPE

Vatican Organ Prints Promise to Rear Children as Catholics.

By the Associated Press.

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 18. — The Osservatore Romano, official Vatican City newspaper, today published a document signed by King Boris and Queen Joanna of Bulgaria which asks for the Pope's dispensation for a Catholic marriage and promising that all children of both sexes will be baptised and reared as Catholics. The newspaper also published a document granting dispensation on this condition.

King Boris of Bulgaria is a member of the Orthodox or Eastern Church. Queen Joanna, the daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena of Italy, was reared a Catholic. Earlier this week reports from Vatican City were that the Pope was framing a protest to King Boris concerning the Orthodox baptism of the new-born Princess Marie Louise of Bulgaria. The Princess, who was born last week, was baptised last Sunday in the Palace at Sofia.

RAILROADS IN U. S. BORROWED $656,000,000 LAST YEAR

R. F. C. Loans of $261,666,197 Listed in Reports to Commerce Commission.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The nation's railroads borrowed $656,000,000 in 1932 to meet their obligations, pledging more than $1,000,000,000 of their bonds as security.

A summary of reports to the Interstate Commerce Commission showed today the borrowings were obtained from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Railroad Credit Corporation and from banks. Private borrowings totaled $357,428,001 and from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation $261,666,197.

During the first 11 months, carriers unable to meet their fixed charges borrowed $37,203,681. The recapitulation showed that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation during the 11 months available had lent nearly $100,000,000 less than the Interstate Commerce Commission had authorized.

CREW OF 24 SAVED WHEN POWDER-LADEN SHIP SINKS

Neptunia Arrives at Naples With News of Rescue Near Oran, Algeria.

By the Associated Press.

NAPLES, Italy, Jan. 18.—The motor ship Neptunia, arriving yesterday from Buenos Aires, brought news of the rescue of 24 officers and men of the powder-laden Italian freighter Koefia, which sank in the Mediterranean near Oran, Algeria, Monday.

The captain of the Neptunia received an S O S message from the Koefia saying she was sinking and that the captain and all members of the crew were taking to lifeboats. The Italian steamer Kavi sent a wireless message to the Koefia from a nearby point saying she was rushing to the aid of the distressed ship, but later the Kavi was advised that everyone on the Koefia had been saved and would be landed at Casa Blanca, Morocco. The Koefia was en route from Follonica, Italy, to Amsterdam.

MANY JAPANESE RADICALS ARE GIRLS OF WEALTHY FAMILIES

Authorities Announce Details of Country-Wide Roundup of 2000 in October.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Jan. 18. — Removing a publication restriction, Japanese authorities announced today the details of a country-wide roundup of 2000 radicals. The arrests occurred late in October, following discovery of widespread Communist activities.

The action followed the arrest of some bank raiders, whose examination disclosed an important secret conference of Communists was to be held shortly. Police, clad in bullet-proof vests, raided the rendezvous and arrested 11 persons after an encounter in which four policemen were wounded. It also was announced today that 7000 radicals in all were arrested in Tokio during last year, most of them educated persons in their early twenties. These included girls, many of whom belonged to wealthy families.

IMPERIAL FLAG IS RAISED IN PRUSSIA, DESPITE PROTEST

Flies Over Diet During Celebration of Anniversary of the Founding of the Reich.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—As the Imperial colors waved over the Prussian Diet today for the first time since the revolution, Hans Kerrl, president of the Diet, in an address commemorating the sixty-second anniversary of the founding of the Reich, praised the Hohenzollerns. He said: "The empire would always have remained a Utopia if the Hohenzollerns had not become the sponsors of the idea of a united Germany."

The Nazi members of the Diet wildly cheered this statement.

MANCHUKUO RULER ESCAPES BOMB; DIPLOMAT INJURED

Explosion at Railway Station in Changchun Jan. 12 Disclosed in Peiping Advices.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 18.—The life of Henry Pu-Yi, former boy Emperor of China, and now Regent of Manchukuo, was endangered by an exploding bomb on Jan. 12. Chinese advices from Pieping disclosed today. The bomb, from which Pu-Yi escaped, seriously injured a Manchukuon diplomat.

According to the report, it was thrown at the railway station in Changchun, capital of Manchukuo, where the Regent and a group of authorities had gathered to welcome the Japanese Ambassador. Chen Hseia-Sien, a diplomat high in the councils of the new State, was seriously injured by the exploding fragments of the bomb. He was standing close to the Regent.

DANISH PREMIER TO VISIT U. S.

Will Discuss Trade Relations With American President.

By the Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 18.—Premier Stauning told the newspaper Extrabladt today that he would visit Washington in the spring to discuss trade between Denmark and the United States with the American President.

Flyer and Plane in Which He Crossed South Atlantic in 14 Hours

JEAN MERMOZ and the "Arc-en-ciel" (Rainbow) plane in which the pilot and six companions crossed from St. Louis, Senegal, to Hatal, Brazil, a distance of 1962 miles. They are the first airmen to eat breakfast in Africa and dinner in South America on the same day.

SAYS COLUMBIA U. HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH TECHNOCRACY

Dr. Butler Explains Space Has Been Given Engineers as Part of Unemployment Relief.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Columbia University, says President Nicholas Murray Butler, "has no more to do with technocracy than it has with the fourth dimension."

The statement was made in a letter from Dr. Butler to Walter L. Clark. In the letter, as quoted by Clark, Dr. Butler said:

"Columbia University as part of unemployment relief gave working space to a group of engineers and architects who had nowhere else to go. Some of these men have been carrying on most interesting and useful inquiries into the facts of technological development, and a very few of them, plus the sensational press, have put upon these facts so far as gathered, interpretations which they do not and cannot bear, but which, because of their more or less sensational character, have attracted the attention of the public."

M'FADDEN AGAIN ATTEMPTS TO HAVE HOOVER IMPEACHED

House Tables Resolution of Pennsylvania Republican by Vote of 342 to 11.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The House for the second time this session yesterday swept aside an effort of Representative McFadden, Republican of Pennsylvania, to impeach President Hoover. The anti-administration Republican picked up three votes from the last test but saw his resolution tabled by an overwhelming majority without his even being permitted to speak for an hour as he intended.

The resolution, declaring Mr. Hoover guilty of "high crimes and misdemeanors," was put down by a roll call vote of 342 to 11. It contained the same charges as were embodied in the original resolution which met the same fate on Dec. 15 by a vote of 361 to 8. It alleged principally misconduct by the chief executive in international diplomacy and war debts.

NEW YORK RAISES RELIEF FUND

Finally Goes $26,000 Over Goal of $15,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. — The Emergency Unemployment Relief Committee announced yesterday that its fund-raising campaign which began last fall had passed its $15,000,000 goal by $26,000. The campaign was to have ended Dec. 20 but was $1,000,000 short at that time and an extension was decided on.

Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, honorary chairman, told committee workers at a luncheon he "would rather see $15,000,000 handled by a committee such as this one than to see a much larger sum imposed upon the taxpayers."

Irish Destroy English Goods.

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 18.—A boycott campaign against English goods entered fresh stages in Dublin yesterday when bands of young men entered public houses, leaped upon counters and smashed bottles of English-made ale. Advertising signs were wrecked.

MERMOZ PLANE OUT OF MUD

Machine Lands in Mire at Rio de Janeiro; Apparently Undamaged.

By the Associated Press.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 18.—The airplane Arc-Enciel (Rainbow) in which Jean Mermoz and six passengers flew here yesterday from Natal, Brazil, was liberated today from the mud in which it became mired on arrival last night. The plane then was put into a hangar. Mermoz is expected to take off tomorrow for Buenos Aires. The plane is thought to be undamaged.

Mermoz, on Monday, crossed the South Atlantic, flying from St. Louis, Senegal, to Natal.

75-ACRE ESTATE TO CHICAGO U.

Mrs. Frances Hutchinson Also Gives Endowment Fund.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—The University of Chicago announces that Mrs. Frances Kinsley Hutchinson has given the university her 75-acre estate, "Wychwood," at Lake Geneva, Wis., along with "a substantial" endowment fund.

The estate, the announcement says, will be used as a field laboratory for the study of botany. A wild animal refuge also will be established. Mrs. Hutchinson is the widow of Charles L. Hutchinson, former banker and president of the Chicago Art Institute.

SAYS STALIN DROVE DAUGHTER TO SUICIDE

Trotzky Declares Revocation of Russian Citizenship Shattered Her Health.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Leon Trotzky, exiled Russian Bolshevik leader, blames Joseph Stalin, Soviet dictator, for the recent suicide here of Trotzky's daughter, Zinaida.

In a letter from exile on the Island of Prinkipo, near Istanbul, to the Central Committee of the Communist party, Trotzky says that Stalin's decree of February, 1932, depriving the Trotzky family of Russian citizenship, shattered his daughter's health.

Zinaida and her son went to Turkey for her health, having first obtained Stalin's permission, the letter said. After great difficulty a German visa was obtained for her and physicians in Berlin restored her health.

"Then," said Trotzky, "she dreamed of returning to Russia with her boy to join her 10-year-old daughter and her husband who, as a Bolshevist Leninist, had been sent into exile by Stalin.

"Then came the terrible news that she had been deprived of her Russian citizenship, although she took no part whatever in politics.

"To deprive her of her citizenship was a senseless act of revenge against me. It wrecked by daughter's health. They call it a voluntary death. No, it wasn't voluntary. Stalin forced this death on her."

Trotzky charged the Communist authorities at Moscow also caused the death of his daughter, Nina, who was imprisoned although her health was frail. He said that Moscow persuaded the Danish police to cut short his visit to Copenhagen where he lectured recently.

JAPAN DECLARES IT WILL NOT ALTER MANCHURIA POLICY

Spokesman Asserts Roosevelt Statement on Sanctity of Treaties Is No Surprise to Tokio.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Jan. 18.—The Japanese Government served notice today that President-elect Roosevelt's views will not alter this country's fixed policies in Manchuria.

The Roosevelt statement upholding the sanctity of international treaties and the over-riding of President Hoover's veto of the Philippines independence bill stirred up considerable comment here. Neither, however, caused surprise, officials declared.

Foreign Office sources told the Japanese press it would be "unreasonable" if the United States asked other powers to participate in neutralization of the Philippines while America retained naval bases there. It was suggested that neutralization might involve revision of the four-power Pacific pact.

Insisting that Japan had violated no treaties in Manchuria, a Government spokesman said it remained to be seen how the Roosevelt pronouncement would be applied to Manchuria. It also was stated officially, though guardedly, that Japan was willing to join a move looking toward neutralization of the Philippines.

A parallel was drawn between Japan's relations to Manchuria and those of the United States to the Philippines.

The Tokio newspaper Asahi ridiculed the suggestion from Washington that Japan might invade the Philippines, declaring "there is no greater mistake than to conclude from Japan's military actions in Manchuria that she harbors territorial gains."

Foreign Office Statement.

Commenting on the declaration of President-elect Roosevelt, a Foreign Office spokesman said:

"Even prior to Mr. Roosevelt's rather noncommittal statement, we have evidence Secretary of State Stimson was confident his policies would be contin[illegible] under his successor.

"Japan [illegible] surprised. It never bel[illegible] change in administrations would fundamentally alter the American policy in the Orient, remembering that it was the last Democratic administration

FREEDOM NOW UP TO ACCEPTANCE BY FILIPINOS

Island Legislature Must Decide Within Year on Grant Voted by U. S. Congress and Prepare for Drafting Constitution.

INDICATIONS STAND WILL BE FAVORABLE

Objections by Those Who Have Demanded Immediate Independence—Other Provisions of Act Passed Over Veto.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The question of independence now is one for the 13,000,000 people of the Philippine Islands to decide, and, despite some expressed opposition, there are indications that the 10-year transitional period will be taken by Filipino leaders as the best possible terms now obtainable and that the insular Legislature will accept the independence bill enacted yesterday by Congress.

Members of the Filipino mission here, composed of leaders of the island legislative body, said, after the Senate had voted, 66 to 26, to override President Hoover's veto: "The full realization of the significance of this action will bring joy and happiness to the hearts of the Filipino people."

Objections from Manila have emanated from a faction that wants immediate and unrestricted freedom. President Manuel Quezon of the insular Senate has sent word that he will come to Washington to satisfy himself that all has been done to obtain the best possible bill. After that he will decide what attitude he and his followers will take toward the 10-year measure.

Must Accept Within a Year.

Under the terms of the measure, the island Legislature must accept it within one year and then fix a date for the election of delegates to a convention for the purpose of drafting a Constitution.

The Constitution must be acceptable to the President of the United States and also must be approved at a special island election—this vote to be the test of whether the Filipinos want freedom.

The law is a compromise between those who wanted a longer transition period with an island plebiscite on independence at its termination and those who urged a shorter period of readjustment and irrevocable freedom.

While immigration from the islands to the United States would be restricted to a quota of 50 annually, after the 10-year transition Asiatic exclusion would apply, barring entry to all persons not eligible to citizenship.

Imports into the United States of sugar, coconut oil and cordage, free of duty, would be limited annually during the 10 years—sugar to 850,000 tons, including 800,000 tons of raw and 50,000 tons of refined; coconut oil to 200,000 tons, and hemp products to 3,000,000 pounds. These are virtually the present figures covering such imports.

Beginning with the sixth year, the islands would be permitted to levy export taxes amounting to 5 per cent of the American tariff in that year, 10 per cent the seventh, and so on until the taxes reach 25 per cent in the tenth year.

Full Duties After 10 Years.

Full duties would apply against Philippine goods after the 10-year period, although a conference between the United States and the islands is provided in the last year at which some reciprocal trade agreement similar to Cuban-American commercial relations might be worked out.

The United States would be represented in the islands by a high commissioner during the transition instead of by a Governor-General, as at present.

The islands would have one resident commissioner here instead of two as at present, with the right to sit and debate in the House, but without voting privilege.

The United States retains the right to maintain whatever military and naval reservations in the islands it may deem fit to hold after complete independence, the lands to be designated by the President within two years after American withdrawal. The President is directed to negotiate treaties with foreign Governments looking to the "perpetual neutralization" of the new Government.

From Island Objectors.

Members of the Filipino Mission received a cablegram from a caucus of about half the members of the island House objecting to the independence measure, although Ma-

Full duties would apply against Philippine goods after the 10-year period, although a conference between the United States and the islands is provided in the last year at which some reciprocal trade agreement similar to Cuban-American commercial relations might be worked out.

The United States would be represented in the islands by a high commissioner during the transition instead of by a Governor-General, as at present.

The islands would have one resident commissioner here instead of two as at present, with the right to sit and debate in the House, but without voting privilege.

The United States retains the right to maintain whatever military and naval reservations in the islands it may deem fit to hold after complete independence, the lands to be designated by the President within two years after American withdrawal. The President is directed to negotiate treaties with foreign Governments looking to the "perpetual neutralization" of the new Government.

From Island Objectors.

Members of the Filipino Mission received a cablegram from a caucus of about half the members of the Island House objecting to the independence measure, although Manila dispatches said many of those who attended did not participate in voting to send the message.

The resident commissioners, Pedro Guevara and Camilo Osias, and members of the independence mission, were surrounded in the corridors by their countrymen yesterday, after the independence victory amid a hubub of congratulations. The mission members went immediately to the office of Senator Hawes (Dem.), Missouri, coauthor with Senator Cutting (Rep.) New Mexico, and Representative Hare (Dem.), South Carolina, of the act.

"This is a great day for us and our country," said Speaker Manuel Roxas of the insular House. With acting President Sergio Osmena of the Philippine Senate, Roxas is joint leader of the mission. Osmena thanked Hawes for his aid.

Gratitude to America.

A joint statement issued by the Philippine commission and the two resident commissioners in part reads:

"On behalf of our nation we desire to express our deep gratitude to the Government and people of the United States for this act unprecedented in the history of dependent peoples. No nation heretofore has been able to win its independence in the manner it will come to the Philippines under this law, through the orderly processes of self-government and peace. It speaks very highly of the sense of justice and love of freedom of the American people. It proves to the world the unselfishness of America and brings new hope to mankind. We face the future with abiding faith in liberty and independence, and our most earnest desire is to be worthy of America."

PERPETUAL JOBLESS ARMY OR SHORTER WORKING DAY ALTERNATIVES, GREEN SAYS

A. F. L. Head Tells House Committee Present Rate of Pay Should Continue With Reduced Hours.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, told the House Labor Committee today the United States faced a choice between a shorter working day and week "or maintaining a large and perpetual army of unemployed."

He indorsed Chairman Connery's bill to enforce the five-day week and six-hour day by prohibiting the shipment in interstate and foreign commerce of commodities otherwise produced.

"More than 11,000,000 men and women are out of work and many millions more are working part time," he said. "In my opinion 50 per cent of the entire population is very seriously affected.

"Each day adds to the seriousness of the situation. Each day makes it worse, because more savings are dissipated and more people become dependent on charity.

Lists Idle in Trades.

"In the building trades alone, 69 per cent are totally idle, 12 to 13 per cent are working part time only. So only about 18 per cent are employed approximately steadily.

"This goes along in varying degrees in all industry. The economic situation of course contributes, but back of it all is the mechanization of industry. Even if we could suddenly restore the 1929 peak, it is estimated only 55 per cent of those entitled to work would obtain employment.

"Even if we introduce the five-day week and six-hour day there still will be some unemployed. We must make these adjustments. If we don't we must reconcile ourselves to living in a country with a constant standing army of 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 unemployed.

"Relief Breaking Down."

"Relief machinery is breaking down. We can't keep people permanently on a charity basis and even if we could it is socially wrong and morally indefensible."

Although Green was not prepared to discuss the constitutionality of the proposed bill, he said: "There has been some change in the judicial attitude of the Supreme Court toward social and labor problems since the child labor opinion and labor believes it now would take a broader and more liberal attitude. Therefore, we have reasonable grounds for hope it would be held constitutional."

Green said his organization wanted the same "rate of pay" maintained under the shorter working time.

A statement that John Weinstock —who had said he represented a wing of the Federation in opposing the 30-hour week—was not a member of the organization, was made by Green. He told the House Labor Committee that "Weinstock is known as an avowed Communist; to say that he is connected with the Federation is an untruth."

Weinstock, styling himself as head of the A. F. of L. Trade Union Committee for Unemployment Insurance and relief, had recently attacked Green vigorously before a Senate committee and had condemned the 30-hour week plan.

In the meantime, at continuing sessions of the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on this subject today, Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives, challenged constitutionality of the measure, which would set up the shortened work week as a condition to entry of manufactures in interstate commerce.

Questioned by Senator Black (Dem.), Alabama, Thom said he felt the court would be compelled to hold the bill unconstitutional even if it wass hown that shorter work hours were necessary for preservation of civilization and the Government itself. He said if relief of that kind was needed it should be sought in State Legislatures.

GLASS WON'T ENTER CABINET IF HE HAS TO GET LONG'S OK

Says All King's Horses and King's Men Couldn't Force Him to Such Terms.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18. — During discussion of his bank bill yesterday, Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, referred to the fact that he was once Secretary of the Treasury.

"The newspapers have been told by one of the Senators," Glass said, referring to Long (Dem.), Louisiana, "that I am not to be permitted to hold that place again, that I would have to get his permission.

"If I had to do that, all the King's horses and all the King's men could never induce me to accept the distinction."

LEAGUE TO TRY ONCE MORE TO SETTLE FAR EAST DISPUTE

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Jan. 18.—The League of Nations Conciliation Committee of Nineteen decided today to make another effort at conciliating the Chinese-Japanese dispute before advancing to procedure regardless of Japanese opposition.

I.C.C. ORDERS POWER REVERSE GEARS ON ALL LOCOMOTIVES

Acts on Complaint of Engineers' Brotherhood Which Says Hand Devices Cause Accidents.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Acting on complaint of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered railroads to equip locomotives with power reverse gears not later than Jan. 1, 1937.

The brotherhood complained that about half of the locomotives were equipped only with hand gears and that these had caused many serious accidents to the men handling them.

The railroads opposed the complaint because of the expense and said the commission's rules could be changed only on application of the carriers. The order affects about 31,500 locomotives.

ROYAL ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY VOTES MEDAL TO AMERICAN

Honors Dr. Vesto M. Slipher, Who Gained Fame From "Planet X."

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The Royal Astronomical Society's gold medal will be awarded this year to Dr. Vesto M. Slipher, director of Lowell Observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz. He will receive the award for his spectroscopic researches on planets, stars and nebulae. He will be invited to deliver the George Darwin lecture of 1933.

Discovery at Flagstaff of a body in the solar system designated as "Planet X" brought world-wide attention to Dr. Slipher in March, 1930. C. W. Tombaugh of Dr. Slipher's staff was credited with making the actual observation of the planet, which was later given the name Pluto.

KING BORIS' PLEDGE TO POPE

Vatican Organ Prints Promise to Rear Children as Catholics.

By the Associated Press.

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 18. — The Osservatore Romano, official Vatican City newspaper, today published a document signed by King Boris and Queen Joanna of Bulgaria which asks for the Pope's dispensation for a Catholic marriage and promising that all children of both sexes will be baptised and reared as Catholics. The newspaper also published a document granting dispensation on this condition.

King Boris of Bulgaria is a member of the Orthodox or Eastern Church. Queen Joanna, the daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena of Italy, was reared a Catholic. Earlier this week reports from Vatican City were that the Pope was framing a protest to King Boris concerning the Orthodox baptism of the new-born Princess Marie Louise of Bulgaria. The Princess, who was born last week, was baptised last Sunday in the Palace at Sofia.

RAILROADS IN U. S. BORROWED $656,000,000 LAST YEAR

R. F. C. Loans of $261,666,197 Listed in Reports to Commerce Commission.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The nation's railroads borrowed $656,000,000 in 1932 to meet their obligations, pledging more than $1,000,000,000 of their bonds as security.

A summary of reports to the Interstate Commerce Commission showed today the borrowings were obtained from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Railroad Credit Corporation and from banks. Private borrowings totaled $357,428,001 and from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation $261,666,197.

During the first 11 months, carriers unable to meet their fixed charges borrowed $37,203,681. The recapitulation showed that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation during the 11 months available had lent nearly $100,000,000 less than the Interstate Commerce Commission had authorized.

CREW OF 24 SAVED WHEN POWDER-LADEN SHIP SINKS

Neptunia Arrives at Naples With News of Rescue Near Oran, Algeria.

By the Associated Press.

NAPLES, Italy, Jan. 18.—The motor ship Neptunia, arriving yesterday from Buenos Aires, brought news of the rescue of 24 officers and men of the powder-laden Italian freighter Koefia, which sank in the Mediterranean near Oran, Algeria, Monday.

The captain of the Neptunia received an S O S message from the Koefia saying she was sinking and that the captain and all members of the crew were taking to lifeboats. The Italian steamer Kavi sent a wireless message to the Koefia from a nearby point saying she was rushing to the aid of the distressed ship, but later the Kavi was advised that everyone on the Koefia had been saved and would be landed at Casa Blanca, Morocco. The Koefia was en route from Follonica, Italy, to Amsterdam.

MANY JAPANESE RADICALS ARE GIRLS OF WEALTHY FAMILIES

Authorities Announce Details of Country-Wide Roundup of 2000 in October.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Jan. 18. — Removing a publication restriction, Japanese authorities announced today the details of a country-wide roundup of 2000 radicals. The arrests occurred late in October, following discovery of widespread Communist activities.

The action followed the arrest of some bank raiders, whose examination disclosed an important secret conference of Communists was to be held shortly. Police, clad in bullet-proof vests, raided the rendezvous and arrested 11 persons after an encounter in which four policemen were wounded. It also was announced today that 7000 radicals in all were arrested in Tokio during last year, most of them educated persons in their early twenties. These included girls, many of whom belonged to wealthy families.

IMPERIAL FLAG IS RAISED IN PRUSSIA, DESPITE PROTEST

Flies Over Diet During Celebration of Anniversary of the Founding of the Reich.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—As the Imperial colors waved over the Prussian Diet today for the first time since the revolution, Hans Kerrl, president of the Diet, in an address commemorating the sixty-second anniversary of the founding of the Reich, praised the Hohenzollerns. He said: "The empire would always have remained a Utopia if the Hohenzollerns had not become the sponsors of the idea of a united Germany."

The Nazi members of the Diet wildly cheered this statement.

MANCHUKUO RULER ESCAPES BOMB; DIPLOMAT INJURED

Explosion at Railway Station in Changchun Jan. 12 Disclosed in Peiping Advices.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 18.—The life of Henry Pu-Yi, former boy Emperor of China, and now Regent of Manchukuo, was endangered by an exploding bomb on Jan. 12. Chinese advices from Pieping disclosed today. The bomb, from which Pu-Yi escaped, seriously injured a Manchukuon diplomat.

According to the report, it was thrown at the railway station in Changchun, capital of Manchukuo, where the Regent and a group of authorities had gathered to welcome the Japanese Ambassador. Chen Hseia-Sien, a diplomat high in the councils of the new State, was seriously injured by the exploding fragments of the bomb. He was standing close to the Regent.

DANISH PREMIER TO VISIT U. S.

Will Discuss Trade Relations With American President.

By the Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 18.—Premier Stauning told the newspaper Extrabladt today that he would visit Washington in the spring to discuss trade between Denmark and the United States with the American President.

Flyer and Plane in Which He Crossed South Atlantic in 14 Hours

JEAN MERMOZ and the "Arc-en-ciel" (Rainbow) plane in which the pilot and six companions crossed from St. Louis, Senegal, to Natal, Brazil, a distance of 1962 miles. They are the first airmen to eat breakfast in Africa and dinner in South America on the same day.

SAYS COLUMBIA U. HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH TECHNOCRACY

Dr. Butler Explains Space Has Been Given Engineers as Part of Unemployment Relief.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Columbia University, says President Nicholas Murray Butler, "has no more to do with technocracy than it has with the fourth dimension."

The statement was made in a letter from Dr. Butler to Walter L. Clark. In the letter, as quoted by Clark, Dr. Butler said:

"Columbia University as part of unemployment relief gave working space to a group of engineers and architects who had nowhere else to go. Some of these men have been carrying on most interesting and useful inquiries into the facts of technological development, and a very few of them, plus the sensational press, have put upon these facts so far as gathered, interpretations which they do not and cannot bear, but which, because of their more or less sensational character, have attracted the attention of the public."

M'FADDEN AGAIN ATTEMPTS TO HAVE HOOVER IMPEACHED

House Tables Resolution of Pennsylvania Republican by Vote of 342 to 11.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The House for the second time this session yesterday swept aside an effort of Representative McFadden, Republican of Pennsylvania, to impeach President Hoover. The anti-administration Republican picked up three votes from the last test but saw his resolution tabled by an overwhelming majority without his even being permitted to speak for an hour as he intended.

The resolution, declaring Mr. Hoover guilty of "high crimes and misdemeanors," was put down by a roll call vote of 342 to 11. It contained the same charges as were embodied in the original resolution which met the same fate on Dec. 15 by a vote of 361 to 8. It alleged principally misconduct by the chief executive in international diplomacy and war debts.

NEW YORK RAISES RELIEF FUND

Finally Goes $26,000 Over Goal of $15,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18. — The Emergency Unemployment Relief Committee announced yesterday that its fund-raising campaign which began last fall had passed its $15,000,000 goal by $26,000. The campaign was to have ended Dec. 20 but was $1,000,000 short at that time and an extension was decided on.

Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, honorary chairman, told committee workers at a luncheon he "would rather see $15,000,000 handled by a committee such as this one than to see a much larger sum imposed upon the taxpayers."

Irish Destroy English Goods.

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 18.—A boycott campaign against English goods entered fresh stages in Dublin yesterday when bands of young men entered public houses, leaped upon counters and smashed bottles of English-made ale. Advertising signs were wrecked.

MERMOZ PLANE OUT OF MUD

Machine Lands in Mire at Rio de Janeiro; Apparently Undamaged.

By the Associated Press.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 18.—The airplane Arc-Enciel (Rainbow) in which Jean Mermoz and six passengers flew here yesterday from Natal, Brazil, was liberated today from the mud in which it became mired on arrival last night. The plane then was put into a hangar. Mermoz is expected to take off tomorrow for Buenos Aires. The plane is thought to be undamaged.

Mermoz, on Monday, crossed the South Atlantic, flying from St. Louis, Senegal, to Natal.

75-ACRE ESTATE TO CHICAGO U.

Mrs. Frances Hutchinson Also Gives Endowment Fund.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—The University of Chicago announces that Mrs. Frances Kinsley Hutchinson has given the university her 75-acre estate, "Wychwood," at Lake Geneva, Wis., along with "a substantial" endowment fund.

The estate, the announcement says, will be used as a field laboratory for the study of botany. A wild animal refuge also will be established. Mrs. Hutchinson is the widow of Charles L. Hutchinson, former banker and president of the Chicago Art Institute.

SAYS STALIN DROVE DAUGHTER TO SUICIDE

Trotzky Declares Revocation of Russian Citizenship Shattered Her Health.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Leon Trotzky, exiled Russian Bolshevik leader, blames Joseph Stalin, Soviet dictator, for the recent suicide here of Trotzky's daughter, Zinaida.

In a letter from exile on the Island of Prinkipo, near Istanbul, to the Central Committee of the Communist party, Trotzky says that Stalin's decree of February, 1932, depriving the Trotzky family of Russian citizenship, shattered his daughter's health.

Zinaida and her son went to Turkey for her health, having first obtained Stalin's permission, the letter said. After great difficulty a German visa was obtained for her and physicians in Berlin restored her health.

"Then," said Trotzky, "she dreamed of returning to Russia with her boy to join her 10-year-old daughter and her husband who, as a Bolshevist Leninist, had been sent into exile by Stalin.

"Then came the terrible news that she had been deprived of her Russian citizenship, although she took no part whatever in politics.

"To deprive her of her citizenship was a senseless act of revenge against me. It wrecked by daughter's health. They call it a voluntary death. No, it wasn't voluntary. Stalin forced this death on her."

Trotzky charged the Communist authorities at Moscow also caused the death of his daughter, Nina, who was imprisoned although her health was frail. He said that Moscow persuaded the Danish police to cut short his visit to Copenhagen where he lectured recently.

JAPAN DECLARES IT WILL NOT ALTER MANCHURIA POLICY

Spokesman Asserts Roosevelt Statement on Sanctity of Treaties Is No Surprise to Tokio.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Jan. 18.—The Japanese Government served notice today that President-elect Roosevelt's views will not alter this country's fixed policies in Manchuria.

The Roosevelt statement upholding the sanctity of international treaties and the over-riding of President Hoover's veto of the Philippines independence bill stirred up considerable comment here. Neither, however, caused surprise, officials declared.

Foreign Office sources told the Japanese press it would be "unreasonable" if the United States asked other powers to participate in neutralization of the Philippines while America retained naval bases there. It was suggested that neutralization might involve revision of the four-power Pacific pact.

Insisting that Japan had violated no treaties in Manchuria, a Government spokesman said it remained to be seen how the Roosevelt pronouncement would be applied to Manchuria. It also was stated officially, though guardedly, that Japan was willing to join a move looking toward neutralization of the Philippines.

A parallel was drawn between Japan's relations to Manchuria and those of the United States to the Philippines.

The Tokio newspaper Asahi ridiculed the suggestion from Washington that Japan might invade the Philippines, declaring "there is no greater mistake than to conclude from Japan's military actions in Manchuria that she harbors territorial gains."

Foreign Office Statement.

Commenting on the declaration of President-elect Roosevelt, a Foreign Office spokesman said:

"Even prior to Mr. Roosevelt's rather noncommittal statement, we have evidence Secretary of State Stimson was confident his policies would be continued under his successor.

"Japan was not surprised. It never believed a change in administrations would fundamentally alter the American policy in the Orient, remembering that it was the last Democratic administration

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Taxes of Trucks and Railroads.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I CANNOT agree with Judge Compton of Bentonville, Ark., that industries exist primarily for the purpose of paying taxes. Rather, they should be judged on the value of the service they render. Nevertheless, in the truck vs. railroad tax comparison, the fact is that trucks pay, per ton of capacity, taxes equal to three times the railroads' taxes and roadbed costs together. It is not tax favoritism that enables the truck to compete with the railroad. It is more likely some of the factors so tersely discussed in your recent editorial on "Persian Elephants"—in other words, motor transportation is a flexible, quick-moving business carrying none of the burdens of top-heavy overhead or over-capitalization — even though it carries a heavier tax burden per ton of capacity.

As for the county's stake in truck and other motor vehicle taxes, in one typical Missouri county, property taxes on motor vehicles were found to be 75 per cent of those of the railroads, and in addition, motor vehicles paid special taxes amounting to $182,103. The State expended in this county $235,779 in road maintenance and construction, giving the county a system of rapid trade routes and encouraging the growth of a host of highway servicing businesses within the county. In the payment of these special taxes, the average common carrier truck's tax is 10 times that of the average vehicle. The fact is, the transportation revolution we are now witnessing has resulted more from the individual's furnishing of his own transportation than from the common carrier truck's competition with the railroad—plus, of course, the major cause, to be found in the general business recession.

Uncle Sam and the Little Grocer.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IT certainly is a great game, this subsidizing business. I have a number of retail grocer friends who have been trying for years to figure out how to subsidize their customers who have no money with which to buy food to live on. The retailers have been putting their savings from better times into their business and have pared down their own standard of living a lot trying to hang on to their business and survive. Tightening their belts another few notches, they face 1933 with some more of their customers out of funds with which to pay for food.

Now comes Uncle Sam and, through his omniscient Department of Commerce and its countless bureaus and commissions, is showing these grocers with tons and carloads of literature, investigations, etc., how wrong it is for a business to show a loss or operate without a profit.

This same Uncle Sam is conducting his postal business in a manner which would put the little grocer in jail on forty-eleven different counts of something or other. We are told of a national deficit, which is accumulating at the rate of about a quarter of a million dollars an hour, and that the Government will have to tax "everything from Bibles to pigs' knuckles" to maintain such a "business-like" enterprise.

Instead of buying bigger automobiles for the stove-pipe hat of the Postmaster-General, it would seem to be the more economical thing to get a new Postmaster-General of a hat size to fit the regular automobile. FRANK WEISHAUPT.

Beginning to Get Wise.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

LET me express my pleasure in the editorial of Dec. 25, with the clever title "Persian Elephants and Slim Little Greeks." The country is beginning to get wise to the pernicious propaganda of business that has fostered our overgrown monopolistic industrial combinations. More strength to your editorial arm. It is to be hoped that the new administration will be moved to some effective action in the enforcement of the anti-trust laws. FRANK A. FETTER.

Tax Reduction and Mr. Dickmann.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IN the good old halcyon days, when Mr. Dickmann and his Real Estate Exchange waxed fat at the expense of the poor defenseless tenants, and real estate values soared sky high like a phantom rocket, did anyone hear Mr. Dickmann bellowing to the public: "Down with taxes"?

Surely, taxes can be reduced, but how far without imperiling public welfare and public service? Last year's cut in the city budget has forced curtailment of expenditures in all departments, causing serious limitations in our hospitals, Fire Department, Water Department, Street Department and Park Department, not to mention adding former city employes to the city's growing number of unemployed. Can the city stand a further reduction, without sacrificing the protection and duty due the public? If Mr. Dickmann would familiarize himself with these vital city departments, I am sure he would find there is not much pruning left to be done.

It appears that Mr. Dickmann is trying to appeal to mob sentiment with his tax reduction ballyhoo, which could be made more effectively if he were perched on the customary soap box in front of the City Hall.

ELMER BAMMANN.

MULTIPLE TAXATION.

The House Ways and Means Committee, investigating the duplication of taxes levied by the Federal Government and by state or other local agencies, finds 326 instances, says a preliminary report issued by the chairman, Representative Vinson of Kentucky. This is one of the flaws in our tax system, lending itself not only to excessive levies in some instances, but to duplication of tax-collecting machinery that accounts for much of the rising cost of government. The respective provinces of Federal and local taxes have never been clearly defined. As the needs of hard times force legislators, Federal and local, to seek new sources of revenue, there is an increasing tendency for each body to invade fields formerly considered exclusive to the other.

Perhaps the classic example is the gasoline tax. For many years, this was collected exclusively by states, until a number of cities were attracted to it. At the last session of Congress the Federal Government also imposed a tax on gasoline. Now, in many places, including St. Louis, gasoline is triply taxed. A similar example, but in reverse, is the tobacco tax. This was for many years the province of the Government, but 13 states now have also adopted it. The Federal Government imposes an income tax, and 20 states do the same, with more expected to join at their current legislative sessions. Nearly all the states have followed the Government's example in levying estate taxes.

For some of these duplicating levies there is justification. The citizen who earns an income benefits from services rendered by both Federal and state governments. It is quite in order that both administrations should derive part of their upkeep from levies on incomes. But in multiple taxation of commodities such as gasoline and tobacco, the result is an overloading of one item, placing a handicap upon business and the consuming public. Almost half the retail cost of gasoline in St. Louis now represents taxes, and more than half of the cost of cigarettes in states that levy a tax on them. Nine states now have general sales taxes of various forms, and this fact should be an added deterrent to the move for a Federal levy of this nature.

The army of tax collectors and the necessity of making several tax returns figure largely in the economic waste of our tax system. Thus a citizen of Missouri must make an income tax report to the State, another to the Government and a general tax return to the county or city assessor, or both. Each of these agencies has its staff, and the various tabulations required often cause time-consuming and costly accounting operations for individuals and businesses.

One method that has been suggested for cutting out this waste is to have joint collection of taxes, as at present employed by counties in apportioning a share of their receipts to municipalities, school districts, townships, drainage districts and other tax-supported functions. In the same fashion, by co-operation between the Federal Government and states, only one return and one group of collecting officials would be required for income and inheritance taxes, with the required shares being distributed to the taxing agencies. This would have wide results in reducing the bureaucratic armies which now add to the taxpayers' burden.

Duplicate taxation is a knotty problem, of which the solution seems far in the distance. The American Legislators' Association has been surveying the matter, and has called a conference, to open at Washington Feb. 3, with legislative and fiscal representatives of the states and of the Federal Government in attendance. President-elect Roosevelt, indorsing the purpose of the conference, wrote:

> In the past, the Federal Government has passed revenue legislation with too little consideration for state taxing systems and, on the other hand, the states have legislated with little reference to the Federal revenue plan and with almost no consideration for the tax programs of other states. This is not as it should be. I have given considerable thought to this problem and it is my hope to make at least a small contribution to a better synchronized Federal, state and local taxing system.

There is urgent necessity for better co-operation between Federal and local taxing authorities. In the process of synchronizing their workings lie possibilities of saving to the taxpayers and aid to balancing budgets. The legislators' conference and the House investigation will be watched with interest by those who bear the burdens inflicted by multiple tax activities.

HAND-SET TELEPHONE CHARGES.

Users of the hand-set, Swedish or French telephones, as they are variously termed, pay 25 cents a month for this modern equipment and, presumably, are to be called upon to pay that charge forever. Granted the hand-set telephone is a luxury, the perpetual charge, in our opinion, is not justified.

In a brief just filed with the New York Public Service Commission, the City Affairs Committee holds that the New York Telephone Co. should be required to institute in New York the so-called Washington plan, by which hand-set users are charged either $4 in cash, or $4.50 in monthly instalments. The committee asserts that the 25-cent charge is clearly unjustified.

We pass on to City Counselor Muench the idea that a similar movement be begun on behalf of Missouri hand-set users.

THE ECONOMY PROGRAM.

Gov. Park devoted the larger part of his inaugural address to the necessity for economy in the State's affairs, and the first step has been taken to put his preaching into practice. Thirty-seven bills were introduced in the Senate and House yesterday, embodying the administration's economy program. They deal with consolidations, transfers of departmental duties, the reduction and, in some instances, the abolishing, of activities, and a sweeping cut in salaries. The creation of a budget officer is proposed, to be appointed by the Governor, who would prepare the biennial budget recommendations, a work now done by the State Tax Commission.

No definite estimate has been submitted as to the savings to be effected by the adoption of the program, but only substantial results would justify the effort and meet public expectation. It is a fair presumption, then, that the program carries a liberal measure of relief for the taxpayers.

The Legislature is apparently moved by the same spirit as the Governor. Evidence of a disposition to co-operate in the task is seen in giving the bills the right of way and in the designation of special committees to speed them along so as to avoid the jam in the latter days of the session, in which so many undertakings perish.

The program, naturally, will be subjected both to official and unofficial scrutiny, and its promised worth correctly gauged during its pendency. For the present, it must suffice to say that the Governor and the Legislature seem determined to fulfill their pledges of retrenchment to the electorate, and are to be commended.

POLITICS THAT PAYS.

It seems more than probable now that by the end of this month, or soon thereafter, the Norris amendment to abolish the lame-duck session of Congress will have become a part of the Constitution of the United States. During the past two weeks 10 states—North Carolina, California, Oklahoma, North Dakota, Minnesota, Montana, Arizona, Oregon, Kansas and Nebraska have taken favorable action. These states, together with the 17 which ratified last year, bring the total to 27, only nine short of the required number.

As time passes, the failure of Missouri to ratify becomes increasingly embarrassing. If Missouri is to be among the states to enjoy the distinction of having registered effective approval, the Legislature will need to act soon. No change in the Federal Constitution was ever more justified. What a happy mood Senator Norris must be in as he looks back over the history of this truly great reform! For years he fought to get the resolution through the House. Thanks to the reactionary leadership of Nicholas Longworth and his standpat kind, every effort of the Nebraska statesman was frustrated until after the popular revolt at the polls in 1930. Approved overwhelmingly by Congress last winter, the amendment became available for state action 10 months ago. The nation's spontaneous acceptance is the best rebuke to the obstructionists who so long defeated the will of the people.

A few days ago, Senator Shortridge of California, one of the lame ducks, sorrowfully announced his conclusion that politics does not pay. A man may devote his lifetime to politics, only to have his career cut short by an ungrateful constituency, he lamented. If he means the Shortridge brand of politics, the retiring California Senator is right. But politics as practiced by Senator Norris pays, and pays handsomely. It pays the highest dividends on earth—the satisfaction that comes from fine accomplishment motivated by high purpose and carried through by unswerving devotion to the good of one's fellow man.

LLOYD GEORGE AFTER G. B. S.

Is Lloyd George stealing George Bernard Shaw's stuff? The question is prompted by the former Prime Minister's remark, on the occasion of his seventieth birthday, that only two men seem to grasp what is going on in the world—Mussolini and Stalin. The observation is strictly Shavian, in phrase and sentiment.

But just what does it mean? As political philosophies, Fascism and Communism are both anathema to the democratic viewpoint. A Mussolini or a Stalin would be alike impossible to a people with the credo, written or unwritten, of our American Bill of Rights. The acceptance of either would wipe Runnymede and Philadelphia off the map and toss Magna Carta and the Constitution into the wastebasket. Moreover, if any glimmering of a remedial idea in the present difficulties has come either from Moscow or Rome, it has been confidentially imparted and the secret has been faithfully kept from the public.

The going is rough, but we doubt if we are going to be suddenly, or ultimately, transported to rose-hung lanes by an alien "ism" or a Technocratic "erg."

FOUR YEARS OF LAW ENFORCEMENT.

Summing up his first four years in office, Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller finds he has obtained convictions in 78 per cent of the 7316 criminal cases prosecuted, and that, of 6770 cases finally disposed of, 5769 convictions were obtained, a percentage of 85.

Implicit in the figures is the history of a quadrennium of hard battling, in courtroom and out, by Circuit Attorney Miller and his able assistants to make crime hazardous in St. Louis. It is interesting to note that the Circuit Attorney's office has held its own in the fight, and that, despite the aggravating circumstances of the depression, there has been no increase in local crime.

Moreover, St. Louis is relatively free of the organized gangsterism that still plagues many large American cities. The "mobs" that have formed here from time to time have been broken up and scattered, and in this work the Police Department deserves a very large share of the credit.

It should be borne in mind that the Circuit Attorney's vigorous prosecution of criminals has been compelled to hurdle the handicap of our antiquated system of criminal procedure, whereby the criminal is given tremendous advantage. If Circuit Attorney Miller were given a modern code, St. Louis would be even a more dangerous stamping ground for the underworld than it now is.

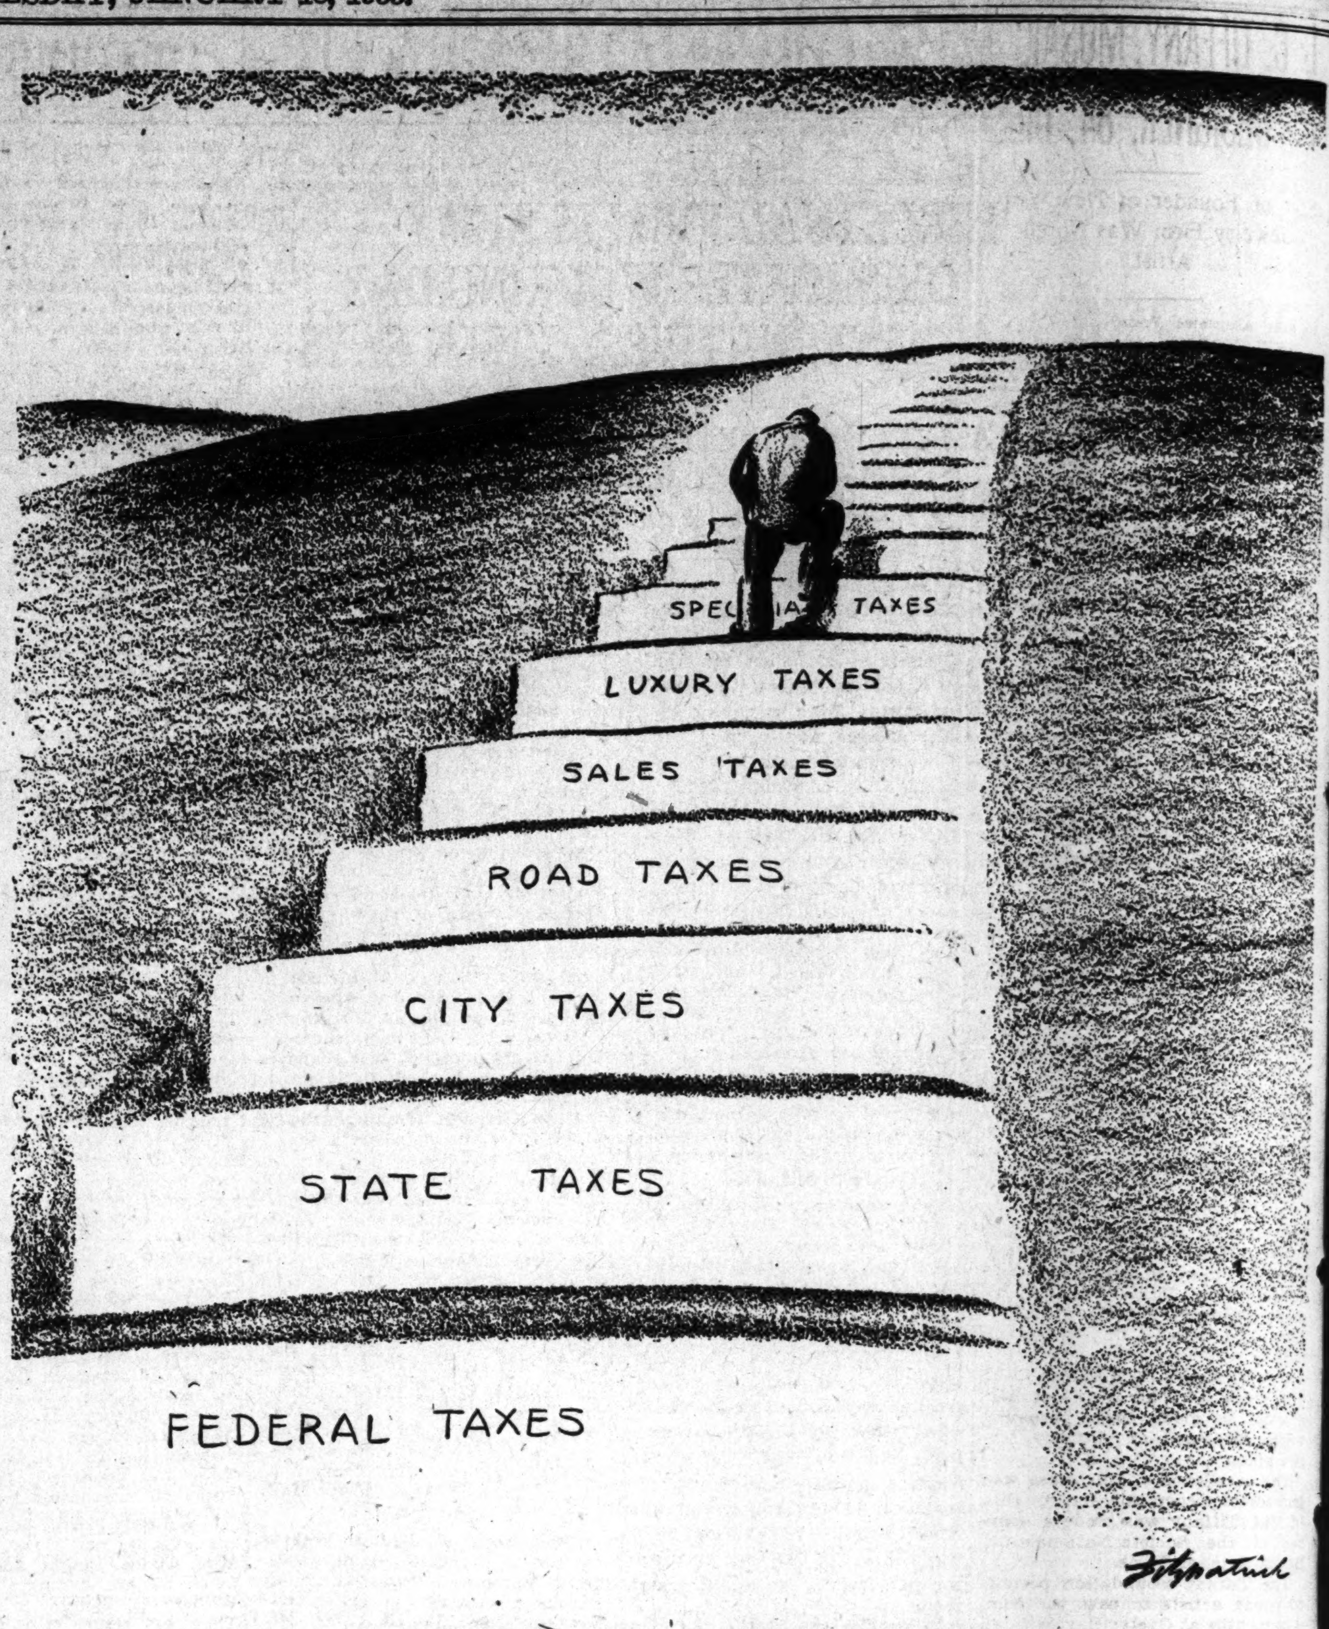
LEARNING HOW TO LOAF.

Butler University apparently is staffed with those professors of foresight for whom H. G. Wells appealed recently. That forward-looking school is preparing to instruct its students in utilization of leisure, preparing them for (1) the triumph of Technocracy, when no one will work more than 16 hours a week; or (2) the triumph of unemployment, when no one will work at all. To this end, it has launched a series of courses in avocations and hobbies, to enable its graduates to loaf intelligently, without the crudities certain to be committed by unenlightened idlers. Gardening, astronomy, photography, sports, books, birds—these are among the fields to be cultivated. Avocational training thus takes its place alongside vocational training in the curriculum, and it is a wise step, for schooling in one is as important to human happiness as knowledge of the other.

One subject, however, gives us pause. The last two items listed in the announcement are "appreciation of art and after-dinner speeches." This lacks a necessary clarity, but with dire implications in either case. Does Butler U. intend to teach appreciation of after-dinner speeches, or the art of making them? If the former, a horrible prospect of the Technocratic age appears. No one will be rushed for time, and speakers can drone on at even greater lengths than now. The science of appreciating them undoubtedly will be the stiffest course of the lot. And if the latter interpretation is correct, the prospect is equally bad. We need fewer banquet orators rather than more, even with a 16-hour week.



OVER THE HILL TO THE POORHOUSE.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

Roosevelt and the Inflationists

THE country is passing through a somewhat trying interval as it waits for the announcement of the Roosevelt Cabinet and the formulation of the Roosevelt program. There is more uncertainty in the air than there need be. We can see this in the action of the State Department in reaffirming the Stimson doctrine. Here is an example of co-operation between the outgoing and the incoming administrations, brought about quietly and effectively through the simple method of honest understanding between Mr. Stimson and Mr. Roosevelt. Had other matters of equal importance been dealt with in the same spirit on both sides, there is no reason to doubt that the situation in Washington today in regard to such vitally important questions as the budget would not be so confused.

However, for various reasons, largely personal and temperamental reasons, the situation is confused. There is an administration program which the Democrats will not accept; there is, as yet, no Roosevelt program which they can support. As a result, there is silence, doubt and uncertainty among the responsible leaders of the Democratic party, and, in the interval of waiting, the Huey Longs and others are filling the air with their threats and their promises.

They are saying, in effect, that by one device or another they wish to inflate the currency, and in one spectacular stroke relieve the burden of all debtors. In view of the fact that at the moment no one is speaking authoritatively for the Roosevelt administration, there are many persons who suppose that these inflationists, some of whom were ardent Roosevelt men, are revealing the true intentions of the new administration.

Yet this belief, which is shared both by the Huey Longs and by those who have let themselves be frightened by grimaces of Huey Long, is groundless unless we are to assume that Mr. Roosevelt intends to break every promise he made during the campaign. To believe that Huey Long is a spokesman of the new administration is to impugn the good faith of Franklin D. Roosevelt, for the commitments of the President-elect to a policy of orderly adjustment of the debt structure are specific and unequivocal.

Let us recall these commitments. There is, to begin with, the Democratic platform, which is declared to be "a covenant with the people to be faithfully kept by the party when intrusted with power." The first three covenants of that platform, placed first because they are first in order of importance, promise (1) a reduction of Federal expenditures; (2) maintenance of the national credit by a Federal budget annually balanced; (3) "a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards" and an international monetary conference to consider the rehabilitation of silver and related questions.

But we are not dependent upon the platform or upon any inference drawn from its brief statements. Oct. 21, speaking at St. Louis, Mr. Roosevelt gave his views as to how the eight principal classes of domestic debt should be dealt with. First, he said, "at the very top of the credit structure of the country, surpassing all other groups in moral and material importance, stand the obligations of the Federal Government." These are "paramount," he said. "When they go, everything goes. Happily, these obligations are secure. They suffer only to the extent that the Government is permitted to be extravagant, wasteful or ill managed. They suffer if the Federal budget is not balanced, and particularly where the deficit of one year is not cleared up in the succeeding year." Is it conceivable that the man who spoke these words could consider proposals to start the printing presses?

He then passed on to the next two classes of debts: the obligations of the states, and the obligations of cities, counties and other local units. In respect to both classes, his position was that their bonds must be kept "sound and secure" by the balancing of budgets through economy and honest administration.

That is not the language of an inflationist who wishes to relieve all debts by blowing up the currency.

Mr. Roosevelt then discussed a fourth class of debts, the foreign bonds held privately in this country. His view was that the investors had been badly misled, but that they must take their losses. He did not propose to relieve the foreign debtors by reducing the gold content of the American dollar.

The fifth class of debts, he went on to say, are the domestic bonds of industrial companies. His view was that the amount is relatively small, and that these bonds are not a serious problem. For during the boom, American industries tended to pay off their debts rather than to create new ones, since they were able to finance themselves so largely by the sale of stock.

The sixth class he named were public utility obligations. His conclusion was that, apart from "financial excrescences represented by pyramided holding companies," these obligations "do not at this time constitute a problem in American finance."

The seventh class were railroad obligations. His position was that "the savings of millions of persons. . . are involved in the securities of their railroads," that the Government should, for a specified period, "see the railroads through, provided they put their houses in order," and that "where adjustments are to be made . . . let us arrange for their handling by a swift and orderly method."

The eighth class were real estate mortgages, urban and rural. As to urban mortgages, he proposed relief from excessive taxation and easier credit facilities. For farm mortgages, he proposed lower interest rates, extending the time of capital payments and action to prevent farmers from being driven from their homes.

Now anyone who will consider this approach to the problem of debts will see that it is the very opposite of the inflationists' approach. Mr. Roosevelt proposed in an orderly way to adjust those debts which require adjustment and to maintain all obligations, public and private, which it is possible to maintain. The inflationists propose to strike at the currency itself, to debase it deliberately, and at one stroke cha the value of all debts and obligations. T inflationist method would propose to relie not only the farmer who has a mortga but the public utility company which h bonds outstanding, to reduce the value only of money owing on real estate, but money—money in savings banks, money insurance policies, money in Governme bonds, money owing for salaries, for wag for every kind of fixed obligation.

Mr. Roosevelt ran and was elected aft a campaign in which he made it entir clear that he proposed to deal with the de problem by detailed and specific adj ments. To suppose that he has secret scrapped these pledges, and is now follow Huey Long, is to believe that there is honor left in our public life.

Banks That Do Not Fail

From the Atlanta Constitution.

THE basic reasons why not a Canadi bank has failed during the years of ec nomic stress since 1929 are enumerated in recent statement by G. P. Gordon, Commi sioner of Finance and City Treasurer Ottawa. Briefly, this banking solidary e ists, says Mr. Gordon, because there are fe banks, with many branches, and that th operation is rigidly controlled by laws evo ed for the purpose of safeguarding the d positors' money.

When England and Canada went off th gold standard in 1931, the value of the Ca adian dollar fell to 80 cents in New Yo although it contains the same amount gold as the American dollar. Thus it becam necessary to meet its obligations in N York with a considerably depreciated doll The task was met, to the extent of $40 400,000 in little more than a year, but it p a heavy strain upon the banks of the d minion.

Internal financial difficulties of an i dustrial nature placed a further heavy str on the banks of Canada during this peri but not one collapsed—a fact pointed to Mr. Gordon as clearly demonstrating th strength and stability of the dominion ban ing system.

In this system, there are but 10 banks, t being French-Canadian, but most of th have branches not only throughout t dominion but in the United States, the We Indies, South America and Europe.

* * *

These banks operate under a charter r quiring that the capital stock must be n less than $500,000; each bank must have n less than five directors; each director m be a bona-fide subscriber of stock; t amount of notes in circulation is limited not more than one-fifth of the paid-up ca tal; the banks are prohibited from holdi shares of their own stock or granting lo against them. The charter of any bank liable to forfeiture on the suspension of p ment of specie. Rigid restrictions are plac on the internal organization of the banks, their reserves and on the activities in whi they may engage.

These restrictions, while different in ma respects from those placed around Ame can banks, are no more rigid. The differen is that one system has worked to the pr tection of the depositor and the other h seen approximately 4000 banks close th doors during the present depression.

It stands to reason that if other countr can evolve a system carrying such air-ti security for bank depositors, an equally fective system can be instituted in United States. Certainly something shou be done to make it forever impossible f this country to experience a continuation the tragedy of popping banks.

L. C. TIFFANY, MOSAIC DESIGNER, 84, DIES

Son of Founder of New York Jewelry Firm Was Noted Artist.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Louis Comfort Tiffany, son of the founder of Tiffany & Co., Fifth Avenue jewelers, died of pneumonia yesterday. He was 84 years old and was a vice president of the jewelry house.

Mr. Tiffany was one of America's noted artists. His work was chiefly in oils and water colors. In his Tiffany studios, he gained renown as a decorator and designer of glassware.

In recognition of his ability, he received 54 medals, one from the Columbian Exposition of 1893 in Chicago. In 1900, he was made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

In 1919, Tiffany founded the Louis Comfort Tiffany Foundation for art students, giving it with his entire collection of paintings, glassware and other objects of art and endowing it with $1,000,000. He deeded his Oyster Bay home, Laurelton Hall, to the foundation.

Pioneer in Modernism.

Regarded as one of the earliest exponents of modernism in art, Tiffany's work several decades ago stirred much discussion in art circles.

His own town home and all of its furnishings, of his own design, anticipated by 20 years or so the trend in furnishings. There, he lived alone except for two servants and two nurses. He had been in failing health for some time and 10 days ago was stricken with pneumonia.

He was known in art centers the world over. He was a frequent visitor to the Orient and to Africa. Among his noted paintings are "Dock Scene," "Street Scene in Algiers," "Duane Street, in New York" and "Market Day in Nuremberg."

Designer of Mosaics.

He designed some of the earliest mosaics in glass, these becoming world renowned as "Tiffany favrile glass."

The excellence of this glass won immediate recognition and for this, in 1894, Tiffany was made a member of the Societe Nationale des Beaux Arts, of Paris.

The Tiffany Foundation permits 50 young artists to pass the summer months at Oyster Bay, with all expenses paid. A committee makes the selections, and the only restriction is that the artists paint from nature.

Tiffany was the son of Charles Lewis Tiffany, founder of the firm of jewelers, and Mrs. Harriet Olivia Young Tiffany.

In 1872, Tiffany married Miss Mary Woodbridge Goddard. She died in 1884. Two years later, he married Miss Louise Wakeman Knox, daughter of the Rev. J. H. Mason Knox, of Philadelphia. A son and four daughters survive.

Two Chapels of St. Louis Cathedral Decorated by Tiffany Mosaics.

Two of the chapels at the St. Louis Cathedral, Lindell boulevard and Newstead avenue, are decorated with glass mosaics designed by Tiffany. These are the chapels of "Our Lady," and "All Saints."

SAN MATEO, Cal., Jan. 18. — Carlos K. McClatchy, 41 years old, publisher of the Fresno Bee-Republican and general manager and vice-president of the McClatchy Newspapers of California, died here yesterday at the home of a friend. Bronchial pneumonia and bi-lateral pleurisy were given as the cause of death.

His grandfather, James McClatchy, founded the Sacramento Bee and under the guidance of his son, Charles K. McClatchy, the chain of newspapers now bearing the McClatchy name was formed. It includes the Sacramento Bee, the Fresno Bee-Republican and the Modesto News-Herald.

Carlos McClatchy, besides his activities in newspaper work, set up a chain of radio stations in California.

Banks That Do Not Fail

From the Atlanta Constitution.

THE basic reasons why not a Canadia bank has failed during the years of ec nomic stress since 1929 are enumerated in recent statement by G. P. Gordon, Commi sioner of Finance and City Treasurer
Ottawa. Briefly, this banking solidary e ists, says Mr. Gordon, because there are fe banks, with many branches, and that th operation is rigidly controlled by laws evo ed for the purpose of safeguarding the d positors' money.

When England and Canada went off t gold standard in 1931, the value of the Ca adian dollar fell to 80 cents in New Yor although it contains the same amount gold as the American dollar. Thus it becam necessary to meet its obligations in N
York with a considerably depreciated dolla
The task was met, to the extent of $400
400,000 in little more than a year, but it p a heavy strain upon the banks of the d minion

Internal financial difficulties of an i dustrial nature placed a further heavy stra on the banks of Canada during this perio but not one collapsed—a fact pointed to b
Mr. Gordon as clearly demonstrating t strength and stability of the dominion ban ing system.

In this system, there are but 10 banks, tw being French-Canadian, but most of the have branches not only throughout t dominion but in the United States, the We Indies, South America and Europe.

* * *

These banks operate under a charter r quiring that the capital stock must be n less than $500,000; each bank must have n less than five directors; each director mu be a bona-fide subscriber of stock; t amount of notes in circulation is limited not more than one-fifth of the paid-up ca tal; the banks are prohibited from holdi shares of their own stock or granting lo against them. The charter of any bank liable to forfeiture on the suspension of pa ment of specie. Rigid restrictions are plac on the internal organization of the banks, their reserves and on the activities in whi they may engage.

These restrictions, while different in ma respects from those placed around Ame can banks, are no more rigid. The differen is that one system has worked to the pr tection of the depositor and the other h seen approximately 4000 banks close th doors during the present depression.

It stands to reason that if other countr can evolve a system carrying such air-tig security for bank depositors, an equally fective system can be instituted in t
United States. Certainly something shou be done to make it forever impossible f this country to experience a continuation the tragedy of popping banks.

Mr. Roosevelt ran and was elected aft

L. C. TIFFANY, MOSAIC DESIGNER, 84, DIES

Son of Founder of New York Jewelry Firm Was Noted Artist.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Louis Comfort Tiffany, son of the founder of Tiffany & Co., Fifth Avenue jewelers, died of pneumonia yesterday. He was 84 years old and was a vice president of the jewelry house.

Mr. Tiffany was one of America's noted artists. His work was chiefly in oils and water colors. In his Tiffany studios, he gained renown as a decorator and designer of glassware.

In recognition of his ability, he received 54 medals, one from the Columbian Exposition of 1893 in Chicago. In 1900, he was made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

In 1919, Tiffany founded the Louis Comfort Tiffany Foundation for art students, giving it with his entire collection of paintings, glassware and other objects of art and endowing it with $1,000,000. He deeded his Oyster Bay home, Laurelton Hall, to the foundation.

Pioneer in Modernism.

Regarded as one of the earliest exponents of modernism in art, Tiffany's work several decades ago stirred much discussion in art circles.

His own town home and all of its furnishings, of his own design, anticipated by 20 years or so the trend in furnishings. There, he lived alone except for two servants and two nurses. He had been in failing health for some time and 10 days ago was stricken with pneumonia.

He was known in art centers the world over. He was a frequent visitor to the Orient and to Africa. Among his noted paintings are "Dock Scene," "Street Scene in Algiers," "Duane Street, in New York" and "Market Day in Nuremberg."

Designer of Mosaics.

He designed some of the earliest mosaics in glass, these becoming world renowned as "Tiffany favrile glass."

The excellence of this glass won immediate recognition and for this, in 1894, Tiffany was made a member of the Societe Nationale des Beaux Arts, of Paris.

The Tiffany Foundation permits 50 young artists to pass the summer months at Oyster Bay, with all expenses paid. A committee makes the selections, and the only restriction is that the artists paint from nature.

Tiffany was the son of Charles Lewis Tiffany, founder of the firm of jewelers, and Mrs. Harriet Olivia Young Tiffany.

In 1872, Tiffany married Miss Mary Woodbridge Goddard. She died in 1884. Two years later, he married Miss Louise Wakeman Knox, daughter of the Rev. J. H. Mason Knox, of Philadelphia. A son and four daughters survive.

Two Chapels of St. Louis Cathedral Decorated by Tiffany Mosaics.

4 TEXAS EX-GOVERNORS SNUB MRS. FERGUSON

Refuse, With Retiring Executive, to Take Part in Her Inauguration.

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 18. — Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson was inaugurated Governor of Texas for the second time yesterday, with the retiring executive, R. S. Sterling, and former Govs. O. B. Colquitt, Pat M. Neff, M. P. Hobby and Dan Moody refusing to take part in the ceremonies. It has been customary for ex-Governors to attend inaugurations, if possible.

Sterling's servants at the Executive Mansion did not follow the practice of preparing a meal for the incoming executive, and Mrs. Ferguson and her family were obliged to go to their old home for dinner. Sterling was defeated for renomination by Mrs. Ferguson in a bitter Democratic primary, which resulted in fraud charges on both sides.

By Mrs. Ferguson's side when she took the oath was her husband and adviser, former Gov. James E. Ferguson, enjoying another political triumph by proxy. Mrs. Ferguson, who served her first term as Governor in 1925-26, has been the officeholder of the family since Ferguson was impeached and removed from the governorship in his second term in 1917, and thus barred from ever again holding a State office of public trust.

A crowd that overflowed the Capitol attended the inauguration. Bands paraded over the wet pavements from morning until night.

In her inaugural address, Mrs. Ferguson declared "reduction of taxes must come, and come quickly, or the Government will fall, and fall quickly." She said the "burdens of government are falling heavily on the masses," and asked the co-operation of the Legislature in relieving conditions.

To the legislators she quoted what she termed "an old valentine verse" used by her husband in his inaugural address in 1914:

"If you love me as I love you," Nothing can cut our love in two."

ASTRONOMER KILLED BY AUTO

Prof. J. O. Stone, Retired, Is Victim; Brother of M. E. Stone.

By the Associated Press.

FAIRFAX, Va., Jan. 18.—J. Ormond Stone, 86 years old, a retired University of Virginia professor of astronomy, was killed outright near here yesterday when he was struck by an automobile.

Stone who was a brother of the late Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press for more than a quarter of a century, was hit by an automobile driven by John Howard of Clarendon, Va. Howard said Stone stepped from the side of the highway into the path of the car.

S. LIVINGSTON MATHER WED

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 18.—The marriage last summer of S. Livingston Mather, eldest son of the late Samuel Mather, steel magnate, to Alice N. Keith of Cleveland was announced yesterday by Mather.

The ceremony was not announced last summer, he said, because he wished personally to tell his two daughters, Flora and Elizabeth Mather, who were abroad at the time.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

THE engagement of Miss Dorothy Virginia Lewis, daughter of Mrs. Basil Gordon Rudd, 8040 Davis drive, and William Thomas Mellow, son of Thomas Mellow, 6633 Vermont avenue, was announced yesterday at a bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Rudd at their home for a small group of her daughter's friends. The wedding will take place in the late winter.

Miss Lewis was educated in Webster Groves schools and later studied art in Chicago while making her home with her grandmother, Mrs. Robert E. Berry. She is a granddaughter of the late Tom P. Barnett, well known architect and artist.

Mr. Mellow is an alumnus of Washington University, where he became a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is a member of the Missouri Athletic Association and the Sunset Hill Country and Century Boat Clubs. He makes his home with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Wesley Mellow, 70 Fair Oaks. He is a golf enthusiast and last year won the spring handicap championship of the Sunset Hill Country Club.

The luncheon guests were Mrs. George E. Mellow and Mrs. R. Wesley Mellow, sisters-in-law of the bridegroom-elect; Mrs. Harold C. Stiers, Mrs. Julian E. Sampson, Mrs. H. Pierce French, Miss Harriet Senter Jones, Miss Ruth Schulte and Mrs. John H. Becker.

Miss Hope Pangman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Pangman, 4654 Pershing avenue, will return home next week from Toronto where she has been visiting friends since Christmas week. Miss Pangman is the fiancee of E. Douglass Campbell of Toronto. The wedding is planned for April.

Mrs. John E. Ballard, 5388 Waterman avenue, will be hostess at a luncheon tomorrow in honor of Mrs. Ola W. Bell of Fort Bliss, Tex., who is being entertained in St. Louis for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank U. Hammett, 6331 Pershing avenue, are spending the late winter in Miami, Fla., where Mr. Hammett is recuperating from a recent illness. During their absence from St. Louis their daughter, Miss Marie Louise Hammett, is making her home with another daughter, Mrs. Truman E. Walker, formerly Miss Celeste Hammett, 7560 Byron place.

Mrs. George L. Ball of Webster Groves is expected home today from Memphis, Tenn., where she has been visiting her sister, Miss Frances Cole. Her daughter, Miss Marie Ball, who accompanied her South, has returned.

Mrs. Ley Peterson Rexford, 4757 Westminster place, is spending a week with friends in Chicago. She is expected home tomorrow night.

Mrs. Edwin P. Lehman of Charlottesville, Va., will arrive in about two weeks to visit her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marion L. Stuhl of the Kingsbury apartments.

The wedding of Miss Frances A. Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Rogers, 7180 Delmar boulevard, and Burt L. Fitzpatrick, son of Mrs. Joseph Fitzpatrick of East St. Louis, will take place tonight at 8 o'clock at Christ Church Cathedral. Dean Sidney E. Sweet will officiate in the presence of several hundred guests. A reception for about 75 guests will be held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony.

Miss Rogers will be given in marriage by her father and will be attended by Mrs. John J. Hallihan, as matron of honor and Mrs. Helen L. Bunch and Miss Ruth Fitzpatrick, as bridesmaids, all sisters of the bridegroom. Mr. Hallihan will be best man and John R. Wainman and Ward Burkhardt will be groomsmen. Raymond E. Reischel and Walter M. Hodder will serve as groomsmen.

The chancel of Christ Church Cathedral will be banked with palms and smilax interspersed by candelabra filled with ivory tapers. Easter lilies will adorn the altar.

The bride will wear a gown of white satin made simply with a deep. V neckline filled in with duchess lace. There are long mousquetaire sleeves and the skirt, molded to the figure, flares into a train. The veil of white tulle will be held in place by orange blossoms and she will carry a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The matron of honor will be gowned in beige lace designed with a short cape in lieu of sleeves and a skirt fitted to the knees and flaring to the floor. The bridesmaids will wear gowns of peach toned lace made with a deep V neckline at the back and abbreviated cape sleeves. The only trimming on the long fitted gowns is a large bow of brown velvet at the back at the normal waistline. The bride's attendants will wear brown velvet turbans with flared hairbraid trims. Their long gloves will be of a nude shade and their slippers will match their hats. They will carry talisman roses. Preceding the bride will be Lorran Chapin, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Chapin, who will wear a frock of pale green net. She will carry a basket of spring blossoms. Mrs. Rogers will wear a gown of Manila brown chiffon with a hat to match and a shoulder corsage of talisman roses and lilies of the valley.

The receiving party will stand in the living room before a bower of talisman and afterglow roses against greenery. The bridal table will have for its centerpiece a large wedding cake surrounded by white sweet peas, white snapdragon and lilies of the valley, and will be lighted by white tapers in silver candelabra. Pink roses will decorate the room.

On their return from the honeymoon, Mr. Fitzpatrick and his bride will live in Springfield, Ill.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Mrs. Hadley Richardson Hemingway, a former St. Louisan who has been living in Paris for several years, and Paul Scott Mowrer, newspaper correspondent and poet, now in Geneva. Mowrer is head of the European service of the Chicago Daily News.

The announcement was made by Mrs. Hemingway's brother-in-law and sister, Prof. and Mrs. Roland G. Usher, 5739 Cates avenue. The wedding will take place in Paris in a few days, and Mr. Mowrer and his bride will divide their time between Paris and Geneva, where he is covering the League of Nations sessions.

Mrs. Hemingway is the former wife of Ernest Hemingway, the novelist. She is a member of a prominent St. Louis family, and was educated at Mary Institute here, and at Bryn Mawr College. She has made several visits to St. Louis since she went abroad to live.

Mr. Mowrer was made war correspondent of the Chicago Daily News in 1910 and assigned to the allies' armies in the Balkan war of 1912-13. At the outbreak of the World War he organized and directed the war service of his newspaper in France, and was official correspondent of the French armies. In 1918 the Legion of Honor was awarded him. Following the close of the war he directed his newspaper's bureau at the Peace Conference of 1918-1919 and was special correspondent at the Conference on the Limitation of Armament in 1921 and war correspondent in the Moroccan campaigns in 1924 and 1925. He received the Pulitzer prize for the best foreign correspondence in 1928. Mr. Mowrer is a native of Bloomington, Ill., and is the author of several books of poems and works on international relations.

Mrs. Lewis Voight Jr., 5628 Clemens avenue, with her daughter, Miss Elaine Voight and her son, Lewis III, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William L. Voight in Cincinnati. They will return in a few days.

The Fontbonne Mothers' Club will give a card party at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the new cafeteria on the campus of Fontbonne College, Wydown and Big Bend boulevards. Mrs. Henry A. Kersting, 3877 Utah place, will be in charge.

RECREATION CENTER FOR ALTON JOBLESS

Free Amusement and Meals, but Not Designed for All Transients.

Alton's unemployed may lounge in easy chairs while listening to a radio at the Community Recreation Center there, or, in a room brightened with potted plants, may play a game of billiards.

There are cards and card tables for those who prefer them, horseshoe pitching courts and a wrestling mat for those in need of exercise. In a day or two a ping-pong table will be installed.

Breakfast and dinner are served without charge every day and there are shower baths for those who desire them. About all this poor man's club lacks is sleeping quarters, and these are not provided because the recreation center is intended for Alton's residents who have homes of some sort. Transients may spend a day at the center, but are encouraged to move on after that.

The recreation center, patronized each day by about 100 men, was established through the efforts of Alderman Hewitt E. Winkler and several of his friends. They obtained the use of a vacant automobile garage and show room at 500 Belle street and furnished it with donated materials. Everything in the building was donated except the stove. That was rented, and Winkler found a man who offered to pay the rent.

As soon as it was opened, about six weeks ago, Winkler found nearly everyone ready to donate something useful. A dairyman offered six gallons of milk a day, a tobacco dealer $60 worth of tobacco, a corn cob pipe manufacturer supplied pipes, butchers contributed as much as 20 pounds of meat a day. Gifts have been so abundant, Winkler says, that there has been no occasion yet to spend cash.

A volunteer staff of eight organizes activities at the center and the men who use its facilities help keep things in order. There is an employment bureau which has found a few temporary jobs for those in need and some contributions of clothing have been distributed.

Winkler, a building contractor, plans to keep the center open until March, at least.

G. E. COUDY'S FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for George E. Coudy, 67 years old, Granite City lumber merchant, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow afternoon from the First Presbyterian Church, Granite City. Burial will take place in Sunset Hill Cemetery. Mr. Coudy, who was one of the leading merchants and civic workers of Granite City, died of pneumonia yesterday at his home, 2055 Cleveland boulevard.

He was former president of the Granite City Chamber of Commerce and was donor of several two Ozark camp sites to Boy Scout troops and also a 20-acre site to the Cahokia Mound Council of the Boy Scouts, called Camp Coudy. He was president of Coudy Bros. Lumber Co. and the Mercantile Building and Loan Association.

Born in St. Louis, Mr. Coudy lost a leg and an arm in a railroad accident when a boy. He engaged in the cattle business in Southwest Missouri and moved to Madison, Ill., in 1888. He became the first postmaster of Madison and delivered mail despite his physical handicap.

His widow, a son, George W., and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Rainford of Grand Rapids, Mich., survive.

4,250,000 BOOKS CIRCULATED BY PUBLIC LIBRARY IN 1932

Number, Increase of 500,000 Over 1931, Is New Record; 2,377,250 Went to Adults.

More than 4,250,000 books were circulated by the Public Library during 1932, a new record. This is an increase of almost 500,000 over 1931. Of the total 2,377,250 were adult and 1,879,655 were children's books.

On Jan. 1 the registration department had 175,162 library cards, distributed as follows: Men 50,508, women 62,792, children 61,796, and institutions 66. New books added to the library during December totaled 3554.

Since 1929 the average increase in reading at the library has been 37 per cent.

The six most popular non-fiction books during the past month have been "A New Deal" by Stuart Chase; "What We Live By" by Abbe Ernest Dimnet; "The Flying Carpet" by Richard Halliburton; "More Merry-Go-Round," Anonymous; "Ozark Mountain Folk" by Vance Randolph, and "A Fortune to Share" by Vash Young.

CHARGES POLITICS HINDERS WORK OF FIRE DEPARTMENT

National Board of Fire Underwriters, in Report, Urges Adoption of Civil Service Regulations.

Politics in the promotion of Fire Department officers has kept the department from progressing, it is declared in a report today of the National Board of Fire Underwriters on fire prevention conditions.

"Promotion of officers to all grades," says the report, "is largely influenced by politics, and as a result of these causes the department has not progressed with the modern development of fire fighting and fire prevention. The department personnel is good and mainly young in average age, although a number of men are of an age justifying retirement."

The report calls attention to the fact that the Fire Chief and Deputy Chief are appointed by the Director of Public Safety, now E. A. Steininger, an appointee of the Mayor. These two officials may be demoted or removed by the director without cause. The chief appoints other officers and men. Frank A. De Voto, who became Fire Chief on July 16, "is well qualified for the position and has served in practically every branch of the department," the report says.

47 Recommendations Made.

One of 47 recommendations for better fire protection made in the report is for adoption of civil service regulations for the department, including provisions on tenure of office, removal only after trial on charges and suitable arrangements for appointments and promotions. Competitive examinations for prospective firemen by the Efficiency Board have been discontinued and applicants must pass only physical and elementary mental examinations, the report adds.

Among other recommendations are:

Addition of a ladder company at Engine House No. 37, 8300 North Broadway, and establishment of an engine company near Frisco and Ivanhoe avenues.

Removal of fire alarm headquarters from City Hall, where there are fire hazards, to a separate building, preferably in a park; in the meantime, safeguards at the present location.

Requirement of automatic sprinkler system in "all buildings which, by reason of their size, construction or occupancy, singly or combined, might act as conflagration breeders." Requirement of better fire protection in defectively built structures.

Changes in Alarm System.

Numerous detailed changes in the fire alarm system, including additional rearrangement of circuits.

Establishment of a Fire Prevention Bureau within the department, with permanent inspectors to inspect buildings four times a year for fire hazards.

Adoption of a definite program for replacement of old apparatus, with purchase of at least five engines and one ladder truck annually, with older apparatus kept in reserve for emergency use by off-shift firemen, making the men off duty subject to call.

Strengthening of the man power of fire companies. Increase of fire districts from 11 to 15, with provision for a district chief to be always on duty in each. Revision of the scheme of companies responding to alarms.

Provision for instruction of officers and candidates for promotion and training of drivers and operators of motor vehicles.

Annual testing of engines.

Strict enforcement of ordinances limiting automobile parking, forbidding motorists from following fire apparatus, and giving fire apparatus the right of way.

Various recommendations for improved water supply for fire fighting, and for assignment of a responsible Water Division official to respond to certain fire alarms.

Cites Traffic Congestion.

The report criticises some phases of Fire Department operation and praises others, and makes many suggestions concerning methods and additional details of apparatus. It says:

"Discipline is good. The printed book of rules is incomplete. The response to box alarms is excessive; that for telephone alarms is insufficient. Drill and training are only fair. Building inspections by company officers are only slightly effective. Alarm boxes are dingy and inconspicuous. A survey showed about 400 points in various sections where additional boxes are needed. Narrow streets and congestion of traffic during business hours offer serious obstructions to Fire Department operations.

"In much of the congested value district, weak construction, lacking in fire resistive features, creates a severe potential hazard and makes serious group fires probable, and in the eastern portion of the district such fires could readily cross one or more of the narrow streets and involve several blocks. A conflagration extending over a large part of the district is not probable. Serious individual to group fires are probable in the manufacturing and minor mercantile districts. In the residential districts the hazard is very low."

Gross fire loss here in the last five years is given in the report as $10,900,568, in 5889 fires. The number of fires in proportion to population is called very high, but the average loss of $370 a fire and the average annual per capita loss of $2.67 are called low.

ABOVE, SHERIFF ROY HOLLEY of Lake County, Indiana, who led a posse against a barricade set up by MIKE LANTARE, who tried to evade arrest for killing a neighbor. Holley was killed by Lantare, and Lantare is supposed to have killed himself. In all, three men are dead and six are wounded.

JAPAN DECLARES IT WILL NOT ALTER MANCHURIA POLICY

which produced two of the sharpest notes received in Tokio.

"We are hopeful, however, that, while the substance of the American policy will be unchanged, the manner of its presentation will be altered under Mr. Roosevelt and that irritations growing out of Washington's 'spur-of-the-moment' judgments will be removed. That will count for a great deal."

The two notes he referred to, the spokesman said, were those of the Wilson administration in 1915 and 1918 concerning Japanese Far Eastern activities.

Informal conversation showed that the Roosevelt pronouncement damaged hopes of some Japanese leaders that the new administration would adopt what they called "a more realistic and less academic" policy regarding Manchuria than had its predecessors.

COUNSEL IN SENATE STOCK MARKET INQUIRY RESIGNS

Irving Ben Cooper Says Senator Norbeck Denied Him a Free Hand.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Irving Ben Cooper has resigned as counsel to a Senate inquiry into stock market practices, but information from Washington today was that the inquiry would proceed.

In announcing his resignation last night, Cooper said Senator Peter G. Norbeck of South Dakota, chairman of the committee, had denied him a "free hand." Norbeck, in Washington, declared the senatorial power could not be delegated.

"The resignation is not important," Norbeck said. "The investigation will proceed."

Until yesterday Cooper apparently had been proceeding with the preparation of material for the inquiry, which was expected to go into the Kreuger & Toll and Insull bankruptcies. He was said also to be seeking information on large income tax evasions.

In his resignation, Cooper said that Norbeck, after agreeing to give him a free hand, had informed him that an agent of Norbeck was to be stationed in Cooper's office to direct the inquiry.

WEATHER BUREAU ELIMINATES STREET CORNER RECORDERS

Finds That Iron Frame of Kiosks Sends Temperaure Reading Too High.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A weagness for exaggeration has led to elimination of the Kiosks, the street corner weather recorders.

"Unreliable for scientific purposes," was the statement of Dr. B. C. Kadel, chief of the instrument division. The Weather Bureau set up Kiosks years ago in many cities. Kadel said that on still, warm days the castiron framework of the Washington Kiosk sent the temperature reading six or seven degrees above the official mark. Nearby trees and buildings interfered with accurate rainfall recording. So when the bureau looked for ways to economize it was decided the Kiosk should go.

NEW SECRETARY OF STATE OPPOSES 'ECONOMY' PLAN

Ready to Show Removal of Auto License Distribution From His Office Will Increase Cost.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 18.—The first indication of opposition to a particular part of Gov. Park's "economy" program has begun to develop. It will come from Secretary of State Dwight Brown, from whose office the Governor proposes to remove the distribution of automobile license plates.

Though Brown has refrained from any public criticism of the measure, employes of his office have begun compiling statistics in an effort to show that the Governor's plan will increase rather than decrease the expense of distribution of the plates.

The Governor said today that he would not hesitate to abandon the bill if investigation showed the proposed plan would not mean a saving to the State.

Economy Main Point.

"My chief interest in all these measures is to save money," the Governor said, "though, of course we should keep in mind efficiency of the services to the public. I take it that the present system is a very efficient one. In offering the new plan I was moved by the idea that it would not interfere with efficiency, and that it would save money.

"If it proves on investigation that there would be no saving, or it would cost more money, then, of course, I would not be interested in having it passed."

Under the present system the Secretary of State maintains about 45 branch distributing offices, chiefly conducted by Chambers of Commerce, garages chosen by the Secretary of State and banks. With the exception of the branch offices in St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph, where salaried employes are maintained, those operating the branch offices are paid 7 cents for each set of plates sold. The bill proposes that the county clerk in each county shall act as distributor for the plates and shall be paid 15 cents for each set sold, or more than twice the amount now paid.

It would mean a saving in the larger cities, where expensive offices are maintained, but, according to the opponents of the bill, it would mean an increase in expense of distribution through practically all the remainder of the State.

The records show that 717,603 plates were distributed in the first 11 months of 1932. Of these 148,784 were distributed by the St. Louis branch, 88,676 by the Kansas City branch and 18,321 by the St. Joseph branch. The remainder, 461,922 were either mailed from the main office in Jefferson City at an expense of 8 cents for postage, or were sold by local distributors at a cost of 7 cents.

Five bills to abolish the State Board of Agriculture, substitute for it a Commissioner of Agriculture, and consolidate under him all the State agricultural activities, except the College of Agriculture, were introduced in the Senate today by Senator Donnelly, majority floor leader.

The bills are a part of Gov. Park's economy program. These bills make a total of 42 so far introduced at the Governor's request. Others will be sent to the Legislature tomorrow.

BANK HOLIDAY PROCLAIMED BY MAYOR AT BONNE TERRE

One of Town's Two Depositories Closes; Other Has "Ample Cash on Hand."

By the Associated Press.

BONNE TERRE, Mo., Jan. 18.—Mayor E. H. Matkin today declared a 30-day bank holiday and the Peoples' Bank of Bonne Terre, taking advantage of the proclamation, did not open today. The Lead Belt Bank of Bonne Terre opened, however.

Mayor Matkin said he took the action because of the failure of two banks at Flat River and one at Desloge last week, and the unrest in St. Louis, following the closings of several smaller banks there.

The Lead Belt Bank officers said they would keep the bank open as it had "ample cash on hand to meet all possible demands."

The National Lead Co. recently announced it would cease operations in this county, because of low prices for lead and the poor quality of the remaining ore deposits here.

GRAND JURY VOTES NO BILL IN ILLEGAL OPERATION DEATH

The grand jury yesterday returned a no-true bill in the case of Mrs. Hulda Koch, 64 years old, midwife, who was charged with homicide in an inquest verdict in the death of Mrs. Loretta Foley, 27, 3607 Marcus avenue.

Mrs. Foley died Dec. 25 at City Hospital of perotonitis following an illegal operation. She made no deathbed statement.

Oil Drops in Mid-West Field.

TULSA, Ok., Jan. 18.—Oil dropped to a half-dollar top in the midcontinent field today. Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing Co. began paying 28 to 52 cents for Kansas, Oklahoma, North and North Central Texas oil with a 50-cent rate for East Texas crude. A statement by Stanolind said the action was due to "bootlegging of crude oil."

AGREEMENT ENDS $30,000,000 SUIT OVER RADIO PATENTS

Anti-Trust Action of Grigsby-Grunow Company Against R. C. A. and Affiliates Dismissed.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 18.—Settlement of the radio patent fight of the Grigsby-Grunow company of Chicago against the Radio Corporation of America and affiliated concerns was announced here yesterday with the dismissal of a $30,000,000 anti-trust suit.

All parties to the suit, brought in Federal Court in June, 1930, agreed to the dismissal.

The settlement was termed a "satisfactory conclusion" of the case at Chicago by B. J. Grigsby, president and chairman of the board of the Grigsby-Grunow company. "This action," he said, "marks the successful conclusion of the Grigsby-Grunow company's fight to obtain better terms and conditions for the radio industry in its operation under the patents of the Radio Corporation and its associated companies."

Grigsby said the Radio Corporation had modified its licenses to provide for opening the field of export, elimination of royalty on cabinets and shipping boxes and reduction by one-third of royalty on radio sets and tubes.

HEARING TONIGHT ON REPEAL OF LINDELL LINE RESTRICTIONS

Meeting at City Hall Called to Hear Arguments Against Change

The second public hearing on the ordinance for repeal of Lindell boulevard building line restrictions will be held by the Streets Committee of the Board of Aldermen at City Hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The hearing was called at the suggestion of the Council of Civic Needs, the Federation of Improvement societies and other groups, to hear arguments against the repeal. The Chamber of Commerce and the City Plan Commission oppose the repeal. Harland Bartholomew, engineer for the commission, has argued that removal of building line restrictions would result in another blighted area instead of the present "show street" leading to Forest Park.

Present ordinances require buildings to be 25 to 30 feet back of the street lines. Among those favoring the repeal are Jacob L. Babler, former Republican National Committeeman from Missouri, former Judge Conway Elder and other property-owners on Lindell.

MAN ARRESTED HERE INDICTED FOR BELLEVILLE BANK ROBBERY

Raymond O. Johnson Identified by Two Employes and Highway Patrolman.

An indictment charging Raymond O. Johnson, paroled convict, with robbery of the Belleville National Bank, was returned yesterday by the St. Clair County grand jury. The bank was robbed of $7875, Oct. 20, by two armed men who were aided in escape by two others. The others are being sought.

Johnson was arrested in St. Louis, Nov. 11, and identified by two employes of the bank and an Illinois State highway patrolman, who entered the bank during the holdup. Johnson, who is 29 years old, was paroled from the Nashville (Tenn.) penitentiary last September after serving part of a sentence for a bank robbery.

William Darville of East St. Louis also was charged in an indictment with the robbery of $116 from the Commonwealth Finance Co. of East St. Louis last July. He was arrested Oct. 24, when he again attempted to hold up the employes and was recognized.

NEW RECEIVERSHIP ACTION AGAINST CHRISTIAN HOSPITAL

Bondholder Alleges Default in Payments; Previous Petitioner Dismissed His Suit.

Another suit for a receiver was filed in Circuit Court yesterday against Christian Hospital, 4511 North Newstead avenue.

The petition was filed by Edward Snyder, holder of a $500 bond under a second deed of trust for $50,000 against the hospital property, who alleges that the hospital is $10,000 in default on payments of bonds which matured in October. He also says the trustees under the second deed of trust have been negligent in that they failed to take any action to protect the bondholders.

The suit was set for hearing before Judge Calhoun Jan. 26. A receivership petition filed by the holder of a $100 bond under a first deed of trust was dismissed by the petitioner Dec. 22.

STATE SENATE GETS PETITION AGAINST DRY LAW CHANGE

1000 Names on Papers Opposing Beer Bill Placed on File.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 18.—Petitions, containing more than 1000 signatures, opposing the beer bill and any amendment of the State prohibition enforcement act, were filed in the Senate today.

The petition from Green County contained 13 names, among them Mrs. Nelle G. Burger of Springfield, president of the State W. C. T. U.

Irish-American Club Officers.

Thomas F. Hayes was elected president of the Irish-American Democratic Club at its meeting last night at Emerald Hall, Taylor and Easton avenues. Other officers elected were Thomas K. Byrnes, vice-president; Theodore J. Boehler, treasurer; John M. Sullivan, secretary, and P. J. Hannon, sergeant-at-arms. The club indorsed Bernard F. Dickmann for the Democratic nomination for Mayor.

WOMAN INDICTED FOR KILLING MAN IN E. ST. LOUIS THEATER

Mrs. Inez Bernard Sought Since Dec. 18 When She Escaped from Hospital.

An indictment for murder was returned by the St. Clair County grand jury yesterday against Mrs. Inez Bernard of East St. Louis, who shot and fatally wounded Walter Sadoski in an East St. Louis theater last Sept. 7. Mrs. Bernard, who surrendered after the shooting and was taken to the St. Clair County Hospital when she became ill, has been sought by the police since Dec. 18, when she escaped from the hospital.

Mrs. Bernard had lived with Sadoski after divorcing her third husband in January, 1931, but he had cast her off several months before, she told police. The shooting occurred after Mrs. Bernard saw him go to the theater with another woman.

The indictment was one of 82 returned by the January grand jury, which reported yesterday to Circuit Judge Brown. There were 13 no true bills.

The jury reported it found the county jail and farm in good condition but added that "we find many complaints by inmates not receiving proper medical attention.' County Physician E. P. Stiehl said the criticism was a political charge. He is a Republican and his term expires in March.

CHARGES POLITICAL ACTIVITY BY STATE HIGHWAY EMPLOYES

Wright County Legislator Asks for Records of Workers During Primary Campaign.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 18. — Charges that employes of the Missouri State Highway Department actively campaigned for various candidates in the 1932 primary campaign were made by Representative Amos C. Roy (Dem.), Wright County, in introducing a resolution in the House today calling for a complete report by the department on its employes.

The resolution calls for the names of all its employes during June and July of 1932, their salaries, positions, political affiliations, home addresses and when they were employed. The resolution was referred to a committee.

Roy asserted various employes of the department had been active in his country for various candidates whom he did not name.

ITALY SOON TO DENOUNCE RUSSIAN COMMERCIAL PACT

Dissatisfaction With Trade Balance Cause; Diplomatic Relations to Continue.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Jan. 18.—The commercial treaty of 1924 between Italy and Soviet Russia, the only document under which Italy formally recognized the Soviet Government, will be denounced by this country on Feb. 7 or before that time. This does not mean a break in diplomations relations, which will continue as at present. The denunciation is a result of Italy's dissatisfaction with the existing balance of trade which is heavily in Russia's favor.

The treaty expires Aug. 7 and six months' notice in advance is required for withdrawal by either Government. ASoviet trade delegation has been here for two weeks conferring with Italian experts.

GOV. HORNER CUTS THE SIZE OF STATE TAX COMMISSION

Reduces It to Three Members, Headed by Scott Lucas; to Slash Other Boards.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 18.—Gov. Henry Horner today acted on his campaign promise to reduce the size of the State commissions and boards. He named a Tax Commission of three members, instead of five, and declared he would cut the Illinois Commerce Commission from seven to five and make a similar reduction in the Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Scott Lucas of Havana was named chairman of the Tax Commission, and Prof. Simeon Leland of the University of Chicago and Barnet Hodes, Chicago Alderman, were named members.

Minister to Czecho-Slovakia.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Henry Frank Holthusen, New York lawyer, was named yesterday by President Hoover to be Minister to Czecho-Slovakia. Holthusen was associated before the war with the law firm of Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft. Entering the army as a Lieutenant, he was promoted to the rank of Major. After the Armistice he was Judge Advocate of Maritime Affairs at New York and Hampton Roads, Va.

Bar Group Picks Grand Rapids.

By the Associated Press.

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 18.—The Executive Committee of the American Bar Association has announced Grand Rapids, Mich., as the city where the 1933 convention will be held in August.

BIDS FOR WRECKING OF 4 OF 6 BUILDINGS STILL ON PLAZA SITE

Demolition to Begin at Once; City Lodging House to Stay Until Spring.

Bids for immediate wrecking of four of the six buildings remaining on the Memorial Plaza site were received today by Assistant Comptroller Cunningham. The successful or high bid for tearing down the largest building, formerly a factory of the Herkert & Meisel Trunk Co., was by the Drake Wrecking & Construction Co., 4420 Clarence avenue. It will pay $1221 for the privilege of salvaging the materials. This structure, of six stories, is at the southeast corner of Thirteenth and Chestnut streets.

High bids for the other three jobs were by Leo Schettle, 2301 South Eighteenth street. They are a four-story structure at 1215-17 Chestnut, formerly occupied by the Talbot Manufacturing Co.; a storage garage at the southwest corner of Twelfth boulevard and Chestnut, and a small confectionery at the northwest corner of Twelfth and Market street. Schettle will pay $300, $175 and $35, respectively, for these buildings.

A four-story building at 1317 Pine street, occupied by John Boyle & Co., is to be vacated for wrecking in about two weeks. The only other structure remaining on the plaza site is the Municipal Lodging House, northeast corner of Fourteenth and Pine streets, which will be kept at least until Auril. Several parking lots and filling stations are being permitted to continue renting plaza property until the plaza is developed.

CONTRACTOR AND SISTER KILLED IN AUTO COLLISION

Joseph P. and Margaret Rowan Fatally Injured on Way to Funeral of Bishop Gilfillan at St. Joseph.

CAR CRASHES INTO TRUCK ON HIGHWAY

Rowan Once a Star Athlete —Sister Treasurer of Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women.

While on their way to attend the funeral of Bishop Francis Gilfillan at St. Joseph, Mo., Joseph P. Rowan and his sister, Miss Margaret Rowan, were killed when their automobile crashed into a transfer truck on Highway No. 61, about 10 miles south of Bowling Green, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Rowan, 36 years old and unmarried, was head of P. Rowan & Sons Plastering Co., with offices in the Chemical Building. Miss Rowan, 45, was treasurer of the St. Louis Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women. Both resided at 5397 Waterman avenue with their widowed mother, Mrs. Ellen K. Rowan.

The crash occurred near the foot of a hill. Mrs. Micabeth McMillan, an eye witness, reported that the Rowan machine, traveling at high speed, swerved off the concrete, then swung sharply across the road as Rowan sought to regain control and crashed into the truck, which was being driven in the opposite direction.

Rowan and his sister were thrown through the windshield of their automobile, which was demolished. They were dead when picked up by the truck driver, W. M. Boyd of Milan, Mo., and his helper, Clyde Caskatt. The bodies were taken to Bowling Green, where a Coroner's verdict of accident was returned last night.

Miss Rowan, active in Catholic charities, was elected treasurer of the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women last May. Surviving are the mother; three brothers, Frank, William and John W. Rowan, and three sisters, Mrs. L. L. Prince of Montgomery, Ala., and the Misses Helen and Cecilia Rowan of the Waterman avenue address.

Joseph Rowan was a star athlete at Central High School about 20 years ago. He was pitcher on the baseball team, and also played football.

Bishop Gilfillan formerly was pastor of the New Cathedral parish. His funeral was held this morning.

Man Hit by Auto Monday Dies of Injuries.

John Colombo, 54, laborer, died at City Hospital yesterday of a fractured skull suffered when struck by an automobile at Kingshighway and Shaw boulevard Monday morning.

Joseph Reith, 3517A Louisiana avenue, told police Colombo ran against the side of his automobile in getting out of the way of another automobile. Mrs. Reith, riding with her husband, said it appeared to her that the other machine struck the man, knocking him against their car. Colombo was unable to make a statement. He lived at 5117 Pattison avenue. A Coroner's open verdict was returned today.

Henry Steinmeyer, 69, a salesman, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and a spinal injury when struck by a fire department pumper at Broadway and Lucas avenue at 6 o'clock last night. He lives at 3813 South Broadway. Several pieces of apparatus were on the way to a fire at Sigoloff Bros. Electric Fixture Co., 711 North Sixth street. Steinmeyer stepped into the street to watch the trucks pass and was knocked to the pavement by a tool box protruding from the side of a pumper driven west in Lucas avenue from No. 2 engine house at 508 North Third street. The fire, of undetermined origin, caused $2000 damage.

Harry Jansen Jr., 10, suffered a fractured arm and severe cuts of the head when struck by an automobile at Gravois avenue and Arsenal street this morning.

The boy was on his way from his home, 3135 Pennsylvania avenue, to Grant School and was crossing Gravois with other children when he ran against the side of an automobile driven by William Kaeling, a merchant, of 1926 South Ninth street. Members of the School Boy Patrol stationed at the crossing said the driver disregarded a traffic signal.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Stanislaus Patek, new Polish Ambassador succeeding Tytus Filipowicz, presented his credentials to President Hoover at the White House yesterday and was formally accepted as a member of the diplomatic corps.

AUTO CRASH VICTIM

MISS MARGARET ROWAN.

DIES WHEN RIDING IN AUTO

Chauffeur Stricken in Car Being Driven by His Wife.

Walter Ruppert, 35-year-old chauffeur, 1307 Wyoming street, died suddenly of heart disease when on his way home in an automobile driven by his wife at 6:20 o'clock last night.

Mrs. Ruppert called for her husband at Hotel Chase Garage and was driving in the 4600 block of Lindell boulevard when he called to her to stop, saying he was ill. As she pulled up to the curb he opened the door and fell out. He was pronounced dead at City Hospital.

CHARGES OF ARSON AND BURGLARY DISMISSED

Mike Schwartz Had Been Accused With Jack Gerber, Who Gets Two Years.

Charges of arson and burglary against Mike Schwartz, 1932 Burd avenue, were dismissed in Circuit Court yesterday because of insufficient evidence.

Schwartz was indicted with Jack Gerber, 735 Westgate avenue, University City, who was sentenced yesterday to two years in the penitentiary when he pleaded guilty to the charges.

Gerber admitted that he removed articles from the home of Harry Kabac, 1382A Clara avenue, on the night of May 7, last, and then set fire to the place, causing $2500 damage. Kabac and his family were away from home.

JURY OUT; $155,000 DAMAGE SUIT IS SETTLED FOR $5000

While a jury in Federal Judge Faris' court was spending its second day trying to decide the suit of Mrs. Noera Jones of Monroe, La., against the Auburn Automobile Co. of Indiana for $155,000 damages arising from an automobile accident in which her husband was killed and she was injured, attorneys settled the case for $5000 and the jury was discharged. Members of the panel said they could not agree and stood eight to four for the defendant.

Jones, an automobile dealer, was killed when his automobile ran from a highway near Monroe into a ditch. After the accident it was learned that the spokes of one wheel had broken. It was contended in the trial that this wheel was defective and that the breaking of the spokes caused the accident. Mrs. Jones was not seriously hurt.

Summary: Score at end of half—St. Louis 15, Washington 10. Time of periods—20 minutes. Referee—Quigley (St. Mary's).

By James M. Gould.

Displaying more steadiness, stamina and accuracy in shooting, the St. Louis U. Billikens last night defeated the Washington U. Bears, 26 to 15, in the first of the series for the city collegiate basketball championship. The game, played at the Billikens' gymnasium, was witnessed by 2500 persons, the largest crowd of the season.

Those who saw the contest were well repaid, for there were thrills a-plenty, with the hard, clean fighting which always marks a meeting between these two traditional rivals. The teams had an equal number of shot opportunities, the Billikens having 54 to 53 for the Bears. But the St. Louis five caged seven of those shots in the first half to four for the Bears and, in the second period, sank four while the Bears were caging only one. Washington made good on five free throws and the Billikens on four.

Grandone of St. Louis, with 11 points on four baskets and three free throws, was high scorer for the night, Capt. Graves, with nine points on three baskets and as many free throws, leading Washington.

It was Grandone who opened the scoring with a basket from his own center position, unassisted, in the first minute. A free throw by Moller and a clever basket by Hower put the Bears a point ahead, but Grandone evened it with a free throw. Graves caged one for Washington but it was again tied by Grandone on a shot from center after a run down the court. With the score 5-5 after eight minutes of play, Charley Dirksen, the Billiken forward, counted two baskets in quick succession and the Billikens were out in front, never again to be tied. Graves counted two more baskets and a free throw before the half was over but these points were nullified by boals by Grandone, Dirksen and Gorman, the half ending with the Billikens leading, 15 to 10.

Washington started fast in the second half. Graves scored two free throws and Mautz shot a basket to make the score 15-14. Here, however, the Billikens showed reserve power by scoring eight points quickly while holding the Bears scoreless. This gave them a 23-14 advantage which was increased to the final score on points by Flannigan and Cochran, Wise ending the Washington scoring with a free throw.

The next game in the championship series will be played at the Washington Field House, Feb. 28.

With three minutes to go, Coach Nyikos of St. Louis sent in a whole new and fresh team. The reserves consisted of Wynn, Shea, Hoffman, Flannery and Cody. Cochran, Dirksen, Grandone and Flannigan had played the entire game up to this point.

Hower of Washington was the only player to "go out" on four personal fouls. Guarding of both teams was very close. There wasn't the slightest suspicion of "unclean" play.

A series of four games has been arranged between freshman teams of the two universities. The games, to be played as preliminaries to varsity contests are scheduled for Feb. 11 and Feb. 18 at St. Louis and for Feb. 13 and Feb. 24 at Washington.

In a preliminary game last night the St. Louis Freshmen defeated the De Molay Sentinels, in a nicely-played game, 31 to 29.

"A MAN MUST FIGHT"

by GENE TUNNEY

Offered a Star Bout for Debut as Professional, Gene Refuses It, but Is Induced to Box in "Fire Trap."

SYNOPSIS

The author has sketched his boyhood days, when the Hudson River was his swimmin' hole, enlivened often with impromptu scraps, until he left school at 15 to become a $5-a-week office boy. His first ring idol was Jack Goodman, New York's famed West Side lightweight of two decades ago. Two Willies—Ward and Green—help Gene in his fistic infancy. Boxes at his first smoker for the K. of C. His ginger ale-and-sandwich fighting days.

CHAPTER FOUR.

WILLIE GREEN, discovering a comeback not at all to his liking, accepted a position as boxing and games instructor at the Greenwich Settlement House, on Jones Street. Finding it impossible to get a workout from any of his pupils, he invited me to come down and box with him on the night he was free from classes—Saturday. I accepted his invitation and, at the beginning, boxed three rounds with him.

As the weeks passed we gradually increased our matches up to ten rounds. My steady Saturday night engagement for two years, with hardly an exception, was boxing ten rounds with Green in a little room in the Greenwich Settlement House. Green was a resourceful, skillful, hard-hitting lightweight. He had a splendid knack of delivering short, hard blows. I learned during those two years how to slip and knock down leads, counter with lefts or rights, feint, side-step, avoid being hit unnecessarily, how to conserve my energy and time my attacks.

At the beginning the Villagers used to say, "Let's go down and see Willie Green make a punching bag of Gene Tunney." Much time passed and considerable patience was exercised during this period. The boys eventually were saying, "Let's go down and see Willie Green and Gene Tunney box." This early boxing with this hard-hitting, dangerous fellow made a careful boxer of me. This cautiousness always remained a part of my boxing technique.

Student of Technique.

On nights other than Saturday, I was over at Public School 41 with the boys of the athletic club, either running up Fifth Avenue, playing basketball, soccer, indoor baseball or boxing with my team mates. Frequently we mixed the evening and did several things.

After starting boxing with Willie Green, I became greatly interested in technique, and at the recreation center I used to watch the boys from the side-lines studying their defense and methods of delivery. I noticed when leading a left they could be countered with a left; when using a right, they could be hit with a right. I also noticed that they knew no more about infighting then they did about body attack. I began developing ideas about offense and defense.

I quietly studied each department and practiced what I thought helpful. At the end of two years, I had improved so that when boxing with Willie Green he would occasionally say, "Don't cross your right so hard." Oftentimes in desperate efforts to hit me, he would fall flat on his face, finding only air the target of his well-intended blows. Willie eventually refused to put the gloves on with me at all.

However, during this period of development, Willie Green became very proud of his pupil. He thought that he ought to exhibit him. I had great confidence and respect for Green and believed he could do no wrong. As fighters went, Green was rather intelligent. This made his influence over me doubly strong.

I had secured quite a local reputation through the various smokers I attended. This, and the fact that I was accepted as the best boxer in Greenwich Village, brought me to the attention of Billy Jacobs, who was matchmaker of the Sharkey Athletic Club, immortalized by George Bellows' lithograph, "A Stag at Sharkey's." Accordingly, Jacobs came to me with an overture to box at the Sharkey Athletic Club.

Gene, at 17, a promising lightweight among Gotham's club fighters, 1915-16.

Headliner for Pro Debut.

He said, "Gene, I will put you in a star bout. No fighter that I have ever known has been given a star bout for his first professional fight."

Though this was a very flattering offer, the consciousness of my security with two jobs overcame vanity.

"I said to Jacobs, "Why should I box professionally? I have two positions, both of which are paying me fairly well."

By this time, I had gotten another position. I was still with the steamship company, where I had advanced to the "important" and "responsible" position of rate clerk. The second job was that of athletic instructor and club organizer at Public School 41, for which my development in general athletics and boxing had qualified me. Curiously enough, I was recommended for this position by Dudley Field Malone's sister, Mae, who was a representative of the Board of Education at Public School 41. She had made me the junior chairman of the board of governors two years earlier. The board of governors decided what the activities would be in the absence of the chairman. I presided. It seemed to me that the chairman had a knack of always finding an appointment elsewhere on the night of these board meetings. However, I was later rewarded for the time spent in this way by receiving the position mentioned above.

At my rebuff, Jacobs, not being altogether discouraged, turned to Green and another friend, Eddie O'Brien.

Eddie O'Brien was one of those old-fashioned saloon-keepers who never let a drop of alcohol pass his lips. Though he sold many thousands of gallons in the liquor business, all he ever did was smell it and sell it. Eddie was the father of several children about my age. A son, Edward Jr., was in my class in St. Veronica's School for several years. "Old Eddie," as we called him, to differentiate him from his son, had an ardent, fatherly interest in me.

Persuaded to Accept Bout.

Eddie knew a great deal about prize fighting, having been for many years a member of the Avonia Athletic Club, which turned out some great fighters—Jack Goodman, Harry Schumacher, Tommy Maloney, Kid Black and others. All the Walker boys—Jimmy, former Mayor of New York, Dr. William and George—were members of the Avonia Athletic Club.

Eddie was confident that I was a great fighter. He used to say in those early days: "Gene, you are the greatest fighter I ever seen."

Jacobs' appeal to Green and O'Brien was heard by eager and enthusiastic ears. The idea of a star bout and the consequent reflection of glory that would be theirs convinced them they should persuade me to accept the match. O'Brien put it to me in this manner: "There ain't no fellow ever produced in this city ever had such an offer, and you can lick anybody they throw into the ring with you." Green being very anxious to show his boxer-making ability added his reasons why I should grab the opportunity offered by Jacobs.

They finally induced me to accept the match. I lay awake most of the night anticipating injuries to be sustained and regretting my decision.

The evening of the match came around all too soon, and I found myself sharing a dressing-room with K. O. Eggers in the dingy Sharkey Athletic Club. This club was nothing more than a loft, with tiers of wooden benches to the ceiling, in an old building on Lincoln Square. It was an absolute firetrap. How they got permission from the fire department to hold matches in it is still a mystery.

Upon my being introduced to K. O. Eggers by Billy Jacobs, who is not to be confused with the present manager of Max Schmeling, Eggers said, "This Bobby Dawson is a tough fellow, but not clever. I boxed him four years ago and gave him an awful beating for 10 rounds. You won't have any trouble with him. Don't be afraid of him."

This knowledge, though given in the best of faith, did not add to my confidence. I weighed for this match about 140 pounds and was just 18.

Tunney, in the next chapter, will take you into the dressing rooms and rings of the tough old Sharkey and Fairmount athletic clubs where other youthful rib-crackers punched each other for pittances.

Bowling Notes

The Schweiglers went into first place in the Cinderella Scratch League last night, winning three games from the Rich five while the Cinderellas were losing one game to the Weicks. The Kuglers won the odd game from the Stones and the Falstaffs made a clean sweep of their series with the Witters. High scorers were Al Ahrens, Schweiglers, 711; C. Boehm, Stones, 651; Bud Folkerth, Schweiglers, 632; Al Neidel, Kuglers, 625; Henry W. Frengler, Cindrellas, 623; George Bobmeyer, Weicks, 617; Ollie Webber, Falstaffs, 615, and Walter Kerr, Kuglers, 612.

Ahrens in compling his 711 total, opened with a 290 game and then rolled 220 and 201.

Miss C. Jeffs was the high scorer in the Cindrella Ladies' League, rolling 562 while her team, the Hat Marts was losing two games to the Hiawathas. Mrs. H. Kropf had a high single game of 225 and a 545 total for the Hiawathas. Miss L. Langbeen paced the Kriwaneks with 559, the team winning two from the Wacker-Helderles. The Kriwaneks totaled 2595 for their three games and had one single game of 920. The Cherokee Banks won two from the Klems. Miss R. Rotermund pacing the winners with 555. Miss M. Keating topped the Muellers with 555 as they took three games from the South Side Leaders, the league leaders. Miss C. Fel Dotto with 510 and Miss Lee Chase with 511, paced the losers.

Frank Fiala was the high scorer in the Cindrella Scratch League, with 660, but his team, the Russels lost three to the Spuds. C. Walz with 622 and Al. Neidel with 617 paced the Spuds. George Bobmeyer of the Harsticks rolled 619 and George Frank, 604 for the Schadys.

Downtown Y Wrestlers Win.

The Downtown Y. M. C. A. wrestling taem defeated the Y. M. H. A. in a dual meet last night at the Y. M. H. A., 21 points to 19. Nine matches were on the program.

FOUR QUINTETS TIED FOR LEAD ON EAST SIDE

Four East Side high school basketball quintets are tied for first place in the Southwestern Illinois Conference race after last night's games. In the feature of the four-game card the Edwardsville team defeated the East St. Louis High five 23 to 20, at East St. Louis. This was a surprice to followers of the circuit, as the East St. Louisans were rated very strong, having won three consecutive conference starts, and seemed well on the way to the conference championship.

In the other three games the Collinsville team moved into the tie for first place by virtue of trouncing Madison, 37 to 12, while Alton surprised Granite City by winning, 27 to 13. Alton also moved into the first position tie by its victory. Belleville pulled away from a tie score count at the half to win over the Wood River team in convincing fashion, 40 to 26.

Wins in Final Minutes.

In the game between East St. Louis and Edwardsville the winner was in doubt until the last two minutes of play when Edwardsville scored three field goals in quick succession to make the count 23 to 18. East St. Louis on the next tip-off scored a field goal to end the scoring in the contest and from then on Edwardsville kept possession of the ball. Barton, who played his last contest for Edwardsville, collected four field goals for high point honors.

Alton's victory over Granite City was also unexpected and credit for the victory goes to Eugene Campbell, who led his team in scoring with 11 points. Collinsville had little or no trouble in defeating Madison as Pointer and Musso ran up a total of 24 points between them. the former getting 13 and the latter 11. Musso is now in the lead for high point honors in the conference.

Three Games Friday.

Three conference contests will be played Friday night, as the Edwardsville and Wood River contest was postponed because of the graduation exercises until Feb. 22. East St. Louis will be the guests of Belleville, while Madison will be at Granite City and Alton will entertain Collinsville.

Conference standings, including last night's games, follow:

Team.	Won	Lost	Pct.
East St. Louis	3	1	.775
Edwardsville	3	1	.775

I SEE Bambino has returned
His unsigned contract which was spurned
As per an ancient custom.
But soon his pen in hand he'll take,
And come to terms with Col. Jake—
For that the fans can trust 'em.

It being understood, of course,
The ballyhoo must spend its force
Before the deal's completed.
With them it has become a rite,
And so the yearly contract fight
They'll wage in manner heated.

Of course the Babe will shortly sign
His name upon the dotted line
At quite a noble figure.
For sixty-five or sixty grand,
Upon the pellet Babe will land
With all his old-time vigor.

Too Bad.

After he signs his baseball contract, Babe may be called upon to take a cut in his testimonials. Imagine that!

Lou Gehrig will eventually step into Babe's shoes, but not his salary. When Babe goes out, it will be back to normalcy for the payroll.

COCHRAN MAKES GOOD START IN THREE-CUSHION BILLIARD PLAY

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Welker Cochran of Hollywood, Cal., today was off to an impressive start in his first attempt to win the world three-cushion billiards title, but things didn't look so good for some of the other favorites.

Cochran, famous at balkline for many years, won his first match in world competition at the [illegible] game last night, defeating Len Hall of Chicago, 50 to 49, in 52 innings. Two former champions, Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia and Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, who expected to make a fight of it for the title, lost their opening matches.

Tiff Denton of Kansas City, who didn't get very far in last year's tournament, rallied to defeat Reiselt, 50 to 39, in 40 innings, and J. N. Bozeman Jr. of Vallejo, Cal., the youngest contestant in the tournament, staged a comeback in the late frames to defeat Thurnblad, 50 to 37, in 71 innings of long drawn out play.

Clarence Jackson, Canadian veteran, who defeated Augie Kieckhefer, the defending champion, in the opening match of the tournament, had Thurnblad for his second opponent in the first match on today's schedule.

They were to be followed by Johnny Layton, the Sedalia, Mo., redhead, and Frank Scoville of Buffalo, N. Y., each playing his first matches of the meet. The match was expected to develop into a bitter tussle, Scoville having had the edge over Layton in previous tournaments, regardless of the final standing.

Kieckhefer will start his comeback task tonight against Denton, who apparently is playing better than in recent campaigns of his long career.

RALPH LEONARD WINS PRIZE FOR PICKING ALL-STAR PIN TEAM

Ralph Leonard, 22 years old, of 4117 Kossuth avenue, won the contest for the selection of an all-star bowling team to oppose the Herrmann team in a special match at the Rogers Recreation alleys next Sunday and the following Sunday.

Leonard was the only one of approximately 800 contestants to name the first and second teams exactly as they were chosen by a committee of newspaper men and bowling authorities.

The two teams and the order in which they were selected by Leonard and the committee are: First team—Ben Cohen, Jim Wilson, Ervin Brunsmann, Frank Kastner and Otto Stein. Second team—Chris Sottrell, Fred Taff, Harold Schaefer, Roy Nelson and Lee Martin.

The committee selecting the teams chose the second squad to act as alternates for the members of the first team and designated the order in which they would be called in the event replacements on the first squad are necessary as follows: Nelson, Martin, Sottrell, Schaefer and Taff.

It is expected the first team selected will roll a few games in practice together before meeting the Herrmanns in the first block of the match at 8 o'clock next Sunday at Rogers.

A. A. Signs Umpire.

MAX BAER RATED BEST PROSPECT IN HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS BY 'RING'

Boxing Prospects

The annual list of eight who showed the most promise for the future are:

1. Max Baer, heavyweight.
2. Adolph Heuser, light heavyweight.
3. Frank Battaglia, middleweight.
4. Lou Brouillard, welterweight
5. Barney Ross, lightweight.
6. Baby Arizmendi, featherweight.
7. Speedy Dado, bantamweight.
8. Little Pancho, flyweight.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The seventh annual ranking of the world's professional boxers by The Ring, boxing magazine, revives today the arguments over the respective fighting abilities of Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling, and their two fights for the heavyweight championship.

In contrast to the top ranking given Schmeling by the New York Sun in its annual rating, the only other boxing appraisal published yearly, The Ring, in its copyrighted article, hails Sharkey above the Teuton challenger, who won the title on a foul and then lost it again on a close 15-round decision last summer.

Splitting the various divisions into groups, and rating boxers in each group, The Ring placed Sharkey and Schmeling alone at the top of the heavyweight list, with the Boston champion slightly favored by the 142 experts who sided in the selections.

Max Baer, the Livermore (Cal.) walloper, who tackles Schmeling under the promotion of Jack Dempsey this June, heads group two, with Stanley Poreda of Jersey City, second, and the man who knocked him out two weeks ago, Ernie Schaaf, third. Primo Carnera brings up the rear of group two.

Rosenbloom on Top.

Some of these rating, like that of Poreda and Schaaf, may be changed by events of the near future. Schaaf, partly owned by Sharkey, meets Carnera Feb. 10, in Madison Square Garden for the right to meet his patron in a title match in June.

Taking in the entire boxing field, here and abroad, the magazine places Maxey Rosenbloom alone in group one at the top of the light heavyweights; Marcel Thil, of France, off by himself at the top of the middleweight class; Tony Canzoneri in a class by himself, as a lightweight; and Panama Al Brown in a group of one among the bantamweights.

Jackie Fields has three companions in the first group of welterweights, although he heads the class with Young Corbett, of San Francisco second; Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver Irishman third; and Billy Petrolle, the ancient "Fargo Express" fourth. Kid Chocolate, best of the featherweights, is rated above Fidel La Barba in the first group and Midget Wolgast, of Philadelphia, heads the flyweights with Jackie Brown of Manchester, England, alone challenging him in the first group.

Each of the top listed warriors in the eight divisions either is recognized generally as champion or has a major claim to a title.

Battaglia Leads Jeby.

Strangely enough, Ben Jeby, New York middleweight who knocked out Frank Battaglia, of Winnipeg, for New York recognition as middleweight champion last Friday night, is rated fifth in the second middleweight bracket, while Battaglia stands at the top of the second group.

Adolf Heuser, of Germany, tops the second group of light heavyweights: Johnny Jadick, of Philadelphia, the second class of lightweights; Baby Arizmendi, of Mexico, the second flight of featherweights; Speedy Dado, of Los Angeles, the runners up in the bantamweight class, and Mickey McGuire, of England, the second class of flyweights.

Tony Canzoneri, generally considered the best fighting man in the world today for his weight and inches, is recognized as the boxer "who did most for the sport in 1932."

Skating Races Tonight.

The second series of indoor races which will be the final series to decide the St. Louis indoor speed skating championships will get under way tonight at the Winter Garden. The three classes of senior men will skate over the 220-yard course beginning at 10:30. Friday at the same hour the three classes of girls will race the same distances.

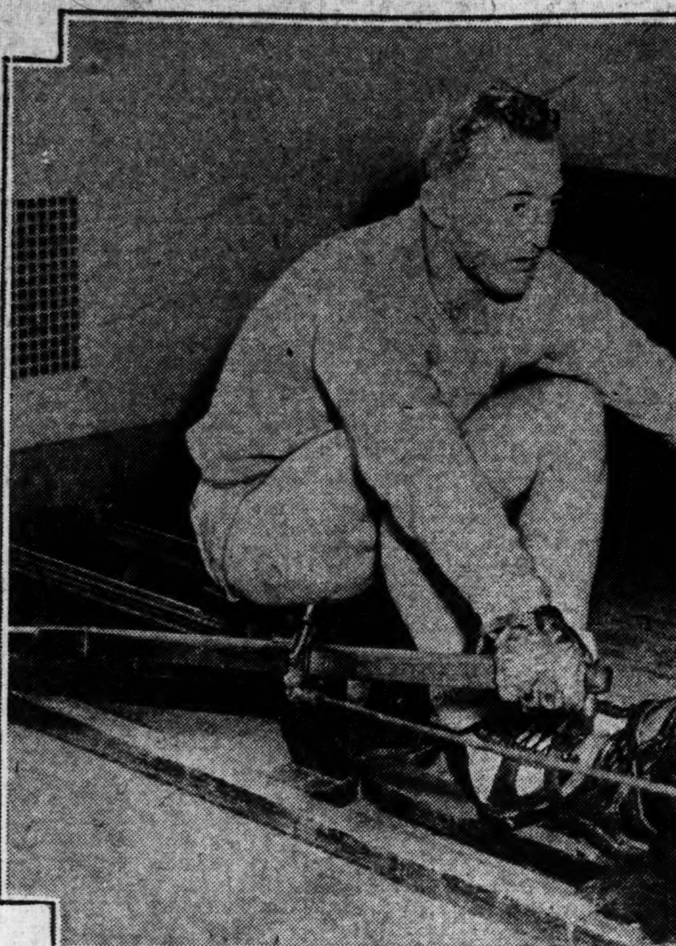
It's a Hard Pull to Come Back, But He'll Make It



Frankie Frisch, who had an indifferent season in 1932, for the first time since his connection with the Cardinals, is getting an early start toward "coming back" by working out daily in the gymnasium. Hornsby, another candidate for second base, has been tuning up in St. Louis for more than a month.

Tonight's the Night, Londos And Everette Marshall the Headliners—At the Arena

By Damon Kerby.

Jimmy Londos, with his repertoire of holds and grimaces so dear to the hearts of the wrestling addicts, will defend his National Wrestling Association title here tonight against the robust Everette Marshall of La Junta, Colo., in a one-fall match at The Arena.

The event has one distinction in that Londos has not met Marshall previously. Otherwise it shapes up as the usual "championship" wrestling match. Londos arrived on the scene three or four days ago, and tomorrow night his schedule calls for his appearance against Joe Stecher, in Chicago.

Marshall, too, has his schedule for the immediate future drawn up. He has a match scheduled at Kansas City Jan. 30, and other "tentative" dates lined up in the mid-west. Billy Sandow, his manager plans to depart after tonight's bout for the West Coast where he will join Mrs. Sandow and Mrs. Marshall, who left St. Louis last week.

All in all Ambrose, it looks as though the title won't change hands.

You'll See His Repertoire.

But that is not to say there won't be lots of pyrotechnics. In fact, one might go so far as to say that Londos will come very, very close to losing his title, and even though he doesn't the addicts will have had the pleasure of watching him use his dreaded "unconscious hold," "Japanese toe-hold and leg lock," "airplane spin," not to mention the monkey act in the ropes. That scene is always very effective.

Marshall, with Sandow shouting directions from his corner, may be expected to wage a vigorous battle. He will make almost every possible effort to clamp on those devastating headlocks, or perhaps one of those "airplane spins," with which he is also proficient. Perhaps, yes, quite likely, he will almost succeed in his purpose. But he may strike his head on the canvas and stun himself for a moment, and if he does, Londos may be depended upon to take quick advantage of the opportunity, as he did in Cleveland 10 days ago when wrestling Jim McMillen.

Quoting a Cleveland paper: "The end came in dramatic fashion when McMillen was on the bottom of a back body drop. Big Jim's head thudded against the ring covering as his entire weight tipped on his top-piece. Londos reeled to his feet, staggered to McMillen and sprawled on him for Referee Ernie Maddock's welcome backslap."

What a match! What a match!

Londos' 13th Title Defense.

Tonight's bout will be Londos' thirteenth appearance in St. Louis since he won the N. W. A. title in June of 1930. "Contenders" who passed in parade against him here were Hans Kampfer (three times), Pat O'Shocker (two times), Jim Clinkstock, Rudy Dusek, Milo Steinborn, Ray Steele, Karl Pojello, Gino Garibaldi and Earl McCready. Remember?

And now comes Marshall, who, it is expected, will go the way of all wrestling flesh—when opposing Londos.

McMillen will meet Ernie Dusek, Londos' opponent last Friday night in Philadelphia, in the semifinal. A draw would not be too much to expect of this one.

Ernest "Dutch" Hefner and Joe Savoldi are figured to make quick work of John Katan and Abe Kashey, respectively, in the opening preliminaries.

Tomorrow night the show moves on to Chicago. Besides Londos, four wrestlers who will appear here tonight will perform on the Chicago card. They are McMillen, Dusek, Savoldi and Kashey.

BARRY AND MILES SCORE KNOCKOUTS IN BOUTS; RAINS WINS

By the Associated Press.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 18.—Three St. Louis fighters came through with victories in 10-round events on the weekly boxing program here last night.

Dave Barry, 124, scored a technical knockout over Young Granada, 126, in the tenth round of the main event. Referee Phil O'Connell stopped the battle after Granada was down twice in the last round.

Johnny Miles knocked out Tony Ferrante, New York, in the second of a scheduled 10-rounder. Both weighed 173.

Chick Rains, 170, won a decision over Homer Sheridan, 168, of Sioux City, Ia., in the main preliminary.

YANKEES' FIRST OFFER TO RUTH WAS FOR $50,000

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—It was an offer of $50,000 or 1933 that Babe Ruth rejected so quickly and vehemently.

The Babe himself revealed the exact terms the New York Yankees had offered and put himself firmly on record that he would not accept any $25,000 cut in the $75,000 salary he received last year.

"I don't believe Col. Ruppert ever saw the contract that was mailed to me," Ruth said. "The Colonel has always treated me pretty fair even if we have had our little arguments about salary in the past. While I expected to receive some cut, I can't believe he would go so safe as a third off. I'll never sign for that."

There matters rested today with neither side showing any signs of a new move for the present. However Ruth and Col. Ruppert probably will get together before the Babe leaves for the South late in February. It was the consensus that Ruth eventually would be signed to a contract calling for a salary of not less than $60,000.

Meanwhile there were indications that Ruth was not the only player on the world champions' roster who will seek adjustment of salary differences.

Both Lou Gehrig, slugging first baseman, and Vernon Gomez, slender southpaw, indicated they had received offers from the club they considered inadequate.

Wins Soccer Game.

In an exciting ABC League soccer game yesterday afternoon on the Page Avenue field, the John Burroughs "B" team won from the Principia "B" team, 2-1. Principia scored in the third quarter and Burroughs in the first and third. The combination of Frazer and Leschen was too much for the Principia, for both boys from Burroughs scored a goal. The Principia goal was kicked by Cedarberg.

DUBLINSKY, WHO BOXES TERRY AT ARENA, HAS WON OVER TRACY COX

Jack Tippett has picked another tough opponent for Lou Terry as Lou has been assigned to tackle Harry Dublinsky, Chicago lightweight on Jan. 24 card at the Arena, in a 10-round contest.

Dublinsky is one of the top ranking lightweights in the game and owns victories over such outstanding men as Tracy Cox, Mickey Cohen, Roger Bernard, Ray Kizer, Johnny Jadick and Herman Perlick. He fought Tony Canzoneri and lost a decision to him while he drew with Barney Ross, Chicago challenger for the 135 pounds crown.

Dublinsky, eighteenth child in a family of 21 recently stopped Frankie Bojarski, Pittsburgh southpaw in a bout in that city. Bojarski fought Terry about a year ago and won a decision over him.

Terry has been called upon to accept hard fights here during the past year. He has boxed Tracy Cox, Wesley Ramey and Joe Ghnouly among others. But Terry has been on a tour of the South recently and has shown improvement in his work.

The main bout of Tippett's card is the 12-round go between Al Stillman and Maxis Rosenbloom who is rated the real champion of the 175-pound division despite his disqualification by the N. B. A. for failure to live up to its rules pertaining to champions defending their titles.

Allen Matthews has been signed for a contest on the program and probably will meet Ray McQuillan, Portland, Ore., who claims to have stopped Tiger Johnny Cline and of holding Young Jack Thompson to a draw.

Rosenbloom and the other out of town scrappers are due here Sunday to finish their training.

Tippett has been receiving numerous replies to his request for suggestions for the improvement of the fight game here and 49 fans have qualified to receive free tickets for his show. Tippett said it was surprising the number of people who want to see Eddie Shea, Chicago boxer in another fight here. Shea has appeared here a number of times.

WRAY'S COLVMN

Lewis Licked?

JIMMY LONDOS may never pin Ed Lewis to the mat in a wrestling match, but he appears to have the Strangler "licked" without that.

Lewis and his backers endeavored to run Londos out of New York, but the Greek went back the other night and performed before a packed house. Londos attracted as many in a small hall as Lewis drew in a "title" match in Madison Square Garden.

LONDOS.

Lewis invaded St. Louis to weaken Londos' hold in his home city; but the Strangler retreated, having attracted fewer than 2000 fans while Londos still packs them in here.

The Strangler began by accusing Londos of running out of a title match with him; now the tables have been turned and the Greek, backed up by a Los Angeles promoter, says that Lewis is refusing to keep an agreement to meet Londos on the coast.

Regardless of the merits or arguments of the two men (and it still seems up to Londos to prove by a single victory that he is able to match the dozen or more times Lewis is said to have tossed him) the Hellenic claimant of the title very evidently has crowded Lewis from the picture as a drawing card and a popular idol.

* * *

As New York Sees Him.

THAT New York is pro-Londos and indifferent to Lewis is evident from the following description of Londos' return to New York, recently. A writer in the Herald Tribune saw the occasion as follows:

"Though he was opposing little Abie Coleman for the seventh or eighth time, Londos, the Napoleon of the mat racket, found an enthusiastic capacity house waiting to welcome him back from exile at the St. Nicholas Arena.

"There is only one Londos, the most sensational grappler of them all and a worthy rival of Dempsey and Ruth as an outstanding drawing card.

"Strictly according to custom, 'Jeem' flattened his hammered-down Hebrew challenger with an airplane spin and body slam after 39 minutes and 6 seconds of assorted acrobatics and histrionics. Abie held his own in contortions, but was outpointed in the other department by the consummate actor.

So This Is Wrestling!

"SHORN of his title in New York State by order of the commission, Londos still strutted as he did when all the world was his kingdom. He posed and bowed like a royal ruler, and he didn't miss a single cue all evening—even remembering to stagger about like a dying gladiator while Coleman was still prostrate.

"The other highlights that galleryites have learned to love were all in the show.

"Jim swung on the ropes like Tarzan of the Apes. He registered courage in the face of anguish as he slowly succumbed to wristlocks; he displayed brute strength by resisting Coleman's repeated efforts to toss him over with a headlock; he panicked the mob by frantic sprints to escape his apelike pursuer, but, at the end, he was graciously decent to the fallen rival and respectfully appreciative of the plaudits of his public."

Foreign Wrestlers Fading.

IMMIGRATION apparently is cramping the flair for foreign wrestlers. Only a few years ago the emphasis was heavily on foreign-born talent. Apparently the theory was that America was not on a par with Europe in producing top rank mat wallopers.

In recent years immigration restrictions have made it difficult to import new talent, and wrestling has "gone American," with the aid of the modern knock-about plan, which requires acrobatics and acting rather than wrestling skill.

* * *

A large majority of the headliners of today are American-born or naturalized. Londos, head of one group, came to this country from Greece as a young boy. He learned all his wrestling in the United States and, as we understand it, is a naturalized citizen of this country. Ed Lewis was born in Wiscosnin; John Pesek and Joe Stecher in Nebraska and McMillin in Illinois. Other American front-rankers include Jack Sherry, Gus Sonnenberg, Don George, Jim Browning, Charley Strack, Joe Malcewiscz, Rudy Dusek, Ray Steele and others. Deglane and McCready are Canadian born, not European; and even Wong Bock Cheung, who adds to tne drollness of wrestling's tactics, was born in Chicago and not China.

Congress Takes a Hand.

NOW Congress is planning to prevent foreigners from coming over to test our sporting blood by putting an almost prohibitive tax on their earnings.

Promoter Jack Curley is worried about this. In a letter to the Post-Dispatch he says that he hopes Congress will NOT take such action, because he looks upon the foreign element as a big factor in maintaining wrestling interest. Curley writes:

"My main interest lies in wrestling, looked upon as a game for, and by foreigners. I differ with the general opinion and may I add that I feel 100 per cent qualified as an expert.

"I can go back to Yousoff, the Terrible Turk who came to our shores in '97 and was drowned on a French liner homebound in '98. I knew his successor Nouralah and a still later 300-pound Turk, Jai-Adali.

"About that time I became actively engaged in the game and was soon promoting with wrestlers such as John Rooney, Paul Pons, Raoul de Rouen, Ernest Siegfried, Yusiff Manmout, Alexander Aberg and George Lurich."

* * *

Foreign Wrestlers Fail.

HOWEVER, none of the more recently imported talent has registered successes to compare with those of the original "Terrible Turk" Yousoff or the gigantic Nouralah.

In fact, Curley's first big attempt at importing a foreign cheese resulted disastrously for the invader, the "Russian Lion," Georges Hackenschmidt. Gotch trimmed him twice, Zbyszko made good later although an easy prey for Gotch at the start. Yussif Mahmout never quite made the grade and he too fell before the Humboldt, Ia., Miracle Man.

In recent days Hans Steinke came over to do his stuff and he looked able to do it. But he never left first base. Dick Shikat, after an uphill climb, gained the major headline stage. Most of the others were mere stage "props" designed to lend color to the events and lure fans of various national groups to see their countrymen perform.

Curley, however, insists that there would be a great flop in interest if the garlic flavor were removed from latter-day wrestling. But probably Curley alone would be the only one to mourn.

DAVE SHADE LOSES BUT IT TAKES SEVERAL POLICEMEN TO BEAT HIM

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Dave Shade, veteran middleweight who has lost about four decisions in 15 years of ring warfare, dropped an overwhelming verdict today to several policemen in a street brawl.

He was arrested finally on a charge of disorderly conduct and was taken to Bellevue Hospital in a strait-jacket, still trying to prolong the engagement, although cut about the head and hands.

The police version of the struggle with Shade, conqueror of many of the outstanding welterweights, middleweights and even light heavyweights in his long career, placed the start of the battle outside an alleged speakeasy early this morning in the Bronx.

Shade is alleged to have approached a traffic policeman claiming he had been assaulted. A weird succession of tussles started then, Shade first engaging the policeman, then two policemen, then two policemen and a bystander, an ambulance crew and a flock of detectives.

The detectives finally won the decision in the Highbridge police station, although Shade by that time was equalizing things with a chair, swung in a timely arc. After treatment by a second ambulance squad, he was bundled off to Bellevue in a strait-jacket, for further traetment for alcoholism.

McBride Five Triumphs

McBride High School's basketball team defeated Normandy High last night at McBride, 20 to 14, in a game in which both teams displayed an indifferent brand of play.

SECOND HALF OF HOCKEY SEASON OPENS AT ARENA TOMORROW NIGHT

Coach Babe Dye of the St. Louis Flyers thinks that his club has an excellent chance of finishing first in the second half of the American Hockey Association schedule which gets under way here tomorrow night when the Flyers meet the Kansas City Pla-Mors, first half champions, at the Arena.

One of Dye's chief reasons for optimism is the great improvement of Pete Palangio, left wing of his secondary line. Palangio has jumped from twentieth to a tie for third in individual scoring in the period from Dec. 14 to date.

Just when the Flyers' opponents had begun to feel that they were safe once they were past the first line of the St. Louis Club, Palangio went on his scoring spree and upset the plans of the other clubs' defense.

The switch to a split season which was announced by William F. Grant, president of the league from Kansas City yesterday, occasioned little surprise as it has been known for some time that such action was under consideration along with the transfer of the St. Paul Club to Tulsa and the Duluth team to Wichita, Kan.

Grant has indicated that the playoffs at the end of the season will be between the clubs finishing 1-2 in each half with the winners to meet for the championship. But if the same two clubs finish on top each time there will be but one series of five games.

Kansas City finished first, three games ahead of the Flyers, for the initial half of the schedule, and it is expected that the battle for first place in the last half will also be between Kansas City and St. Louis, although the St. Paul club, now the Tulsa team, has been strengthened greatly recently with the addition of Bostrom from the Chicago Blackhawks and Foster from the Boston Bruins, both defense men.

SOCCER SHOTS

by Herman Wecke

To Show New Forward Line.

In the first defense of the western soccer championship won last season, the Stix Club will show a new forward line in its opening round U. S. F. A. cup match against Phil Kavanaugh's Coca-Colas at Sportsman's Park, Sunday.

Bill Lehman, who in other campaigns performed capably at center halfback, will be given a chance to show his worth as a center forward in the contest. On the right he will be flanked by Nilsen and McNab, two capable performers. McLean will, of course, be at outside left, with Ahrens the likely starter at inside left.

Kavanaugh himself will do a little experimenting at center forward, a weak spot on the eleven, since Joe Hennessy was injured. It is probable that Selby, a halfback, will start at the important position. He played well after he replaced Gallagher in the last league contest. Reidy, Worden, Sullivan and Grenon will man the other positions.

Work for Stix Halfbacks.

Although the Stix Club has been going along at a lively pace, losing but two matches this season, there nevertheless appears to be one flaw in the team's defense. This is in the halfback line, despite the fact that three capable performers are in the division in McPherson, Watson and Bohlman.

It appears that the halfbacks follow the forwards too closely. A long clear by the enemy back finds them entirely out of position, putting entirely too much work on the fullbacks and "goalie." It might be a better policy to play back a bit and not leave such a great opening in the center of the field, which would be especially hazardous when the opposition possessed a great center forward.

Anything Can Happen.

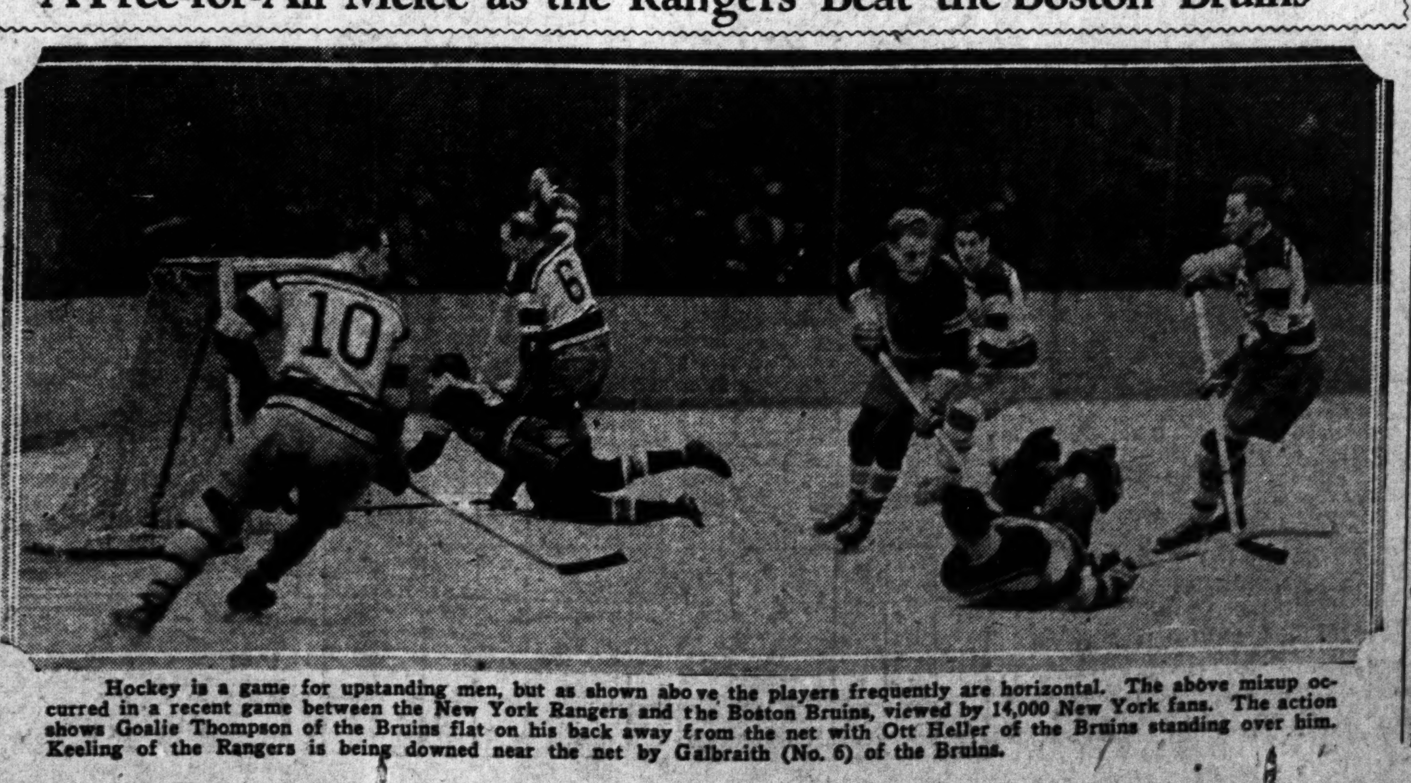
That nothing is certain in soccer was evinced in the third round English Cup matches played last Saturday. Newcastle United, the defending champion, was eliminated by Leeds, 3 goals to 0, while Arsenal, present leader in the English First Division and finalist in the cup series a year ago, went down before Wasall, a little heard of eleven, 2 to 0. It was the "big" club's first appearance in the series this season.

Commenting on the defeat of Arsenal, Alec McNab said: "It's the greatest upset I ever heard of in all my years in the sport."

Field Club Takes Lead.

The New York Field Club took the lead in the round-robin series of the Metroopolitan District to decide that section's entry for the semi-final of the U. S. F. A. cup series by defeating the Bohemian Queens, 3 to 0. It was the Field Club's second victory and the second reverse for the Bohemians. In the other match, the Hakoah All-Stars won from the Brooklyn Wanderers, 2 to 1.

A Free-for-All Melee as the Rangers Beat the Boston Bruins



Hockey is a game for upstanding men, but as shown above the players frequently are horizontal. The above mixup occurred in a recent game between the New York Rangers and the Boston Bruins, viewed by 14,000 New York fans. The action shows Goalie Thompson of the Bruins flat on his back away from the net with Ott Heller of the Bruins standing over him. Keeling of the Rangers is being downed near the net by Galbraith (No. 6) of the Bruins.

QUALITY COSMETICS — Lowest 1933 prices; average 150 pct profit. 218 Mart Bldg.

SALESMEN WANTED

MEN—STEADY WORK.
We will hire 6 men at once who live in St. Louis, train them thoroughly at our local branch at our expense, and employ them immediately in permanent positions, full time.

Married men preferred, as these positions are responsible and we require no investment or deposit—but you must be reputable, and able to learn this work as taught. This is steady, profitable sales work, but our method of putting the prospect into the market for our invention is so unusual that you must be trained in it. While learning, new men must be satisfied on earnings of $35 to $45 per week, but later can increase this substantially. Previous experience not important because our method is so unusual, but applicants must be willing to work hard and study to qualify for the higher incomes. Apply Thursday morning, 9:15 to 1:15 only, at 561-564 Paul Brown Bldg., 9th and Olive.

SALESMANAGER WANTED
That knows the real estate business thoroughly, that can actually close his own deals and also assist the salesmen that will devote his entire time, that will work evenings and produce results. To such body we will give real live leads and a proposition that at this time should make him some real money. If you can qualify please phone for appointment to South Side Construction Co., FLanders 4292.

y the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The stock market suffered a mild sinking pell in the late trading today, from hich it was able to make only a eeble attempt at rally. Prices ere down from fractions to 2 oints net. Transfers totaled 700,-00 shares.

Trading was extremely sluggish, ut prices gave way rather easily n the last hour, after holding to a arrow range in the earlier hours. Wheat and stocks again seemed to ove together, reacting upon each ther. Price weakness in steel and rude oil, along with dividend uncertainties, appeared to be unsetting factors. Final prices were within fractions of the lowest.

Woolworth was a soft spot, off points at the lowest. Brokerage ossip had it that an investment rust had liquidated a block of this ssue, along with National Diary, hich declined more than a point. ssues showing losses of around a oint included U. S. Steel, merican Telephone, Consolidated Gas, ase, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, New York Central, Johns Manville, astman, and others. The tobaccos losed about steady, and Chesapeake & Ohio was up fractionally. resge declined fractionally, in ympathy with Woolworth.

The wheat market was adversely ffected by contiuued weakness of he Canadian dollar. Wheat at hicago closed ⅛ to ⅞ of a cent ower. Corn was about steady, but otton at New York lost 45 to 65 ents a bale.

The Canadian dollar lost nearly alf a cent. Sterling yielded ¾ ent, ruling at $3.34¾ for cables. he European gold monies were teady, with the exception of the utch guilder, which eased a fraction.

Crude Oil Price Cuts.

While steel production continued o gain, trade reviews mentioned rice recessions in several lines of inished steel. Electric Power production, as reported for last week, ade a somewhat less favorable ompromise with a year previously han the preceding three weeks.

Stanolind Crude Purchasing, a ubsidiary of Standard of Indiana, educed the price of crude oil by cents a barrel, in the mid-continent fields, making the top price bout 52 cents. The weekly production statistics showed but a light gain.

The tobacco stocks were helped y Liggett & Myers' 1932 report, howing $6.85 a share earned per ommon and class B share, only 2 ents less than 1931. The regular xtra dividend of $1 was ordered n the common and "B" stock, in ddition to the quarterly of $1. In he rails, Chesapeake & Ohio was irm, in response to its unusual arnings record for 1932, amounting o about $3.05, or 55 cents more han the annual dividend. This oad's coal business has stood it in ood stead.

Trade News Reports.

While "Iron Age" reported a light gain in steel production, due o increase miscellaneous orders nd a continuance of releases of utomobile materials and tin plate, t reported a "pronounced price weakness, especially in sheets and wire products and to some extent n reinforcing bars." The publication said the present rate of production was 16 per cent of capacity against 15 per cent last eek.

The National Electric Light Association released its power production figures for the week ended an. 14, containing the first percentage comparison with the corresponding week of a year ago, nce last Dec. 17. The rate of decline was 6.7 per cent, unchanged om the Dec. 17 figure. For the tire three weeks intervening, hich was chopped up rather consedly because of year-end holiys falling in different weeks for e two years, the average rate of cline was 5.9 per cent.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The stock market suffered a mild sinking spell in the late trading today, from which it was able to make only a feeble attempt at rally. Prices were down from fractions to 2 points net. Transfers totaled 700,000 shares.

Trading was extremely sluggish, but prices gave way rather easily in the last hour, after holding to a narrow range in the earlier hours. Wheat and stocks again seemed to move together, reacting upon each other. Price weakness in steel and crude oil, along with dividend uncertainties, appeared to be unsettling factors. Final prices were within fractions of the lowest.

Woolworth was a soft spot, off 3 points at the lowest. Brokerage gossip had it that an investment trust had liquidated a block of this issue, along with National Diary, which declined more than a point. Issues showing losses of around a point included U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Case, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, New York Central, Johns Manville, Eastman, and others. The tobaccos closed about steady, and Chesapeake & Ohio was up fractionally. Kresge declined fractionally, in sympathy with Woolworth.

The wheat market was adversely affected by contiuued weakness of the Canadian dollar. Wheat at Chicago closed ½ to ⅞ of a cent lower. Corn was about steady, but cotton at New York lost 45 to 65 cents a bale.

The Canadian dollar lost nearly half a cent. Sterling yielded ¾ cent, ruling at $3.34¾ for cables. The European gold monies were steady, with the exception of the Dutch guilder, which eased a fraction.

Crude Oil Price Cuts.

While steel production continued to gain, trade reviews mentioned price recessions in several lines of finished steel. Electric Power production, as reported for last week, made a somewhat less favorable compromise with a year previously than the preceding three weeks.

Stanolind Crude Purchasing, a subsidiary of Standard of Indiana, reduced the price of crude oil by 25 cents a barrel, in the mid-continent fields, making the top price about 52 cents. The weekly production statistics showed but a slight gain.

The tobacco stocks were helped by Liggett & Myers' 1932 report, showing $6.85 a share earned per common and class B share, only 2 cents less than 1931. The regular extra dividend of $1 was ordered on the common and "B" stock, in addition to the quarterly of $1. In the rails, Chesapeake & Ohio was firm, in response to its unusual earnings record for 1932, amounting to about $3.05, or 55 cents more than the annual dividend. This road's coal business has stood it in good stead.

Trade News Reports.

While "Iron Age" reported a slight gain in steel production, due to increase miscellaneous orders and a continuance of releases of automobile materials and tin plate, it reported a "pronounced price weakness, especially in sheets and wire products and to some extent in reinforcing bars." The publication said the present rate of production was 16 per cent of capacity against 15 per cent last week.

The National Electric Light Association released its power production figures for the week ended Jan. 14, containing the first percentage comparison with the corresponding week of a year ago, since last Dec. 17. The rate of decline was 6.7 per cent, unchanged from the Dec. 17 figure. For the entire three weeks intervening, which was chopped up rather confusedly because of year-end holidays falling in different weeks for the two years, the average rate of decline was 5.9 per cent.

M. K. & T. MADE FIXED CHARGES IN 1932, PRESIDENT SAYS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railway earned fixed charges in 1932 by a margin of $4,183,851, according to M. H. Cahill, president of the road, in a report to the board of directors. This does not include adjustment bond interest, which was maintained by the "Katy" throughout the year.

Actual figures for the first 11 months of 1932, together with preliminary returns for December, indicated that operating revenues for the year totaled $27,160,347, a decrease of 21 per cent from 1931. Operating expenses were placed at $19,193,905, a reduction of 21.6 per cent.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Trading continued inactive, Trans-Atlantic shares and gold mining issues being the brightest sections. Argentine rails and German bonds recovered fractionally but others lacked support. The closing was dull.

PARIS, Jan. 18.—Prices on the bourse were stimulated by the favorable reaction to the Government's budget program. Marked advances were shown in most issues and the market closed firm.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Trading on the Boerse was quiet and the closing was more cheerful.

London Wool Auction.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—At the wool auction Wednesday 9450 bales were offered, of which 8420 were sold. An excellent selection was offered and met strong competition. The bulk was sold to the home trade and Germany at firm prices. Withdrawals wer efrequent among superior scoured on firm limits.

WHEAT MARKET CLOSES LOWER IN LOCAL TRADE

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Jan. 18.—The wheat market lost ⅝@¾c today, a late factor in domestic wheat trade being weak Canadian exchange note. Meager export call for North American wheat was reported. Light moisture in part of wheat belt also cited.

The Liverpool wheat market started out ¼@⅜d higher but a later cable was ¼@⅜d net lower. The close was ⅛@⅜d net lower.

Winnipeg wheat closed unchanged to ⅛c lower.

May wheat opened at 47⅛c, down ⅜c, and July wheat 47¼c, down ¼c.

Local wheat receipts, which were 37,800 bushels, compared with 28,000 week ago and 121,800 a year ago, included 21 cars local and 6 through. Corn receipts, which were 68,600 bushels, compared with 64,400 a week ago and 40,600 a year ago, included 48 cars local and 1 through. Oats receipts, which were 44,000 bushels, compared with 17,600 a week ago and 33,000 a year ago, included 17 cars local and 3 through. Hay receipts were 11 cars local and 2 through.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

Sales of cash grain made on the floor of the exchange today were as follows:

No. 1 red winter wheat, 51c.

No. 2 mixed corn, 23½c; No. 3 mixed corn, 22¼c; No. 2 yellow corn, 24c; No. 3 yellow corn, 23c; No. 4 yellow corn, 22c; No. 2 white corn, 25c; No. 4 white corn, 22c.

No. 2 white oats, 17½c; No. 2 mixed oats, 17½c; red oats, 17¼c.

WHEAT CLOSES UNSETTLED AND LOWER AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Bearishly affected by weakness of Canadian exchange rates, wheat prices averaged lower in Chicago today.

The action of Canadian exchange was a factor which tended to widen the difference between wheat values here and those at Winnipeg. Meagerness of export demand today for North American wheat received unfavorable notice.

Wheat closed unsettled, ½@⅞c under yesterday's finish; corn unchanged to ⅛c lower; oats a shade to ⅛c off, and provisions verying from 2c decline to a rise of 7c.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Wheat showed an early downward trend today, influenced by light moisture in dry sections of domestic winter crop territory southwest.

Liverpool report of expected shipments from Argentina were also a bearish factor. Opening unchanged to ⅜ off, wheat early declined all around.

Corn started at a shade lower to ⅛ higher and subsequently early held near the initial limits.

Although sellers predominated in the wheat market during much of the day, and there was but little snap to buying, rallies at times carried prices to above yesterday's finish.

Indicated strength shown by the corn market helped rallies in all grains. Buying of corn futures was largely on the part of brokers who as a rule act for a Chicago trader. More export business in corn today by way of the Gulf of Mexico was announced. Oats were upheld by corn.

Provisions kept about steady in the absence of any aggressive selling.

BOND MARKET TURNS HEAVY LATE IN DAY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Despite a rally in the United States Government list, the bond market turned rather heavy in late trading today and various issues exchanged earlier gains for losses ranging from 1 to 4 or more points. A number of rail, utility and industrial specialties were especially depressed and most German obligations were unable to hold their recoveries.

The Federals were quite active in their change of front and several of the Treasuries were up nearly half a point at one time. Treasury 3s and 3⅛s were the most heavily traded.

The weaker carriers included some loans of Alleghany Corp., Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Chicago & Northwestern, Erie, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Nickel Plate, Rock Island and St. Paul.

National Dairy Products 5¼s were off 4 points at one time, Loew's 6s off 2, American & Foreign Power 5s off 3, Goodrich 5s off 2 and declines of around a point were suffered by bonds of American Smelting, North American, Dodge Bros., Postal Telegraph, Utilities Power & Light and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

EASIER PRICES PREVAIL LATE ON CURB MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Easier prices prevailed on the curb market today during the latter part of a dull market. Closing quotations were largely lower, though only fractionally so.

Some heaviness appeared in oil shares coincident with word of further crude price cuts. Gulf and Standard of Indiana were slightly off.

In the utilities, which had been firm at the opening, Electric Bond & Share reacted under 18, but averaged only about half a point lower. American Gas, recently strong, fell back more than a point. Niagara Hudson was steady.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 9 TO 13 POINTS LOWER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—An opening decline in the cotton market today in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and a little Southern selling was followed by rallies on trade buying and covering, but prices eased off again later in sympathy with reactions in stock and wheat.

March contracts, after advancing from 6.10c to 6.20c, or within 2 points of yesterday's closing quotation, were ruling around 6.11c with the midafternoon market showing net losses of 10 to 12 points.

Cotton futures closed barely steady, 9@13c lower. Jan. 6.06n; March, 6.09-10; May, 6.22; July, 6.34; Oct., 6.53; Dec., 6.67. Spot quiet, middling 6.20. nNominal.

January opened 6.05; March, 6.15; May, 6.25; July, 6.36; October, 6.54; December, 6.66.

FINANCIAL NOTES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—With the decline in plain wire to 2.10 cents a pound, the lowest since 1916, the Iron Age composite price for finished steel is now 1.923 cents a pound, or 90 cents a net ton under the minimum of the 1921-22 depression. Nails and annealed sheets are down to 1915 levels, while galvanized sheets, nominally quoted at 2.65 cents, "are well below any price quoted in the present century. The heavy melting scrap composite has dropped to $6.75 a ton, the figure in effect early this month.

Sales of Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. for the four weeks ended Dec. 31 totaled $16,139,806, a decrease of 8.1 per cent from the previous year. Volume for the year 1932 was $213,163,298, a drop of 12.8 per cent from 1931. The company was operating 4744 stores at the year-end compared with 4889 on Dec. 31, 1931.

A New Stock Exchange membership sold today for $115,000, up $12,000 from the last transaction.

New York Sugar.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Raw sugar was quiet early today, and no additional sales were reported. The undertone was still unsettled, with buyers as a rule showing no further interest, although it was believed that they would probably pay 2.6 for sugars in suitable nearby positions, but these were held at around 2.70, while later arrivals could be had at 2.67.

Futures opened unchanged to 1 point lower, under a renewal of liquidation and selling by producing interests promoted by continued liberal offerings in the spot market. There was considerable covering and trade buying, however, and a steady undertone prevailed during the remainder of the forenoon. Prices were 1 point net higher to 1 lower at midday. Passage of the Philippine independence bill had no particular influence, and the trade was more Refined was unchanged at 3.95 for fine inclined to watch developments in spot granulated.

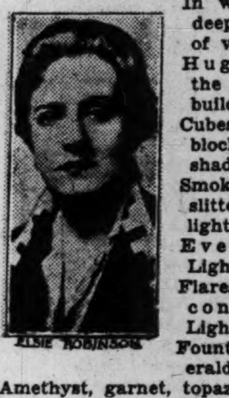
Evening on Wilshire Boulevard



ELSIE ROBINSON

EVENING on Wilshire boulevard.
Twilight sifting.
Sifting in a violet ash,
In wavering, deepening vails of violet ash.
Huge, through the veils, the buildings.
Cubes — cliffs — blocked out of shadow.
Smoke palisades, slitted with light.
Everywhere Light.
Flares, garlands, confetti of Light.
Fountains of emerald, crystal,
Amethyst, garnet, topaz,
Sapphire, opal and pearl Light.
Gossamer webs of light.
Fruity clusters of light.
Whirling wheels, spattering mica fire.
Arcs of light circling, leaping,
Clashing like blades
On the black field of night.
Everywhere—Light.
Gushing, sparkling,
Dripping in jeweled pools on black asphalt,
Spraying in glittering spindrift
From the dark torrent of cars
Pouring home from Los Angeles to Beverly Hills.
Hundreds of automobiles,
Thousands of automobiles
Pouring in a hooting, grunting,
Snarling, thundering torrent.
Hundreds of people,
Thousands of people,
Sitting safe in those cars;
Sitting safe in the money that bought those cars;
Riding arrogantly on the power that made those cars.
Thousands of people
Racing home from Los Angeles;
Racing home past stage-sets sheared from shadow, Looped with a billion dollars' worth of Kilowatts gone crazy.
Suddenly,
Soft above the bedlam
Breaks a sound
Heavy, golden—
The sound of a bell.
One bell,
Then another,
Then blending,
The Chimes!

"Jesus, Lover of My Soul.
"Let Me to Thy Bosom Fly."

Down in that madness beneath
Thousands are flying—where?

"While the Nearer Waters Roll,
"While the Tempest Still Is High."

What are they thinking, those thousands,
Hurling on, into the night;
What of the waters that trap them,
What of their souls' sore plight?

"Other Helpers Have I None;
"Hangs My Helpless Soul on Thee."

Each of them clining to something—
Some hope, desperate and dear,
Set high above all the wildness
Of hate, and desire, and fear.

"Leave, Oh, Leave Me Not Alone!"

Massed in with millions of people
Walled in with steel and with stone,
Yet, from each heart comes that whimper—
"Leave me not—down here—alone!"

"Still Support and Comfort Me!"

Snug in their ease and their riches,
Steeled in their pride and their might,
Still their hearts secretly pleading:
"Comfort me, God, through my night!"

Night-Time on Wilshire Boulevard.
Light gone ga-ga.
Nit-wit noise.
Red Hot Mamas.
Lisping Boys.
Frozen faces.
Twitching lips.
Piggy jowls
And leering hips.

JUDGE TAYLOR

Wilson A. Taylor, After 26 Years on the Bench, Concludes That Working Wives Are Unhappy and Too Many Girls Marry Without Knowing Anything About Housework.

By S. R. McCULLOCH

AFTER 26 years on the bench, Circuit Judge Wilson A. Taylor finds that true love and romance exist after marriage and that divorces are caused by traits of human nature rather than changing eras. The granting of thousands of divorces, the constant procession of unhappy wives and husbands which passes daily before him have failed to dim his conviction that the majority of marriages are successful.

Unpleasant traits of human nature, brought sordidly to his attention, have but afforded him an added appreciation of the qualities which make for happy marriages.

"The unsuccessful marriages are given undue prominence," Judge Taylor remarked, "because they usually wind up in the divorce court. But the millions of successful ones, attested to by happy homes and families, pass unnoticed.

"There's no hard and fast rule for a happy marriage. But I think there are two essentials—true love and the ability of the husband to provide a living income. The size of the income depends entirely upon the standard of living to which the couple are accustomed.

"And a boy and girl should make sure they love each other before they get married. If they do, they will find that there will be more romance and comradeship after marriage than before. But it's a mistake to imagine that love will follow marriage when it didn't exist before."

JUDGE TAYLOR doesn't believe in wives continuing to work after marriage.

"If both husband and wife keep their jobs," he explained, "they sacrifice a real home—and a real home should be an objective of a marriage. It's the woman's place, even in this modern age, to be the home-maker. If both work nobody has any responsibility for the home. It's not a stable arrangement."

Even the woman of wealth may wreck a promising marriage by devoting too much time to the pleasures money will buy and too little to her household, Judge Taylor finds. He feels she owes it to her husband to provide him with a congenial environment.

"Money is said to be the root of all evil," he observed, "and the divorce evil is no exception. Money quarrels constitute the contributing cause of most divorces. Often the young wife who gave up her position when she got married finds her husband's earnings won't go far enough. Then quarrels begin and they often are the storm signals which lead to permanent discord."

The old adage about marrying in haste and repenting at leisure is "pathetically true," the Judge has learned through the sad experiences of others.

"If there's anything that tugs at my heart," he remarked, "it's the young girl who marries on the impulse of the moment. I usually meet her in the divorce court, months later, disillusioned, old beyond her years, her future marred. And such wives come from all classes of society.

"I don't believe in too many laws but I do think that a law requiring a 90-day notice of intention of marriage would avert a lot of unhappiness. And uniform divorce laws would iron out the present inequalities, destroy such 'rackets' as the Reno divorce mill."

The key to the divorce situation, he added, consists of more suitable marriages but he doesn't know how they can be brought about unless young people may be taught to realize that marriage should be regarded as a life partnership, with mutual obligations and benefits, rather than a sentimental adventure.

Judge Taylor, whose court is marked by his consideration for the litigants appearing before him, conceded that he has "given up trying to effect reconciliations."

"It used to be that I would try to get a couple together in my chambers before court," he recalled, "and see if I couldn't help them find a way out of their difficulties. But I couldn't get a word in. It just gave them another chance to quarrel. No, I am sorry to say that I have found that by the time the case reaches the divorce court, it's too late. The only thing left to do is to effect as fair a settlement as possible."

* * *

OFTEN Judge Taylor will wave the attorneys aside, lean forward in his chair, bend in friendly fashion toward the witness, ask in homely phraseology "now just what is the trouble," averting the confusion of red tape and legal verbiage.

Many a girl has sobbed out her true story to him, hardly to be recognized as the briefs prepared by her attorneys. And many a young husband, stiff necked with pride, has confided to Judge Taylor his version of why his marriage failed.

A self-avowed "old-fashioned man," with a happy family life, Judge Taylor finds that certain old-time rules for happy weddings hold good today.

"The way to reach a man has always been through his stomach," he observed, "and that is just as true now as it was when every girl was trained to be an expert housewife as a matter of course.

"There are too many girls who don't know anything about housework. Why, some of them don't even know how to fry eggs. Many well meaning girls try to learn housekeeping after they get married. Sometimes their husbands don't take into consideration the fact it takes time and practice. Discord develops right there.

"If only young couples would realize that it's the little quarrels which lead to big ones and that each one leaves a scar my docket would be much lighter. It's hardly fair for a young fellow who knows his girl can't cook to expect her to turn into an accomplished chef in a few days.

"But it's a good thing for a girl to know how to cook, sew, and keep house no matter how much money she has or where she lives. It teaches self reliance. And it wouldn't hurt some of these city-bred fellows to split up a little wood now and then."

Judge Taylor, who was raised on a farm and who worked his way through college, partly by milking cows, thinks that a simple home life counts more toward a successful marriage than "too many artificial amusements, like going to a show every night or playing cards everywhere but, home."

The "eternal triangle," depicted in motion pictures as the wedge which splits many a home, occurs only in a "very small percentage" of cases in real life, Judge Taylor said.

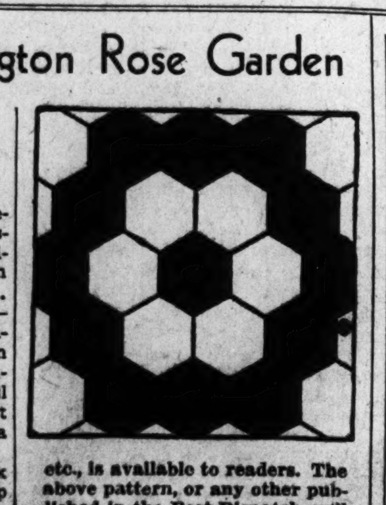
"It's comparatively rare to find a genuine case when another man or woman breaks up a home," he remarked, "although sometimes the lawyers try to make it appear as though a homewrecker was about. But it takes two to break up a home and a home established properly in the first place isn't broken up."

The flapper of yesterday, extolled in novels, denounced in sermons, is the wife of today but Judge Taylor hasn't found that she appears any oftener in the divorce court than the girls of 20 years ago, before the flapper marked the brief "jazz age" as her own.

"Folks are pretty much the same," he remarked, "for they make about the same mistakes now as they did years ago. After all, it comes down to a question of human nature and old human nature hasn't changed much."

Martha Washimgton Rose Garden

"The bits of bright cloth glowing,
A scissors' glinting gleam,
The cut squares, circles, diamonds,
A deftly needled seam. . . ."



WOMEN are going back to home-crafts with a bang! They've discovered again (and Paris nodding "yes") what swank there is in a hand-knit sweater or hat! . . . They're making patchwork quilts—copying excitedly, Martha Washington's Rose Garden quilt pattern and other favorites. They're cooking at home. Real estate men tell us it is next to impossible to rent an apartment that does not have a well-equipped kitchen.

Figures show that quilt block sales and patterns have jumped up during every other major depression, indicating to home-crafts at such times. At any there has always been a decided return rate, we're all doing it now, and it's such fun.

Quilting design No. Q-171 is recommended for use with the Rose Garden Quilt. Stamped pattern for tracing, 10c each; perforated pattern, 20c each.

A 32-page book, showing in colors a variety of designs for quilts, patchwork, embroidery, etc., is available to readers. The above pattern, or any other published in the Post-Dispatch, will be sent free with the booklet, which is 25 cents. Single patterns are 10 cents each, three for 25 cents. Inclose clipping of design wanted when ordering. Send letter and coin to St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Needleart Dept., 609 South Paulina street, Chicago.

MENUS and RECIPES of the DAY

Corn Bread Dinner

Spanish Steak.

Two pounds round steak.
Four tablespoons fat.
Four tablespoons chopped onions.
Four tablespoons chopped green peppers.
Four tablespoons chopped celery.
One teaspoon salt.
Four tablespoons flour.
One-fourth teaspoon paprika.
Two cups tomatoes.

Have steak cut about two-thirds inch thick. Pound well on both sides. Heat fat in frying pan. Add and quickly brown steak. Add onions, pepper and celery. Cook three minutes. Sprinkle with flour and mix well. Add rest of ingredients. Cover and cook very slowly for one and one-quarter hours. Turn meat several times during cooking to allow even browning.

Potato Cakes.

(Uses leftover mashed potatoes.)
Two cups mashed potatoes.
One egg.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon paprika.
Four tablespoons flour.
Four tablespoons fat.

Mix potatoes, egg, salt and paprika. Shape into six cakes and roll in flour. Heat fat in frying pan. Add cakes and cover. Cook five minutes over moderate fire. Use spatula and carefully turn and brown other sides.

Leftover mashed sweet potatoes may be prepared same way as white potatoes.

Corn Bread.

Two-thirds cup cornmeal.
One and one-third cups flour.
Four teaspoons baking powder.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Four tablespoons sugar.
One egg.
One cup milk.
Three tablespoons fat, melted.

Mix ingredients and beat three minutes. Pour into shallow, greased pan. Bake 20 minutes in moderately slow oven. Serve warm.

Little chick gravel may be substituted for bird gravel for the canary.

To cut fresh cake or bread use a knife which has been dipped in hot water.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. [illegible].

THE studios' anxiety to get their "money pictures" into the theaters as quickly as possible is shortening the lives of the cycles in screen fare.

A cycle last year had a perceptibly lower influence on production schedules. Studios following up a hit from another studio sometimes waited several weeks before actually beginning production on their "original idea."

This year the trends rise and pass almost before they have time to be noted as such. The chain gang themes were used by three studios, and two of the films resulting already are being seen. The third will be released shortly, and although Paul Muni's vehicle, "I Am a Fugitive," was a big hit, no other studios are attempting to follow suit.

* * *

INSTEAD, they're going after different brands of entertainment, suspecting that the chain-gang fever will have run its course before any more movies can be made on the subject.

Sheila Terry, for whom a brighter movie future looms, has had the rather unusual experience of playing in 25 pictures during her nine months in the films.

Of these, of course, only a few have had her in roles better than bits. She has the second lead in "Madame Butterfly," and has been featured in "Scarlet Dawn" and "You Said a Mouthful."

* * *

NEARLY all her other appearances have been walk-ons—as secretaries usually, roles in which she had a line or two to say.

In one film she began with a fairly good role, only to have it cut to one appearance and one line of dialogue before shooting began.

Her experience, typical of the fate of new players during their apprenticeship, she regards as valuable.

"You learn to crawl before you walk," blonde Sheila says. "And breaking into pictures is the same thing. I don't think I'll play any more secretaries, but I was glad to do them—every one was training."

MY Beauty Hint

MAE WEST

TEN hours of fretful, jerky sleep will leave one tired and irritable, whereas six hours of completely relaxed sleep will bring refreshment.

To those persons who find it difficult to rest, an hour's walk just before retiring every night will work wonders. Another habit to form if you would become a sound sleeper is that of eating a light meal in the evening. Heavy food is a great sleep-chaser, I find.

A cup of warm milk, a warm bath, a bit of reading before turning off the light, are other suggestions for insomnia victims.

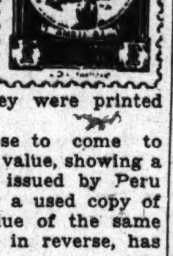
News for STAMP Collectors

War Creates Issues.

SOME stamp errors lead to weeping on the part of collectors; others to singing—and high prices.



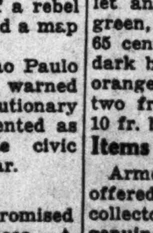
It's too early to predict the effect of the latest major ones, two Peruvian stamps printed backward, but there's certain to be a great deal of head-scratching as to how and why they were printed that way.

The first of these to come to light was the 1-sol value, showing a group of llamas, issued by Peru late in 1932. Now a used copy of the 10-centavo value of the same issue, also printed in reverse, has turned up.

It is uncertain whether the errors were intentional or otherwise (governments have been known to make a mistake in order to cash in on the collector's interest) or how many stamps were affected.

South American dealers are reported to be asking six times the face value, which is 15 cents, for the 1-sol variety in wholesale lots, which probably would mean a retail price of close to $2 in New York. The comparatively small rise leads to the suspicion that a large number of the 1-sols were printed backward.

The recent revolt in Brazil is an example of how wars, major or minor, help bring about new issues.



For internal use the Sao Paulo rebel government issued a series of "constitutonalist" stamps, ranging from 100 to 10,000 reis—11 values in all. After the trouble ended the Federal Government recognized them until the supply held in Sao Paulo was exhausted.

Some had the likeness of a rebel soldier, and others contained a map of Brazil.

In this connection the Sao Paulo Philatelic Society has warned against purported revolutionary "military" stamps, represented as having been issued by the civic militia during the Civil War.

From Far Away.

Striking pictorials are promised from some of the far places. A whale, a whale catcher and a king penguin are due to appear on an issue commemorating the centenary of the Falkland Islands, Kaffir kraals on a set from Swaziland and pastoral scenes on a series for the Bechuanaland Protectorate.

Dealers report that Morocco is soon to have a new set replacing the present series and that airmail stamps will be issued in values of 50 and 80 centimes and 1.50, 2.50, 5 and 10 francs.

New Issues.

CUBA—Because of the hurricane last November, philatelists will soon have new stamps from this Republic. The proceeds from the sale will be used for the restoration of communication facilities to the new Santa Cruz building which has been moved inland from its former site.

MEXICO—Official. This is the first regular stamp to appear under this classification. Overprinted in two lines in black are the words, "Servico Oficial" watermarked "Correos Mexico" and rouletted 14½. It is a 10c lake.

PARAGUAY—A set of triangles comprise the new series issued in honor of the soldiers. They will be lithographed and inscribed "Cerreo Militar". Colors, value and design are as follows: 50c red, infantryman; 1p blue, calvaryman; 1.50 P. green, artilleryman; 5p brown, airman.

RUMANIA.—A series of stamps has been issued commemorating the seventy-fifth anniversary of the first postage stamp. The values and colors are as follows: 25L black, 1L red violet, 2L green, 3L rose red, 6L brown violet, 7:50L pale blue, 10L dark blue. For the new design of the recent 16L value they have reverted to the 1903 issue and merely altered the numerals.

ST. PIERRE AND MIQUELON.—A new series of postage stamps, with 22 values has appeared. There are but three designs and they are variously distributed among the values. The first design is a map of the islands with two hardy fishermen holding a seine make up the border. This design is used on the one cent red brown and ultramarine, 20 cent black and orange, 25 cent violet and green, 75 cent green and red orange, 90c red, $1.50 fr. deep blue and blue and 20 fr. red and green. The design of the two cent deep slate and blue green, 10 cent claret and black, 15 cent dark blue and violet, 45 cent red and green, 50 cent brown and green, three fr. green and brown, five fr. red and brown is a lonely lighthouse on the coast, with fishes around the central design as a border. The other seven values have for their design a steamer with a border of sea gulls. The values are 4 cent lilac rose and sepia, five cent violet and sepia, 30 cent olive and green, 40 cent dark blue and sepia, 65 cent brown and orange, 40 cent dark blue sepia, 65 cent brown and orange, one fr. dark red and red, two fr. black and blue green and 10 fr. blue green and lilac.

Items of Interest

Armenia Nos. 300 to 309 are being offered in New York to dealers and collectors. They are so like the genuine stamps that it really takes an expert to detect the counterfeit. Also the first issue of Ozerbayan has again been forged. They are much better than the counterfeit of an earlier output.

GOOD TASTE

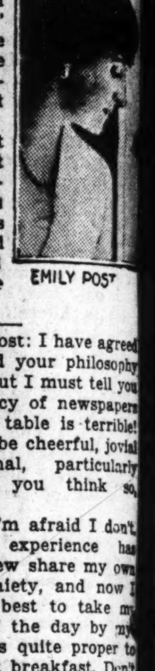
From Column-Readers



EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post:

ISN'T "cut and dried" etiquette a nuisance at times? It seems to me that a smile can say much more than words. At least it is much easier for me in so many instances. For example: someone said to me on parting, "I'm glad to have met you," and I simply gave a friendly smile and said, "Good-bye." Was that rude?

Answer: Not rude exactly—but not very "endearing." I think you might quite as easily have said "Thank you!" And that would have been polite.

My Dear Mrs. Post: I have agreed with and admired your philosophy for a long time, but I must tell you that your advocacy of newspapers at the breakfast table is terrible! All meals should be cheerful, jovial and conversational, particularly breakfast. Don't you think so, really?

Answer: No, I'm afraid I don't. Many years of experience has taught me that few share my own early morning gaiety, and now I know that it is best to take my own best hour of the day by myself. Besides it is quite proper to read the paper at breakfast. Don't you think two out of three cheerful jovial conversational meals a very good average?

Dear Mrs. Post: In an article some weeks ago you advised teaching young children a foreign language. I have searched the papers for information regarding such teachers and have had no success. Could you suggest a way of finding a teacher for my 6-year-old daughter?

Answer: Go to the professional employment bureau. Or advertise in the paper for a well-bred foreigner, who is kind and fond of children, to come and talk with your child. Investigate her reference, of course.

My Dear Mrs. Post: You said sometime ago that coffee is served in the living room at a 1 o'clock luncheon. Is this true when iced tea was served at the table?

Answer: Yes. After-dinner coffee in small cups is an unbreakable convention. It should follow every meal (except breakfast) even when iced tea was served at table.

IF YOU ASK MY OPINIO

by MARTHA CAR

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM deeply in love with a man who is so hard to understand that I simply cannot figure it out. I have thought about it so much, too, that my mind goes around in circles.

He was so sweet four months ago, and I am sure he cared, but after that he didn't call me for three months and then he acted as if he were trying to outdo himself in being mean. I felt as if he was not the same person at all. I would like to show him (which he seems to need) that I want only his happiness. Have known him four years and I am sure he is the finest of men.

Do you think it quite playing the game to go off with no explanation or is it just selfishness? Do give me some of your usual good advice.

Tomme.

Perhaps you have shown too plainly how much you care. And, knowing this, he may not want to involve himself, seriously yet, for any one of a dozen reasons. His methods are certainly not kind nor are they courageous. If he comes back, try to be a little more casual in your manner. Can you think of anyone who may have had reason to make trouble or misrepresent you to him? That is always possible, of course.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WILL you please help me get in touch with party signing herself "One of Your Interested Readers" in a recent paper? She so kindly offered her discovery of a certain article to an "Embarrassed Reader." This was for superfluous hair on the face. I think it was lovely of her, as she said, she had no interest other than to help others. I would be more than thankful to be relieved of the same disfigurement.

DISTRESSED.

As I have said, I cannot give names of commercial products in my column, but if you wish to investigate this article and will send me self-addressed and stamped envelope, I will tell you about it.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WILL you please suggest a good book on Spiritualism?

A late book is "On the Edge of the Etheric," by J. Arthur Findlay.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

COULD you tell me how to become a traveling companion? I am nearly 21 years old. Do you think this is too young? What are the responsibilities in that position? And do they pay your expenses and salary? All of my life I have liked to travel and have already had some experience. But I would rather do that than anything. If I could not get that could I work my way over on a steamer, as maid, and where could I write to find out about that? 2 I am a blonde, brown eyes, natural complexion, 5 feet 5½ inches tall, what colors should I wear and what should I weigh? Do you think I could wear anything as daring as red? Please don't tell me to wear blue or green. I have worn these ever since I can remember, and I am so tired of them I could scream. I am coming to your city from Arkansas to shop, so please help me as I haven't a thing in mind.

BROWN EYES.

You are just a little bit young to take the responsibility of traveling companion. And it is difficult to tell you exactly what the duties are as they vary with different employers. However, it is a very pleasant position if your employer is reasonable and agreeable.

You must study up beforehand, al the details of the trip you are about to take, and do the work of arranging and directing everything, see that the luggage is packed properly and the tickets are bought and luggage sent. If you are to have hotel accommodations, you write ahead for those and familiarize yourself with the streets and attractions of cities you visit. You must look after the comfort and entertainment of the one you travel with, perhaps read to her, write letters for her and make yourself generally useful. And en route, unless the hotel maid is engaged to do this, you must pack and help unpack.

Write to the steamship companies and ask about working your way over. If you are coming to St. Louis, you will find most of their offices located between Eleventh street and Twelfth boulevard on Locust and Olive streets and also in the railroad offices on Broadway, between Olive, Locust and St. Charles.

Why not wear red? Everyone does who can do so—and the browns and browns and whites are quite as smart this spring as they were last. Black and white, if combined in a youthful way, would suit you very well. And then there are so many of the new grays. I am sure when you arrive, you will have no trouble, if you will just give a little look about, first, finding what is pretty and becoming to you. You should weigh about 125 pounds.

Emily Post on Etiquette

GOOD TASTE

By EMILY POST

From Column-Readers

Dear Mrs. Post:

ISN'T "cut and dried" etiquett a nuisance at times? It seem to me that a smile can say muc more than words. At least it much easier for me in so many i stances. For example: someone said to me on parting, "I'm glad to have met you," and I simply gave a friendly smile and said, "Goodbye." Was that rude?

EMILY POST

Answer: Not rude exactly—but not very "endearing." I think you might quite as easily have said "Thank you!" And that would have been polite.

My Dear Mrs. Post: I have agree with and admired your philosophy for a long time, but I must tell you that your advocacy of newspaper at the breakfast table is terrible! All meals should be cheerful, jovia and conversational, particularly breakfast. Don't you think so really?

Answer: No, I'm afraid I don't. Many years of experience ha taught me that few share my own early morning gaiety, and now know that it is best to take my own best hour of the day by my self. Besides it is quite proper to read the paper at breakfast. Don't you think two out of three cheerful jovial conversational meals a very good average?

Dear Mrs. Post: In an article some weeks ago you advised teaching young children a foreign language. I have searched the papers for information regarding such teachers and have had no success. Could you suggest a way of finding a teacher for my 6-year-old daughter?

Answer: Go to the professional employment bureau. Or advertise in the paper for a well-bred foreigner, who is kind and fond of children, to come and talk with your child. Investigate her reference, of course.

My Dear Mrs. Post: You said sometime ago that coffee is served in the living room at a 1 o'clock luncheon. Is this true when iced tea was served at the table?

Answer: Yes. After-dinner coffee in small cups is an unbreakable convention. It should follow every meal (except breakfast) even when iced tea was served at table.

A Puzzle for Amusement

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION

by MARTHA CARR

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for a personal reply.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM deeply in love with a man who is so hard to understand that I simply cannot figure it out. I have thought about it so much, too, that my mind goes around in circles.

He was so sweet four months ago, and I am sure he cared, but after that he didn't call me for three months and then he acted as if he were trying to outdo himself in being mean. I felt as if he was not the same person at all. I would like to show him (which he seems to need) that I want only his happiness. Have known him four years and I am sure he is the finest of men.

Do you think it quite playing the game to go off with no explanation or is it just selfishness? Do give me some of your usual good advice. TOMME.

Perhaps you have shown too plainly how much you care. And, knowing this, he may not want to involve himself, seriously yet, for any one of a dozen reasons. His methods are certainly not kind nor are they courageous. If he comes back, try to be a little more casual in your manner. Can you think of anyone who may have had reason to make trouble or misrepresent you to him? That is always possible, of course.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WILL you please help me get in touch with party signing herself "One of Your Interested Readers" in a recent paper? She so kindly offered her discovery of a certain article to an "Embarrassed Reader." This was for superfluous hair on the face. I think it was lovely of her, as she said, she had no interest other than to help others. I would be more than thankful to be relieved of the same disfigurement. DISTRESSED.

As I have said, I cannot give names of commercial products in my column, but if you wish to investigate this article and will send me self-addressed and stamped envelope, I will tell you about it.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WILL you please suggest a good book on Spiritualism?

A late book is "On the Edge of the Etheric," by J. Arthur Findlay.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

COULD you tell me how to become a traveling companion? I am nearly 21 years old. Do you think this is too young? What are the responsibilities in that position? And do they pay your expenses and salary? All of my life I have liked to travel and have already had some experience. But I would rather do that than anything. If I could not get that could I work my way over on a steamer, as maid, and where could I write to find out about that? 2 I am a blonde, brown eyes, natural complexion, 5 feet 5½ inches tall, what colors should I wear and what should I weigh? Do you think I could wear anything as daring as red? Please don't tell me to wear blue or green. I have worn these ever since I can remember, and I am so tired of them I could scream. I am coming to your city from Arkansas to shop, so please help me as I haven't a thing in mind. BROWN EYES.

You are just a little bit young to take the responsibility of traveling companion. And it is difficult to tell you exactly what the duties are as they vary with different employers. However, it is a very pleasant position if your employer is reasonable and agreeable.

You must study up beforehand, all the details of the trip you are about to take, and do the work of arranging and directing everything, see that the luggage is packed properly and the tickets are bought and luggage sent. If you are to have hotel accommodations, you write ahead for those and familiarize yourself with the streets and attractions of cities you visit. You must look after the comfort and entertainment of the one you travel with, perhaps read to her, write letters for her and make yourself generally useful. And en route, unless the hotel maid is engaged to do this, you must pack and help unpack.

Write to the steamship companies and ask about working your way over. If you are coming to St. Louis, you will find most of their offices located between Eleventh street and Twelfth boulevard on Locust and Olive streets and also in the railroad offices on Broadway, between Olive, Locust and St. Charles.

Why not wear red? Everyone does who can do so—and the browns and browns and whites are quite as smart this spring as they were last. Black and white, if combined in a youthful way, would suit you very well. And then there are so many of the new grays. I am sure when you arrive, you will have no trouble, if you will just give a little look about, first, finding what is pretty and becoming to you. You should weigh about 125 pounds.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I WOULD like to know something about Palm Springs, California. Is it a resort and how many inhabitants has it?

Palm Springs is a fashionable desert resort—four hours from Los Angeles. The season is Oct. 1 to June 1. Average temperatures: Noon 78. Night 45.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WHERE is Sherman Park located and is there a free gymnasium? 2. How could I get a chance to go on the stage? 3. How could I get a job to sing over the radio? I went to one and had a tryout and haven't heard from them since. WONDERING NINETEEN.

Sherman Park is located at 5001 Easton avenue, at Kingshighway. Go to the radio stations yourself. If you haven't heard from the one you tried, you may be sure you are not needed there. Get a city guide or some other and find out where places in your town are located; then you will not be "wondering."

* * *

Dear Mrs. Carr:

DID you forget to print my letter? I would like to thank "Edna" for being so kind as to remember me. GRANDMA.

I printed your request for a Bible, but so far have not had any offers. I also printed your letter thanking "Edna" and someone else. Better send me your address again, in case a Bible should be given me for you.

Dear "Reader":

I MARRIED a Northerner, who very often adds, in introducing me, "My wife is a Southerner." I am inclined to think your boy friend wouldn't be much, anywhere. If he doesn't already know it, tell him Washington, Madison, Lee, Monroe, Jackson, William Henry Harrison, Tyler, Polk, Taylor, Johnson, Woodrow Wilson were all Southerners. Robert Fulton, Matthew Fontaine Maury (who charted the seas), famous statesmen in the United States Senate and House of Representatives—all these distinguished men and more, many more, were of the South. And the South is still growing brilliant, talented men, of which Admiral Richard E. Byrd may serve as an example. And probably all of them have eaten flour gravy with their spring chicken and cornbread and liked them both. And I have never seen a Northerner refuse either these or hot biscuit—when made as they should be made and as they make them by Southern recipes. D. MAC.

* * *

My dear Mrs. Carr:

CAN you give me the address of the young man who signed himself "Duke," a few weeks ago, and who wanted to get started in music, but couldn't get the "breaks?" It is possible I might be able to interest him along the line in which he is anxious to succeed, if you will get me his address. K. B. M.

I do not now know the young man's address, and since you have not given me yours, I am afraid I could not be much help.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Carr:

HAVING received so much benefit through your column by reading daily advice from you to others, I am coming to have my most puzzling problem solved.

Mrs. Carr, I have received a good musical education (which is my livelihood), have made fairly well at it, dress well, am considered interesting, am ambitious, drink enough to be sociable, enjoy any kind of sport and am not conceited. Wherever I may go I receive dates; but these don't last long.

I have never gone out with a young man under 21 years old, for I consider them not sensible enough. The ones in fairly moderate circumstances enjoy the evening being seen in some exclusive night club or gambling house. The in-between party gives the girl promises just to gain her confidence and steady company; then there are some that give the rush-act and feel harmed when asked for a little more than furnished rooms for living quarters. Last but not least, nine-tenths of the young men want a reward if they spend but 10 cents on you.

Mrs. Carr, I know there must be ideal men somewhere. Perhaps you say I ask for one made to order. I have kept company with them since I have been 15 and gone farther than St. Louis to get acquainted but still find the majority alike. I am not by any means intending to knock the opposite sex, but just simply cannot find them any different.

Probably you can explain this problem to me which I will appreciate beyond limit. TWENTY.

No, I cannot be quite accurate about this, I am afraid; both because I do not know very clearly, from your letter, what you have to offer. But perhaps a general article I have written, on "popularity," might give you a litle aid. If you wish it, and will send me a self-addressed and stamped envelope, I will mail it to you.

HE TRIED HARD NOT TO BE AN ACTOR

BUT LIONEL BARRYMORE FINALLY GAVE UP—NOW HE'S AS FAMOUS AS THE REST OF THE FAMILY

THREE FAMOUS BARRYMORES . . . John, Ethel and Lionel photographed in Hollywood.

AS RASPUTIN . . . Lionel Barrymore in the role of the mad monk.

LIONEL BARRYMORE . . . as he looks off stage.

—By H. H. NIEMEYER—

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17.

A BRILLIANT young actress, who had just played a role with Lionel Barrymore, was asked to describe the actor.

"Well," she remarked, "he's not like the rest of us Hollywoodites. Why, the man positively reeks with common sense!"

Which is probably as accurate a description of the Rasputin of the screen as any that could be voiced.

Here is a man in Hollywood, city of painted illusions, who has no illusions. Where others indulge in fantastic phases of the great city of make-believe, he might as well be in Poughkeepsie. He's one man in the cinema capital who has the psychology of the average fellow in any other city in America.

He'd rather be alone and make an etching than attend a spotlighted film premiere. If and when he is inveigled into attending a party, he's usually to be found in a corner reading a book—or perhaps closeted with Ernest Torrence, settling, not the picture industry, but some point in musical composition, with which they both dally. Or talking art. He can always talk of art and etchings—but hardly ever of Lionel Barrymore.

Barrymore's singular forcefulness on stage and screen is entirely unlike the quiet, soft-spoken man in private life. He doesn't know why—or, if he does, won't talk about it.

"Acting?" he remarked when asked about it. "I don't know. I tried not to be an actor. But when I couldn't make enough money as an illustrator I went back to it. I guess it's like a fellow with an old flivver who buys a new car. If he goes broke, he can always go back and drive the old flivver again."

Probably once he knew rules of motivation, of expression, voice modulation, and so on. But, if he did, familiarity has long since bred contempt. "There are no rules," he says. "Plays consist of interesting people saying and doing interesting things. That's all."

AND his "that's all" includes such remarkable roles as that of the lawyer father in "A Free Soul," which won him the Academy award, his Kringelein in "Grand Hotel," or his fighting Senator in "Washington Masquerade"—or his astounding performance as Rasputin in "Rasputin and the Empress."

Meeting the man, one is conscious of steel blue eyes under shaggy brows. At first glance one has the impression that he seems frail. Closer inspection reveals the truth. He is hard as nails, and always in athletic trim. The loosely hanging clothes he loves to wear give the effect. And the strange part is that, by characterization and posture, he can be at will a small, frail man as in "The Copperhead," or a giant as in "The Jest."

Logic is the basis of his roles. Before he utters a line or makes a gesture, he asks himself, "What would I do if I were in this fellow's fix?" Then he does it. How well it works is shown by his roles. The same simple rule applies to enunciation. He views with scorn the claims of voice teachers.

"Lincoln had a bad voice, but it was sufficient for what he had to say, and that rocked the world," is his answer to the grandiose claims of the elocutionists. He doesn't elocute. He just "says."

Maybe this sounds easy. But behind it, one must consider, that there is more than a century of heredity. He comes of perhaps the oldest theatrical family in the world. He, his sister, Ethel, his brother, John, represent brilliant history in the theater in America and England. The Drews and the Barrymores are linked indelibly with the stage's most brilliant traditions. His father before him, his grandfather, and on back several generations, stood foremost in the field of acting. An artist doesn't need rules, when art is bred in him.

THE many-sidedness of his talents is as astounding as the man himself. He studied painting in Paris. He was a successful illustrator in New York. He is a pianist of rare gifts, and a composer of equal artistry. He has composed exquisite concertos and sonatas. As a screen director he pioneered the onward progress of the then limited talking picture in his handling of "Madam X." He directed Lawrence Tibbett in the first great singing picture, "The Rogue Song."

He had planned to stay at directing, but the part in "A Free Soul", intrigued him—and, as it turned out later, catapulted him to screen stardom and the "best performance" award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Born in Philadelphia, the son of Maurice and Georgie Drew Barrymore, his life from the first was in the theater. He was educated by private tutors. His first stage appearance was in a play with his mother. He enacted a crying child. He and John used to play about backstage while his father, out in front, was making theatrical history in New York.

Lionel's experience, like John's, embraced road companies and stock houses, "rep shows" and ten-twenty-thirty mellers in the early days. He was lucky, Lionel reminisces, if he got $5 a week. Then came engagements in New York. Both he and John were restive. John tried cartooning, Lionel illustrating. They returned to the stage together, in "Peter Ibbetson," which was followed by a second smashing success, "The Jest." "Laugh, Clown, Laugh," "The Copperhead" and other big stage roles won Lionel further fame.

His first roles in pictures were in studios about New York, and he played comedy, as in "Boomerang Bill."

He was fat then, according to the story John tells, but reduced on an "eat and grow thin" diet and by running around a reservoir daily with seven sweaters on. He was always a nut for gymnasium work. He and Zbyszko, later world champion wrestler, used to wrestle in gymnasium practice daily.

For years he gravitated between stage and screen, from away back in the old Griffith days at Maramonek. He first came to the Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer studios, where he is now under contract, in Rex Beach's "The Barrier," played in "The Mysterious Island," "Women Love Diamonds" and other silent pictures. He scored a real hit in the first talking picture feature drama, "The Lion and the Mouse," in the role of Jeff Ryder, then decided he'd rather be a director.

His dressing room at the Metro studios gives a real inkling of the nature of the man. It is in a loft he "promoted" from the management and fixed up for himself. There is a grand piano, cluttered with half-written musical manuscripts. A box serves as a piano-bench. There is a flat topped desk where he examines his scripts. There are easels, an etching press, and partly completed copper etching plates. A great glass window at one end is equipped with his etching work bench. There are hangers for his wardrobe—but it's usually on the floor. Behind a screen in one corner is hidden a higgledy-piggledy pile of scripts, etchings, painting, easels, books, drawing material and almost everything else. But, strange to say, he can fish out any article desired in a second.

* * *

HE has a Gilbert-and-Sullivan sense of humor, even when he's in such difficulties as being made to have portraits taken—a thing he detests above all.

"Aw, can't I do something else?" he pleads. "Kill somebody, maybe?" he adds hopefully. Then, argumentatively, "I had some pictures taken four years ago, and I don't look a darned bit different now."

On those rare occasions when he is inveigled into being interviewed, he says what he has to say in as few words as possible. In fact, he always does that.

"Are you afraid of death?" one fair interviewer once asked him.

"Nope," replied Barrymore, "but I'm darned afraid of the process of dying."

He believes that while an actor may be his poorest critic, he's his own best director. When he was directing he adhered strictly to the formula of letting his actors use their brains.

His formula for a successful picture is as simple as the instructions for cooking a fish in "Alice in Wonderland."

"First, you get a good play," he remarks. "August Vollmer, the criminologist, once pointed out that a motive that might drive one man merely to laughter might drive another to murder. Hence, the actor has to study closely the nature of his character. As Rasputin, for instance, I read everything on the man, and conceived an idea — I think the correct one—of him. Here was a fellow capable of making himself believe any sort of fantastic creed he himself invented. He hypnotized himself—and others—into belief. Still he was not at heart, perhaps, a charlatan. Another actor might have got an entirely different picture of the man's mind. That's why two actors won't play the same part alike—and each of them will probably be right."

He is happily married and he and his wife live in a quiet home in Beverly Hills. He adores John's babies and Ethel's children. He has two pet dogs.

Speaking of dogs, he was asked a few days ago if it were true that he and John as boys once stole Ethel's dog, advertised, collected a reward, and returned it to her.

"No," he said. "Though we probably did a lot worse. I guess we never thought of that one." He paused and a whimsical expression gleamed in his gray eyes. "I wonder," he remarked, "If she has a dog now!."

SEEN in THE STORES

By SYLVIA

IF taffeta doesn't stop its everlasting rustling about the new toggery for spring, I'll have to break down and give it an entire column. Taffeta collars, taffeta scarfs, taffeta hats, taffeta blouses, taffeta linings, taffeta sleeves — the list could go on indefinitely. While taffeta is one of the latest costume accents, giving some of our dresses their talking points. One dress that I have in mind uses taffeta-cut-out applique designs on white mousseline sleeves. The dress is a black chalk crepe of the informal after-dark type, and the sleeves, short and puffy, are gathered into a long shoulder line.

* * *

The white taffeta gilet which buttons itself on to a frock strikes me as something quite nifty. One printed silk crepe frock besides having the taffeta bosom expanse, has a big taffeta bow tied on one shoulder. There are some other good qualities of this wearable model, such as a diagonal striping of brown on white.

* * *

When taffeta mixes up with millinery it is scheduled for a varied career. Among the taffeta hats I've seen are these: a cuffed brim type flaring in a gob-like manner and made of pastel blue stitched within an inch of its life; a brown stitched sailor without one bit of trimming, but adding a starchy veil; a Watteau type of black suggesting a mauve decade; and a tiny draped turban with a quill up the back (you can name your own favorite shade.)

* * *

White mousseline striped with taffeta in different shades provides one of the cleverest scarfs that a clever designer ever made. Gold, brown and rust are the colors suggested if you are complementing a new brown suit. There are other happy alliances, should your preference be blue. Anyone seeking an original idea in a scarf should not pass this one by.

* * *

In an effort to get away from the lure of taffeta let's consider some other new fashions. I could wax enthusiastic, for example, over a tucked net blousette that one store displays. A blousette, by the way, may be a full-fledged blouse, but you buy it at the neckwear counters. This one has, besides its wide tucking to recommend it, sleeves which come about half way between the shoulders and elbows, and a graceful frilly collar.

* * *

Flowers that bloom in the summer as well as in the spring are blossoming now on well-coiffured heads. They tell us in no listless manner that the more bouquets a turban has, the better we should like it. I've seen these flower-decked turbans here and there about the town. One has tiny forget-me-not sort of flowers, another combines lavender and purple flowers in an interesting design, while a third goes in for the nasturtium shades in quaint little velvet flowers. Horsehair braid veils, which stick out at a stand-offish angle, invariably go with these floral headgear displays.

* * *

Another monogram idea which is considered very smart is the metal plate for initials which slips on a wide suede band and is worn around the wrist. The band has a metal buckle so tailored that it looks much too practical to be so chic.

* * *

Swagger velveteen jackets have been mentioned before, but there's a whole new flock of them appearing in town. Some of them are part of new ensembles, intended to wear first at Southern resorts by those who are proud that they don't have work. One which I saw is of lipstick red, three-quarter length, and quite tailored in appearance. It's gay life is cast with a printed frock combining red and beige.

Confidential Talks With Mothers and Fathers.

Just a Joke

ONE afternoon in the course of casual conversation 4-year-old Agatha's father told her that she was soon to have a baby brother. The news was startling, but Agatha wanted to know at once, was daddy sure it would be a brother. Perhaps it would be a sister.

"No," said daddy, laughing "one girl in the family is enough. If the baby turns out to be a girl, we'll have to give her to the ash man!"

Agatha is a grown woman now, but she still remembers the fear in which she lived during the ensuing weeks.

The ashman! How dreadful that would be! Yes, he could quite easily just throw you into a big can and dump you into the big covered truck, with the iron lids that slammed down so that no one could hear you scream. But you couldn't scream anyway, the dust would choke you.

When at last mother went away to the hospital, Agatha waited the news with trembling heart. When it came she ran away and hid in terror—the baby was a girl.

Only after several days had elapsed could she be persuaded to go to the hospital. But she did want to see mother, so she went At the sight of the baby, however, she burst into passionate tears and was taken from the room lest her naughtiness disturb mother, who needed rest.

It was months before her fear subsided. She ignored the little sister. Her attitude was taken as the sign of a mean and perverse nature. Both father and mother held it against her. She felt herself cast out of their favor and more and more retired within herself.

Thus her entire childhood was clouded by a few words that one might consider no more than a harmless joke.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN.

DONNA turned the car expertly around a corner, then leaned back, her gloved hands resting lightly on the wheel.

Judith glanced at her covertly. Donna seemed prettier than ever. Her vivid little face was framed by a brown felt hat of the latest fashion and by the turned-up collar of her beige lapin jacket.

A new coat, Judith decided, because she was quite sure Donna hadn't had it when she worked at the bank, nor had it been in her trousseau.

"This is my new fall outfit," Donna said, as she turned with a smile at the next boulevard stop. "Do you like it?"

"Very much," the girl admitted. Donna wore clothes well. There was a dash about her lithe figure, a flair for fashion that she made the most of.

She took her hand off the wheel and touched the small brim of her hat. Her lips, contrasted against the light felt, were vivid red, and her eyes shone brightly. There was too much color in her cheeks, but it suited her pale olive skin.

"There's no need to take me all the way home," Judith protested. "I can get out here and get a street car—"

"Oh, I go right past your corner, you know. No trouble at all. I'm glad to have company. I don't go after Toby any more at night, because I never know when I'm going to get through, and if I'm late he gets impatient. So he comes home on the street car. It's miserably late tonight, and he'll be home before me, I know, but I don't care."

The red lips pouted, and the cream slipper stepped with more vigor on the gas.

"When you get married, Judith, don't marry an impatient man. It's awful. Toby's pretty bad when it comes to missing appointments and all that. He usually makes a row. I tell him continually that he can't expect me to be on time until he buys me a watch." Donna laughed, and Judith looked at the dashboard where a clock was ticking away.

"I've picked out a gorgeous one for Christmas, and when the time comes, I'll take Toby to see it and he'll crab about the price as he always does, but in the end he'll buy it for me. He's been better lately, though, about things.

"Why, I got this outfit early this week, and when I had it all together I showed it to him as I always do, and he didn't say a thing! Except that it looked very nice. Imagine!

"I expected a great battle about it; in fact, I was all ready for it. Sort of took my breath away when he didn't roar about the price. Getting trained well, I guess."

* * *

JUDITH was worried at that, but she didn't say a word. She just sat with one hand holding the handle of the door, the other closed tightly over her purse. Poor Toby—no wonder he was discouraged. No wonder he didn't know where to turn.

"We never see you any more," Donna remarked.

"I've been busy—"

"Well, so have we. Last night Toby actually took me dancing! Suggested it himself, so we got all dressed up and went out. Didn't get in until dawn. I've asked him time and time again to take me, and he makes the same excuse. No money or something like that. Last night he just suggested it out of a clear sky. We're going again tomorrow night with a gang."

Dancing with Toby . . . Judith closed her eyes. She loved to dance with him. Long ago—so long ago now, that it seemed as if it couldn't have happened to her—they had danced together. She and Toby. Danced a lot. Toby holding her so close, the music swimming around them gloriously. . . .

"You know, Judith, I think Toby thought I would settle down immediately when he married me. Funny, isn't it? Imagine me an old married woman! But that's what I think. I've never discussed it with him and lately he's found out that I have no intention of being domestic.

"Why, we're too young to settle down. I'm only 21 and Toby is only 24. There's no reason why we should sit at home night after night after night. I adore having a good time and Toby does, too. And I'm not interested in keeping house."

"I thought you were going to learn to cook?" The words were out of Judith's mouth before she thought.

Donna giggled, and the car swerved dangerously near a truck. "I thought so, too, but cooking is such a bother. I mean sitting in all afternoon with things on the stove waiting for them to boil. I cook, of course, when we don't eat out—but it's really cheaper to eat out, than to cook in. And you do get a much better meal.

"There's a little restaurant near the apartment where we usually go for dinner. Most of the people we go around with eat out. And there's always a gang of them at Mike's—that's the restaurant. Don't tell me, Judith, that when you marry you're going to turn domestic! It isn't done these days."

* * *

THE girl didn't answer, but she pressed her lips tightly together. It wasn't fair of Donna to make fun of domesticity. When you married a man, and he didn't have much money, you did your share, didn't you? You tried to help him. And if that was being domestic, as Donna had suggested, then she would be domestic.

What would have become of her and Rita, if their mother had suddenly decided that cooking and keeping house wasn't her job? It was all right if a girl worked, too, but if she didn't do anything all day—had nothing to do but keep house—then it was wrong, and Donna was mistaken.

If you loved a man and wanted to help him, did you mind keeping house? You did it willingly, didn't you? She would have done it willingly for Toby. Gladly.

"I guess you think I'm wrong, Judith, but you'll find out when you marry that I'm right. You have fine ideals of what you're going to do when you marry, and then when you are married, something happens to them.

"It's no fun, poking around a three-room apartment all the livelong day, when there are other things you like to do much more. I like to drive around—I've always wanted a car. And I like to play bridge. So I play bridge. I belong to three small clubs now, and we have no end of fun."

So that was the way Donna spent her days. Driving and playing bridge. And shopping, of course.

"I have a grand time, and you'll do the same when you marry. There isn't anything else to do unless you work, and I don't ever intend to work again. I always hated working, and now that I'm out of it, I'm never going back."

Donna was quite wrong, Judith was convinced. She wouldn't do the same when she married. If she married . . .

"I won a dollar and a half today at bridge—we play for money, you know, but I don't tell Toby that. He'd have a fit. He thinks we play for prizes. That's another thing you'll have to learn—that you can't tell your husband the truth all the time. It's bad business."

"Are you awfully happy, Donna?" She had to know after what Donna had said. These little thrusts at Toby all the time. Did she discuss him like that with everyone? Or was it because she knew Judith was a friend of her husband?

* * *

"OH, yes, terribly happy. I wouldn't be single again for anything. Of course, I would be much happier if we had more money to spend. Money is a problem. I've told Toby time and time again I wish he'd get out of that old bank and get into something where he could make decent money. He just has to."

"He has a nice future at the bank—"

"That's what he says," Donna interrupted quickly, "but it'll be years and years before he gets any place, and we can't wait years and years. Lots of the fellows we know—married men not any older than Toby—are making much more money than he is. The matter with Toby is that he needs prodding, and he needs it badly. I have to keep after him all the time."

Judith looked out into the dusk, into the teeming traffic ahead where orderly lines of cars surged beyond as far as she could see.

She wanted to tell Donna that Toby didn't need prodding. That he had been getting along exceptionally well at the bank. That his future would be worth any sacrifices Donna made now. But she didn't. She sat staring at the gleaming red tail lights, hearing the bells which rang regularly at each corner.

"Some day Toby will thank me for getting him out of the rut he's in now," Donna continued. "I've been after him lately to try to get a job as an automobile salesman. We have a friend who makes $1000 a month selling cars—and Toby and I could live on that nicely, and have everything we want."

Judith's heart bled for Toby, and she thought she loved him more that minute than she ever had before.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

DONNA LOCKE picked up JUDITH AVERY at a corner where she was waiting for a street car. It happened Judith had been worrying all day about an uncomfortable feeling she had that something was wrong with TOBY LOCKE, Donna's husband. Judith had been in love with Toby for three months before he married Donna. But everybody, including Donna, thought Judith and Toby had been just friends.

When Judith quit her job at the bank in order to avoid seeing Toby, she got a job as office girl for DR. CRAIG MITCHELL. Dr. Mitchell had seen Judith crying at the wedding and figured out the reason. Judith doesn't know that the doctor is in love with her, although his nurse, DORIS BENJAMIN, suspects it.

Judith had been working at the new position eight weeks and doing a creditable job of forgetting Toby, when that young man came to the office one evening and begged her to have dinner with him. He looked so miserably unhappy that she couldn't refuse. But when she related to her sister, RITA, how Donna was running up bills, driving Toby mad with worry, she was advised to keep out of Toby's marriage difficulties. Judith didn't see Toby again, but she telephoned him today when she got that awful feeling that some danger threatened him. He said everything was all right, but his voice was old.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

The Housewife and the Depression

Another Article on Present Day Problems by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

NO ONE is more conscious of the present economic crisis than the American housewife. A wage cut means a change in the whole budget of the housewife. It falls to her lot to plan how the whole family income should be spent. She usually sits down and decides where she can get the most for her money and most American housewives have to decide rather carefully as to just how much will be spent for various items such as recreation, education and charity, for after the necessities of life, such as rent, food and clothes and doctors' bills have been planned for, the balance left in the average income is pretty small. A cut in wages means either a complete giving up of such things as recreation, books or magazine subscriptions or changing entirely the standard of living by moving into a less expensive apartment and the buying of less expensive food and clothes.

This decision as to which are the things to be sacrificed in the present crisis, is present with almost every housewife but especially with the young housewife, for the woman with a young baby can hardly cut down in the milk bill, she is more apt to be living in such an inexpensive apartment that she cannot well go to a less expensive one, and so it is inevitable that she must cut her amusements or her husband's and her food and clothes. To the young woman the decision bulks larger than it would to the older woman, for clothes mean a great deal, the opportunity to go out with her husband now and then and feel free and back in the courtship days means much to their relationship.

The average young couple has no maid and therefore with the arrival of the baby they find themselves tied down unless they can make an arrangement occasionally for a friend or neighbor to come in and sit with the baby when they are out. Here is where it seems to me that families, if they live near enough together, can be of great assistance to each other in the present crisis and if a girl is married away from home we can hope that she may have a few friends, perhaps older ones, near by, who will be willing to do what a mother or an aunt would gladly do if she happened to be near.

Real Helps

This economic crisis should give to every older housewife the opportunity to be a real help to the young. They should have learned to do some of the mechanics of life more easily and quickly than the younger ones, they should also have more time to think of other people, and so they may be able to plan to save a little from their budget, not only for their own pleasures but to help the younger ones in their community.

I would always say that, when one helps youth, one should help in the way of giving extravagances rather than in the giving of necessities unless it is absolutely necessary. Of course, if one's young people are not able to manage the bare necessities for themselves, then the older generation must help with those, but where they can manage their own necessities, then I would urge all the older people to give what they can for what seem foolish extravagances. They will find that the return in pleasure is very great. A foolishly expensive dress, a foolish extravagant party—we know quite well that we have no right to spend the money for them if we are young, but what fun they are and if some older member of the family contrives it for us, how carefree and delightful it can be.

This is the third of a series of articles by the wife of the President-elect of the United States. Another one will appear in this section of the Post-Dispatch next Wednesday.

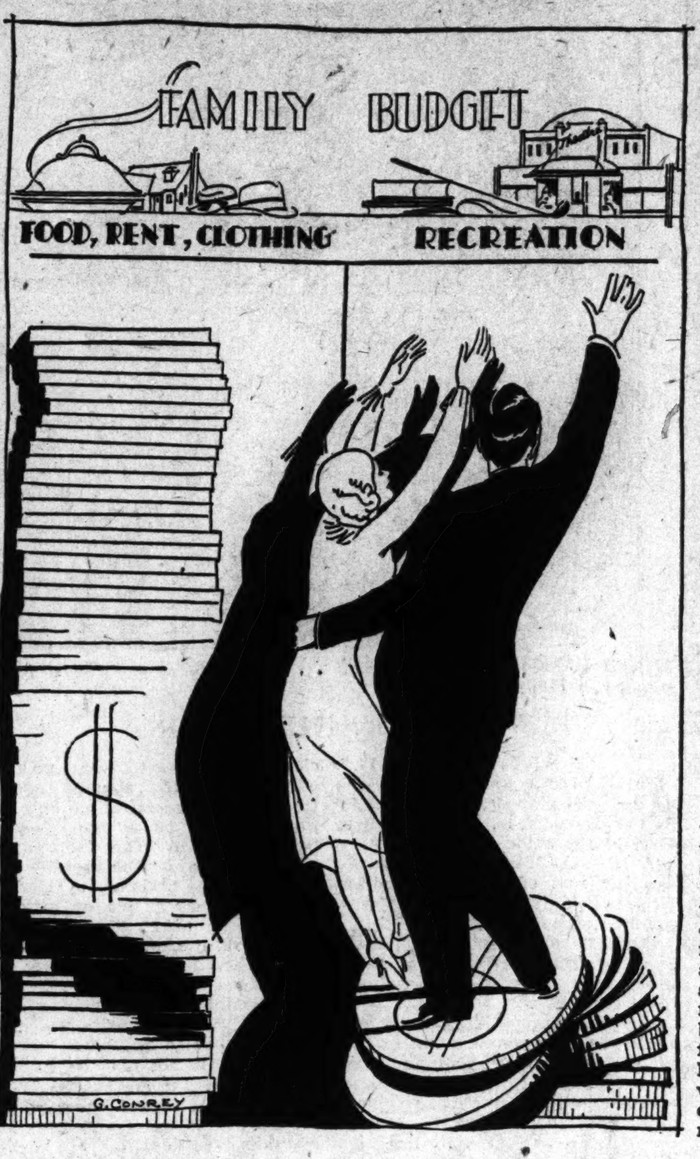
Facing Hardships

To all older housewives in this crisis who live near young people, I can only say that their opportunities for giving pleasure probably is increased tenfold by the fact that their services can be so very useful.

It seems to me that even for older people, if it is a possible thing to plan some recreation, it should not be cut out of even the reduced budget which our housewives are forced to operate under these days.

There is no use complaining of our hard lot, and thinking that no one has ever had to face quite such difficulties as we have to face today, for I imagine if we really sit down and think about it we are a great deal better off than was the maiden, Priscilla, whom John Alden went to visit, and certainly some of the pioneer women who fought the Indians behind stockades in Kentucky and Tennessee faced greater hardships than we do today.

Perhaps the greatest difference is, however, that they had no appearance to keep up. "Keeping up with the Joneses" was not known then and I think perhaps that is one of the evils of our present day civilization, which the depression may do away with.



If we could just become absolutely independent and not care what anybody else said about us, we probably would plan our budget with greater success. In many ways I think that the way to have a successful budget at the present time is to plan it with the entire family sitting in so that each one will know the difficulties and realize the reason for certain economies.

In the present economic crisis it should be the objective of every housewife to give her household all the essentials for health and yet to keep if possible a margin to be used for recreation and education.

Little Expenses.

Plan everything with great care and I think you will find that if you have a system for spending money just as you would have for doing anything else, you will not waste it on small things which bring you in no real results. Where a budget, in these days, must be carefully watched is in the spending of small sums of money. It is the five cents here and the 10 cents there which does away with the dollars before one knows it.

I know a family which has a very limited income and yet they manage to plan and live so that life is gracious and pleasant. They go to the theater, they hear good music, they have their friends, they attend lectures and concerts in the museums which are free and they never seem to miss any of the interesting things which are advertised in the papers. They extend a warm but simple hospitality to their friends and acquaintances.

To do this they plan carefully. If they are going to the theater they decide on the play they want to see weeks ahead and they get good dollar seats. They do the same thing with their concerts. It does take forethought but it can be done.

In times such as these, it is more than ever necessary for every housewife to remember that there may be friends in real need, not only of a meal which she can offer, but of some of the help and cheer which her table or her home may afford. Many a man or woman has found comfort and new inspiration and courage to go on with life after a few hours spent in some family where the woman at the head of the household had time and interest enough to sense her visitor's needs and help them as far as she was able.

Sense of Humor.

A woman has it in her power to make the present economic crisis well-nigh intolerable for a man, or she can treat her hardships more or less as a game, looking upon them as something to be overcome, constantly finding new ways of meeting new difficulties. Sara needs a new dress, well Sara shall have a new dress. What shall it be made of? Perhaps the answer will be as it was for a little southern friend of mine—two bandana handkerchiefs! She was a daughter of a very vague but very sweet Southern clergyman who never had much money to give his girls.

The daughter wanted a new dress to wear. Two large bandana handkerchiefs were brought out and thus she fashioned, so I am told, a really becoming garment. This, of course, is a slightly exaggerated tale, but there are many times when a spirit such as this girl has, would help not only the housewife but the man to a saner outlook on the difficulties of the day.

Do not cut down on the essentials, but do your planning carefully and make sure that you preserve a sense of humor, and your ability to laugh over your difficulties and then you will find yourself working toward more successful days.

Wedding Plans

"I WISH I had my ears looking their best, and my sign painted. The front porch is built but a coat of paint would help it," Willy Nilly began.

"Oh, you don't have to bother about those matters," said Mrs. Quacko.

"The important thing is to have fine food at the wedding reception and to have presents—we can show off the presents in your little upstairs room. And we must have the Puddle-Muddle Band play for the wedding.

"We'll have to tell Flotilla Botilla about it. She's a little girl who certainly likes her animal friends more than any others, and I know she'll love a Duck wedding."

"She has been so busy with school and coasting we haven't seen her for awhile. I'll have to go over this afternoon and tell her," said Willy Nilly.

"We'll have to play the familiar wedding march at the wedding," said Rip, the Dog, who had been around the world a bit.

"How does it go?" asked Top Notch, the Rooster.

"Like this," said Rip, the Dog, and he started to bark the tune of the Wedding March in this fashion:

"Bow! Wow! Wow-wow! Bow! Wow! Wow-wow! Bow—Wow—wow-wow, wow-wow-wow, wow-wow-wow!"

"We'll have to practice it," the others said, and Willy Nilly started them off. Then he went over and told Flotilla Botilla about the coming wedding which was to take place in his repair shop.

"Oh, there's no place like Puddle Muddle!" she exclaimed. "We have everything. Now we're to have a wedding. Isn't that fun!"

Willy Nilly thought it was, but he wondered when he would ever, ever do his own chores.

Chicken and Rice

Four tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour. Two cups milk. One cup diced chicken. One cup boiled rice. One-fourth teaspoon paprika. One-fourth teaspoon celery salt. Two tablespoons chopped pimientos. One tablespoon chopped parsley.

Melt butter and add flour. Mix well and add milk and cook until creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add chicken and rice and cook two minutes. Add rest of ingredient. Mix well and serve hot.

Chicken stock may be substituted for milk and mixture may be baked in buttered casserole if desired.

EVERYDAY RELIGION

THE ART OF LIVING

WHAT life is nobody knows. Not all the wise men have been able to tell us. It just is, but we do know some things about it, how it acts, how it organizes itself. In a tiny cell we see it moving by its own inner energy, taking all sorts of shapes. In a lighted city we see it organized on a large scale, in forms now ugly, now lovely, in places of shame and temples of prayer; but still we know not what life is.

Art is more definable; it is the use of skill, knowledge, tact and taste in working on some kind of material to give it use, fitness and beauty. The sculptor works with clay, the painter with pigments, the cook with food, each an artist in his way. But the finest of all arts is the art of life, taking the raw stuff of life and shaping it with skill, knowledge, taste and tact into forms of use and beauty, and making it a thing of joy.

To live without skill, without knowledge, tact or taste, is to make life a messy thing, ugly, slouchy, unhappy. How can we learn to live nobly, beautifully, with grace and joy? All art, it has been said, is selection. As a violet selects from the earth and air and light the qualities that make its soft blue, and as the rose selects its red, so we must select what we want to do and be. No one can do everything or be everything; we must decide, choose, select.

Once we have decided, we must select events, aspects, feelings, moods, acts out of the welter offered us. Select, and then forget, as some one has put it. There are all kinds of things we might keep thinking about, but we must not. That way madness lies; or if not madness, then confusion. Select what you desire to do, and quit thinking about it, except to do it with skill and tact and fine taste. Make sure it is worth while, and stick it out.

THE REV. J. F. NEWTON

All this is true of our highest life of faith and hope and love, which is also an art, though we do not think of it in that way. As a wise teacher told us, "Whatsoever things are true, honorable, just, pure, lovely, keep thinking on these things." Keep at it, concentrate, have a plan, a design, and do not attempt to live the best life at haphazard. To live is the supreme art, asking for all our wit and all our love.

IN discussing the bidding procedure of the responding hand with 5-4-4-0 distribution, I wish to add that when the five-card suit is a major suit there are good reasons for refusing to let the opening bidder play the hand in no trumps, and for rebidding once more to four in the suit. With a weak hand this is advisable from all points of view, even if your partner has been able to bid the suit in which you hold a void. With a fairly strong hand in which, however, the five-card major suit is weak, my inclination would be to pass three no trumps if the opening bidder had been able to bid the void suit. Holding if the bidding went—One no trump, two spades, three hearts, three spades, three no trumps—I would pass, knowing that the declarer, being unable to support my rebid spades, would get a fine play in both minor suits and find it easier to take nine tricks in no trumps than it would be for me to play the hand in spades with the right to lose only three tricks. Increase my club holding to K 10 xx and I would let him play three no trumps even if he never bid hearts.

On the other hand, if my spades were as good as K J xxx I would insist on playing the hand in spades, as my command over the time facter in that suit would usually make it easier for the partnership to make game in spades. We have both major suits under immediate control and a minor suit lead will help in the play. From the tournament angle, it is likely to be easier to make five spades (150 points) than four no trumps (140).

This hand, played in a team of four match, stresses the point I have had occasion to mention in the last few articles dealing with hands of abnormal composition—make unusual bids only on strong resourceful hands capable of development along several different lines. Drop the bidding quickly on weak hands when your partner is not co-operating favorably.

East dealt and passed. South also passed and West bid one heart—the least undesirable bid on a hand which certainly must not be passed in third position North passed, with happy expectations, and East rightly bid one no trump. South passed and where West had the good sense to do likewise, he deservedly got the best result. North doubled, all passed, and West is down only 200, helped by a club opening as North waited for the hearts to be lead to him. Disaster occurred when West judged it advisable to rebid his hand by naming another hopeless suit — two clubs. North doubles and the penalty is 400. Actually North and South can make three no trumps by perfect play, but it would be almost impossible for them to bid it rationally.

At some tables North hastily diagnosed the opening bid as a psychic and bid two hearts instead of doubling or awaiting independent action by his partner. This unjudicious move landed them in three diamonds, partner being obviously unable to picture the heart situation. Two hearts can be made with 100 honors, but the available penalties are far more productive. The players who conjured two bids of suits out of the West hand, the second one after a sign-off, have certainly got the better of their life insurance companies. The North players who bid two hearts over West's opening bid in that suit perhaps wished to prove to old and young alike that Santa Claus is not a myth.

TODAY'S PATTERN

Girl's Frock

THE simplicity of this frock is the secret of its popularity with all young things. They love the light top with its youthful collar and full puffed sleeves, and the interesting seaming accented by perky buttons. Those ever practical cotton fabrics are just perfect to use for it. Of course you can make the entire frock in one color if you wish.

Pattern 2491 may be ordered only in sizes 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16. Size 12 requires 1⅞ yards 36-inch fabric and 1⅛ yards contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for this pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

THE NEW SPRING FASHION BOOK IS READY. Containing 32 colorful pages of lovely Paris-inspired models for every spring need, this beautiful book shows how to be chic at every hour of the day. Every style is practical, and easy to make. There are models for the larger figure, and pages of delightful junior and kiddie styles. SEND FOR YOUR COPY. PRICE OF CATALOG, 15 CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS. Address all mail orders to St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Pattern Department, 243 W. 17th street, New York City.

Dining Nooks Attractive

If meals are served in a corner of the kitchen it is suggested to have a light that illuminates that part only. Then after other lights are put out the dining corner seems to be shut off from the rest of the room and makes a more attractive nook for the meal.

Ham Omelet

Four egg yolks, four tablespoons cold water, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, one-half cup chopped ham (cooked), four egg whites, beaten, one tablespoon chopped parsley, one-fourth teaspoon celery salt, two tablespoons fat.

Beat yolks and water. Combine rest of ingredients excepting the fat and add to yolks. Mix lightly. Heat fat in frying pan and add omelet. Cook slowly until omelet has doubled in size and is dry on top. With aid of a spatula and fork carefully fold half over, holding in place two minutes. Carefully turn onto warm platter.

To save the hands when cleaning kitchen knives use a cork for dipping into the cleaning powder and applying to the knives.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

» by WYNN «

For Thursday, Jan. 19.

BETTER in small matters than in large ones. Clear up the many little affairs that may be about in your work that you may handle the big ones more efficiently when the time comes. First of two too emotional days; be wary.

Men and Nations.

When the parts (nations) of the world disagree with each other we don't have as much sense about it as when the parts of an individual act the same way. We call it war and diplomacy and international relations and other names that are as misleading as some of the names we have for human diseases. What's the matter is that the world is sick. And, like a man, no part of the world can be sick without the rest of the world feeling it and suffering because of it. A man with a headache can't run his best race; and the man with sore feet can't put over a wise business deal. No part of man is isolated from the rest of him. No part of the world is isolated from the rest of the world, regardless of what we would like to believe. Think it over.

Your Year Ahead.

Take it easy a little longer, if this is the anniversary you celebrate; you can regain past losses if you will not be in too much of a hurry. Change and financial matters claim much of your serious attention during the 12 months to come; watch everything cautiously, without fear or panic. Make it a constructive year. Danger: Aug. 16 to 24 and Dec. 14 to 26.

Tomorrow.

Avoid the intriguing, but untried, proposition.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q. On what day did the December (1932) term in the Probate Court begin, and when will it end?

A. It began Dec. 5, and ends Jan. 21, 1933.

Q. When will the terms begin in 1933 and when will they end?

A. The first term of the new year is the March term, which opens March 6. Ensuing terms are the June term, which opens June 5; the September term, opening Sept. 11, and the December term, opening Dec. 4. Each of these terms run about seven weeks. There are also special sessions during the vacation periods.

Q. Where can I obtain full information regarding the inheritance tax in St. Louis?

A. Read article 21, chapter one of the revised statutes of Missouri, 1929 (volume 1).

WHEN WINTER COMES.

(Lamar, Mo., Democrat.)

Dick Metcalf was in town Saturday. What's doing out there in Barton City? we asked Dick.

Nothing he said. We all stay home mostly. I used to like to go to Verdella and spend the evening talking to the boys at the store. But the boys that come in don't have much to say any more. They just all sit around. I guess we're all worrying about what we're going to do about paying our taxes and interest. But really most generally we are not going to do anything about it, so what's the use of worrying?

"The organization of national economic and political life under fascism constitutes more of a threat to the perpetuation of democratic institutions in this country than Communism."

"The principles of the Fascist program are protection of private property, maintenance of the capitalistic system and dictation of national political policies by the economic power of the nation."

This is Professor Bituminous Doakes, who is making an exhaustive energy survey to determine how much time is spent by the unemployed solving jigsaw puzzles. If his charts, graphs and pin maps bear out his suspicions, Professor Doakes will recommend that all books in the public libraries be cut in odd shaped pieces in order to attract the leisure class to devote more time to serious nonfiction.

FOR INQUIRY INTO STATE CONTRACTS FOR CEMENT

enate Adopts Resolution After Identical Bids, With 60 Per Cent Increase Over 1932, Are Submitted.

OST TO MISSOURI $640,000 MORE ttorney -General Asked to Take Action Under Anti-Trust Laws in Alleged Highway Contract Agreement.

y Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 19.—
he Senate unanimously adopted resolution offered by Senator onnelly, majority floor leader, is morning directing Attorney-eneral McKittrick to investigate nder the anti-trust laws cement mpanies which sell to the State ighway Department.

Three officials of the State Highay Department—John Mather, hief counsel; Carl W. Brown, asstant chief engineer, and Auditor
E. Stuckey—have been sumoned to appear before the Senate ppropriations Committee late to-
y. Mather, Brown and Stuckey ere before the committee yester-y and it was their testimony it understood, which prompted the nate to adopt its resolution.

The resolution resulted from in-rmation obtained yesterday by e Senate Appropriations Commit-e from officials of the depart-ent, who disclosed that all cement mpanies bidding for the $2,000,000 ate contract 10 days ago present-identical bids.

Fourteen companies responded to e Highway Commission's request r bids and every bid was identical to base price at the mill, after educting freight charges to delivy points. The base price was $1.25 barrel in the Western part of the ate and $1.15 in the Eastern rt, an increase of about 40 to 50 nts a barrel over last year, the crease amounting on the State's quirement of 1,602,300 barrels to ore than $640,000. The State pays e freight also.

"It Is Inconceivable."

Senator Donnelly charged in the solution that "it is inconceivable at eight or 10 different cement mpanies at widely scattered ints and in different states with parate stock ownership and cor-rate identity should submit bids r cement for identically the same ice unless the same was done rough collusion or participation some pool, trust, agreement, mbination, confederation or un-rstanding in restraint of trade or mpetition with the intention to gulate, control or fix the price of ment and therefore in violation the anti-trust laws of the State."

The Attorney-General is directed the resolution to call on the ighway Department to furnish to im all its records in the letting of e cement contract and all in-rmation in its possession as to sts of manufacture of cement.

"It is most remarkable," Senator onnelly said, "that every company aking a bid, and they were from any different states, bid exactly e same price. That could hardly unless there was some sort of understanding among them as what the bids should be."

"In 1932 the bids were identical so, the price made by each bidder ing 85 cents a barrel.

"I cannot understand any possie reason for an increase of 50 nts a barrel, an incrase of almost per cent. Certainly labor cost, hich I understand is the principal st in producing cement, is no gher. It probably is lower than t year. In 1931 the cement cost e State $1.25 per barrel, in 1930 it st $1.60 and in 1929 it cost $1.65.

"In these times a matter of $750,- 0 is a considerable item to the ate and the situation should be oroughly investigated and proper tion to protect the State should taken."

Senator Donnelly's reference to st year's base price as 85 cents a rrel was not borne out by Highay Department officials. They figged the 1932 base price at about cents a barrel. The Senator's mark about an increased cost of 750,000 this year was onthe asmption the increase had been 50 nts a barrel on 1,500,000 barrels.

Successful Bidders.

The nine successful bidders, the uantities alloted them by the dertment and the mill base prices, fter deducting freight, are:

Missouri Portland Cement Co.,
. Louis, 501,100 barrels, base ice, $1.15 from St. Louis ipant
